EDITORIAL

I N this particular issue we have some, we think, interesting articles. Each containing hidden pieces of the over-all puzzle. For example, the second part on Hynek's lecture here in St. Louis, Missouri points out that the good Doctor is a bit more cautious than blatantly saying that UFOs are 'Space-Ships', but perhaps a fantastic, but real, natural phenomena - Intelligent phenomena?

W ILLARD E. Edwards perhaps gives us a few clues as to why UFOs are 'natural' - that is: part of Earth's nature. The simple reason being that an ancient space-trip planted us (humans) on Terra Firma, and we have been expanded to what we are today, with or without their help. Could these supposed beings have had something to do with the creation, not only of 'beings' - but of the over-all planet?

B . T. Stevens writes of some interesting phenomena that may be associated with this 'race' of people - as some feel that direct ascendants of these early 'Elder Gods' still exist. Stevens also gives some reasoned skepticism on Richard Shaver's claim of 'voices' and 'visions'.

O UR Book Review, on a book by Lincoln Lawrence, presents some terrifying aspects: that of 'Mind Control'. We wonder how many fail to realize how wide-spread this type of action is! It is frightening - and we suggest that every person look into this phenomena - before every person becomes, as J. Edgar Hoover put it, a "sleeper", and we a nation of "sleepers".

L EWIS Johannes writes on "Outmoded Sex", pointing out this same manipulation and suppression of our aspiring freedoms. Yet, we gladly sacrifice these precious freedoms - give them away - for the threat of a priest or Pope or President.

R EV. Fairbanks has his first part serial on the origin of Jesus Christ and the New Testament. We should all be interested in finding out who this person was and how this all began. After all, many people faithfully, unquestioningly, place their lives on Him.

H UEY Beasley continues with his serial on Good and Evil, and brings forth more evidence that traditional Christianity is "all wet" about evil and sin.

Y ET another, Mr. X tells of his first-hand encounter with the President Kennedy assassination, and his association with some of the major people involved. We made our feelings clear on this case - we believe it is bizarre - and something 'Big' has been hidden from the public. We have the right and the duty to find out what.

B UT so many people actually 'fear' reading this type of material. They are 'scared stiff'. Their neat little 'house of straw' is so subtly threatened- and they will do everything in their power to 'strike you down', dare you disturb them. They rather ironically criticize misspelled words, the lay-out of your magazine, in hopes of ignoring and distracting from the REAL issue. Their complacency. Their apathy. Their fear. But it is only by sharing those fears - working together - not apart - can we find answers. Let's start. It is already too late.

CHALLENGE

" A Challenge to Richard Shaver. Dick had the right to disagree with me on any subject that he chooses. Also, I go along with his idea that ancient Civilizations were in some cases far ahead of our technologically at least.

" However, at last he has gone out on a limb - it seems - if I read the last issue of D/D correctly. He said that the rocks contain many pictures of the so-called Flying Saucers, together with technical descriptions, detailed plans, etc., in microscopic photos, appended.

" Okay Dick, just you produce such a picture and magnify it to that size which can be read and interpreted, and if what you come up with proves out, it will prove all your contentions fully and completely.

" Just don't crawl out by claiming that the language is alien, remember that you insisted long ago that English was the original tongue spoken by prehistoric man. So, produce or shut up.

" For your information, I circulated R.S.'s pictures among my rock hunting friends with this result, and I quote: 'The guy has a hell of a weird imagination, and these photos are fakes.' (Unquote) Not by the way of my personal opinion at this time - I'll wait and see." B.T. Stevens, Sr. Brentwood, California. ( Mr. Shaver, care to answer this challenge - fully and completely? Editor.)

CONSPIRACIES

" What is 'PROOF'? It is what some idiot wants to think. They proved that Oswald shot the President, BUT if you read any of the reports carefully, it is evident that Oswald had nothing whatever to do with shooting Kennedy....

" He was shot by TWO rifles - and neither one of them was Oswald's, which was placed in the loft by the police who needed a ready 'out' from a bad situation....

" That was ALL that was 'proved', that the police of Dallas were a mighty corrupt and desperate crew - who did not want any more investigation than they could avoid....

"....we will get on to the latter subject of your letter, the Hidden Government and its program of murders like Kennedy's. I have avoided this subject in all my writings to avoid just such deaths, but without much avail. If you don't mind worrying about it - and worry is the worst part - as it builds up year after year to become a drag and itself part of the peril: why go ahead with it? It's true, and very like the belfry-rifle of a Western picture. Deros can and do kill some of us - and the 'choice' of whom to kill next is NOT any thought-out plan or anything but pure 'whim', backgrounded by their own silly concepts of being included in the 'rule' by being active that way. The ones who are our worst enemies are not themselves a very real part of the Hidden Government of earth, but rather like today's 'hanger-ons' who aren't even wanted by the real rulers, but who think to curry favor by getting rid of 'US' (surface people who attract attention, fame, popularity, always the best-loved of 'us') - and all the favor they attract for their dirty deeds is a sure death themselves, at either the hands of the 'dirty ones' or at 'our' hands for not keeping their fingers out of the pie....

