

Dr. Seuss's
SLEEP
BOOK

RANDOM HOUSE NEW YORK

Minimale

Just came in
From the County of Keck
That a very small bug
By the name of Van Vleck
Is yawning so wide
You can look down his neck.

This may not seem
Very important, I know.
But it is. So I'm bothering
Telling you so.

A yawn is quite catching, you see. Like a cough.

It just takes one yawn to start other yawns off.

NOW the news has come in that some friends of Van Vleck's

Are yawning so wide you can look down their necks.

At this moment, right now, Under seven more noses, Great yawns are in blossom. They're blooming like roses.

The yawn of that one little bug is still spreading! According to latest reports, it is heading Across the wide fields, through the skepy night air, Across the whole country toward every-which-where. And people are gradually starting to say, "I feel rather drowsy. I've had quite a day."

Creatures are starting to think about rest.

Two Biffer-Baum Birds are now building their nest. They do it each night. And quite often I wonder

How they do this big job without making a blunder. But that is their problem.

Not yours. And not mine.

The point is: They're going to bed.

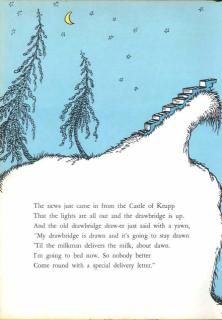

And that's fine.

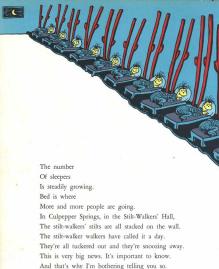

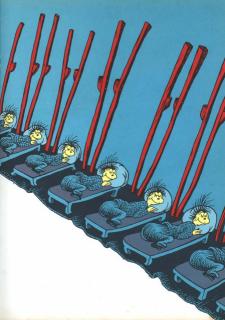

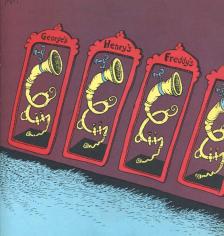

All this long, happy day, they've been honking about And the Hinkle-Horn Honkers have honked themselves out. But they'll wake up quite fresh in the morning. And then... They'll start right in Hinkle-Horn honking again.

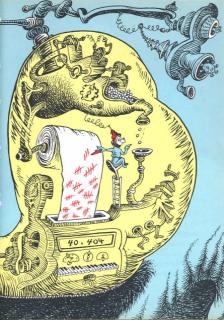

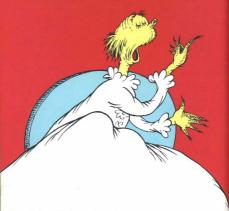

Everywhere, creatures
Are falling asleep.
The Collapsible Frink
Just collapsed in a heap.
And, by adding the Frink
To the others before,
I am able to give you
The Who's-Asleep-Score:
Right now, forty thousand
Four hundred and four
Creatures are happily,
Deeply in slumber.
I think you'll agree
That's a whopping fine number.

Do you talk in your sleep..?

It's a wonderful sport

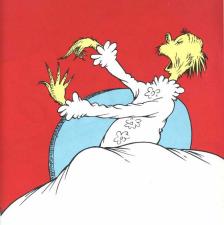

And I have some news of this sport to report.

The World-Champion Sleep-Talkers, Jo and Mo Redd-Zoff,

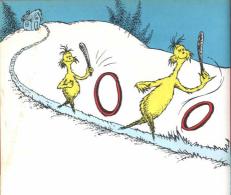

Have just gone to sleep and they're talking their heads off.

For fifty-five years, now, each chattering brother

Has babbled and gabbled all night to the other.

They've talked about laws and they've talked about gauze. They've talked about paws and they've talked about flaws. They've talked quite a lot about old Santa Claus. And the reason I'm telling you this is because You should take up this sport. It's just fine for the jaws.

Do you walk in your sleep..?

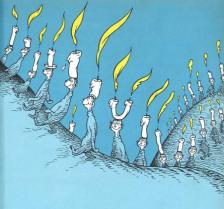

I just had a report
Of some interesting news of this popular sport.

Near Finnigan Fen, there's a sleepwalking group
Which not only walks, but it walks a-la-hoop!
Every night they go miles. Why, they walk to such length
They have to keep eating to keep up their strength.

So, every so often, one puts down his hoop, Stops hooping and does some quick snooping for soup. That's why they are known as the Hoop-Soup-Snoop Group.

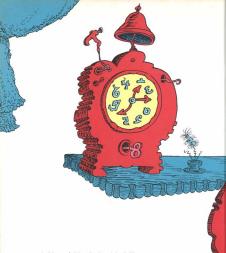

Sleepwalking, too, are the Curious Crandalls Who sleepwalk on hills with assorted-sized candles. The Crandalls walk nightly in slumbering peace In spite of slight burns from the hot dripping grease. The Crandalls wear candles because they walk far And, if they wake up, Want to see where they are.

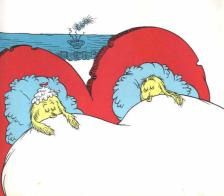

Now the news has arrived From the Valley of Vail That a Chippendale Mupp has just bitten his tail, Which he does every night before shutting his eyes. Such nipping sounds silly. But, really, it's wise.

