

A Story of Hope

At only 8 years old, Harun fled to Bangladesh from his home in Myanmar. Not long after arrival, he became sick with a sore throat, cough, and other symptoms. Thankfully, a community health worker trained by FH diagnosed Harun's illness. The family rushed Harun to an FH-run clinic where he was provided with life-saving medicine. In a few days, Harun was healthy again! When the cough returned, his parents took him back to the health worker, who diagnosed him with asthma. Now, the nurses all know him by name and always have his breathing medicine stocked should he need it to help ease his symptoms. With access to health care, Harun is healthy and dreams of becoming a doctor who can help others.