He has no alarm clock. So this is the way
He makes sure that he'll wake at the right time of day.
His tail is so long, he won't feel any pain
'Til the nip makes the trip and gets up to his brain.
In exactly eight hours, the Chippendale Mupp
Will, at last, feel the bite and yell "Ouch!" and wake up.

A Mr. and Mrs. J. Carmichael Krox Have just gone to bed near the town of Fort Knox. And they, by the way, have the finest of clocks. I'm not at all sure that I quite quite understand Just how the thing works, with that one extra hand. But I do know this clock does one very slick trick. It doesn't tick tock. How it goes, is tock tick. So, with ticks in its tocker, and tocks in its ticker It saves lots of time and the sleepers sleep quicker.

What a fine night for sleeping! From all that I hear, It's the best night for sleeping in many a year. They're even asleep in the Zwieback Motel! And people don't usually sleep there too well.

The beds are like rocks and, as everyone knows,
The sheets are too short. They won't cover your toes.
SO, if people are actually sleeping in THERE...
It's a great night for sleeping! It must be the air.

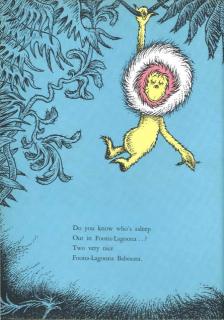

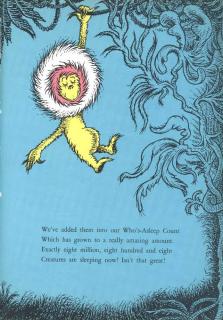

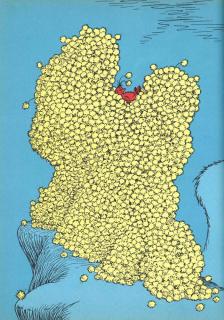

The loudest of all of the boys is McPhail.

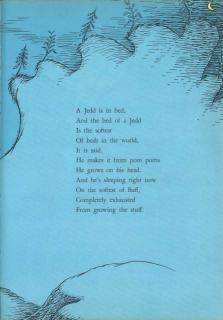

HE snores with his head in a three-gallon pail. So they snore in a cave twenty miles out of town.

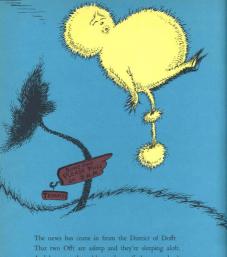

If they snored closer in, they would snore the town down.

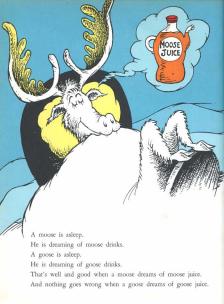

That two Offt are asleep and they're sleeping aloft.

And how are they able to sleep off the ground..?

I'll tell you. I weighed one last week and I found

That an Offt is SO light he weighs minus one pound!

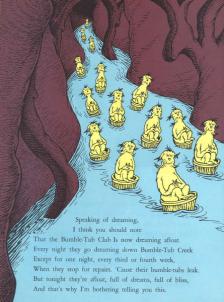

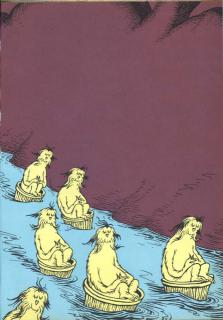

But it isn't too good when a moose and a goose Start dreaming they're drinking the other one's juice. Moose juice, not goose juice, is juice for a moose And goose juice, not moose juice, is juice for a goose. So, when goose gets a mouthful of juices of moose's And moose gets a mouthful of juices of goose's, They always fall out of their beds screaming screams. SO...

I'm warning you, now! Never drink in your dreams.

At the fork of a road

Five foot-weary salesmen have laid down their load.
All day they've raced round in the heat, at top speeds
Unsuccessfully trying to sell Zizzer-Zoof Seeds
Which nobody wants because nobody needs.

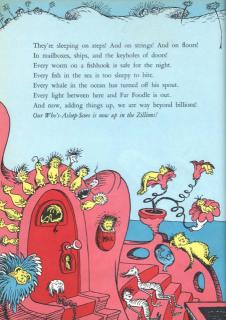

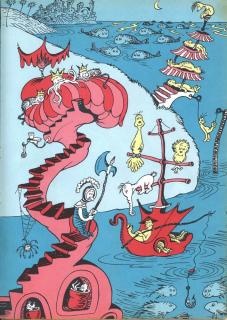

They're sleeping in bushes. They're sleeping in crannic Some on their stomachs, and some on their fannies. They're peacefully sleeping in comfortable holes. Some, even, on soft-tufted barber shop poles. The number of sleepers is now past the millions! The number of sleepers is now in the billions!

"I pradict that Dr. Seus will imerage as one of the great classics of this area. In 2039, children will still book with by synthen they come across Seuss books. What exactly is in that makes this staff immortal? I don't know. There is something about 1"—a swing to the language, a deep understanding of the playful mind of a child, on undefinable something that makes Dr. Seuss a gentus pure and simple." Rudolf Hach