" It is all a mixed-up mess 'down there' that way - and not much real logic at work in it, and no way to describe it really: you have to see it and live through it to understand it at all....

" As soon as you venture to 'explain' any of it, you are 'way out', which means no-one will read you but 'way-out' individuals with some knowledge of the complexity of the thing themselves: the squares will just refuse to have anything to do with such wild writings....

" The 'Secret Government' you speak of is one of threats, false phone calls, constant mental tampering that hits all officials of all governments to a very large degree, more than you believe, and a constant 'voice' harassment. One of the most harassing parts of which is the same predicament the writer is in: he can't talk about it with -out being considered 'nuts'. Most every official has this 'voice' problem and won't admit it except privately to a confidential friend or two. He can't - because it wouldn't be accepted as natural sanity....

" The 'Bay of Pigs' affair is one late example of this sort of work - nearly everyone connected with it was jockeyed into doing a poor job of coordination. The planes were held up. I am not going into all that, but enough accounts of it were written - you can find one and read it." Richard S. Shaver, Summit, Arkansas.

PROJECTION

" I think you are referring to some stone carvings I own which were carved by the late Clark Ashton Smith, and which bear an uncanny resemblance to small stone carvings found in secret family caves on Easter Island by Thor Heyerdahl, 1956. See his book Aku-Aku. Mr. Smith carved his statues some ten years or so before the ones on Easter Island were discovered and after he had experienced a series of dreams in which he had found himself in small underground caverns which were filled with hundreds of small stone carvings. It would seem to have been a case of astral projection....

" I described these carvings, and the resemblance, in some detail in my memoir of Smith which I titled 'As I Remember Klarkash-Ton'. This was published by Jack Chalker, 5111 Liberty Heights Avenue, Baltimore, Maryland 21207, first in his magazine Mirage No. 5, Summer 1962, and again in the book In Memoriam: Clark Ashton Smith, 1963." George F. Haas, Oakland, California. ( The very thought of someone having 'visions' of strange 'caves' with ancient 'statues' reminds us of Mr. Shaver and his story. But I recall seeing a picture published by Palmer - Palmer Publications - of the famous Easter Island 'heads' - and in the immediate cliff behind them one can notice another 'face' carved in the cliff - of an enormous age - much older than the 'heads'. Something puzzling about old Easter Island. Editor.)

FOR SIZE

" Here, Steve, try this one on for size. I don't know what you think of sex, but I love it. I hope that this makes my position clear. Keep up the good work." Lewis Johannes, Seattle, Washington. ( It would be nice if all the readers had your attitude, maybe they wouldn't be so guilty reading about it. Editor.)

YARN

" I know of several yarns and will say that the parties relating the yarns are sincere and fully believed the stories....In a few cases there just was no opportunity to get to any town where such notarized statements could be sworn to. For instance, I heard that there was a cave leading down into Mt. Adams in Washington state and that about a thousand feet down inside the Mountain someone had been living for a long time, as there was a bed and stove - as well as bedding and a stack of old news papers, showing by their dates that someone had lived there for two years.

" However, when I tried to check up on the yarn, I ran into the fact that the only one who knew where that cave opening was on the mountain, was at the time in the Morton Hospital - suffering with acute heart trouble. Well, I paid the guy a visit, but could not find the way to the cave opening. He knew the way, but could not sketch a map - and brother - Mt. Adams is one hell of a big hunk of rock...." Brite Raven, Brentwood, California.

TELAUG

" Of the 'Ancient' and on the 'Modern Telaug': Death to man's inhumanity to man. Hate, theft, revenge, rape, murder, war: will cease to exist on the planet earth....will bring the ultimate death also, without ever again being resurrected: The Watchers, and their kin., Big Brothers, so called: Invisible Governments (Pentagonian Powers), and all the Sat-anic Evil Forces from Antiquity up to the present....The Secret of the ancient ANKH of Atlantis, the original predeluge Telug (now becomes) ...the modern version of the Telaug.

" Only those of us, whom have been sworn to secrecy in death, in our underground movement, know the electronic components and schematic diagrams perfected enough into the making of the Telaug....Those of you - whom are subscribers to D/D magazine, and are also working on the telaug, will be contacted someday in the future...." Don Dreis, Wheaton, Ill. ( We did not present your manuscript in its entirety for the obvious reason that without showing the alleged 'Facts' that you say you have, we would only be wasting time. This isn't the first time someone has claimed an Telaug-Answer, only to have nothing. Let us have the data, facts and figures, and we will be more than glad to 'test' them. Editor.)

HYNEK SPEECH

PART II

By the Editor

THE Graham Chapel of Washington University, St. Louis, was filled to capacity on the night of one of many of Dr. Hynek's annual lectures. On Nov. 24, 1967, the rosy-cheeked, goatee-bearded, vibrant personality spoke with the authority that is indicative of the Director of the Dearborn Observatory, as well as Scientific Consultant to the Air Force on UFOs (since 1953).

M R. Hynek impressed upon his audience that, still, after 20 years, all the UFO evidence consisted of "still seemingly cock-eyed reports". That out of 5 million estimated reports, most UFOs exist as "reports" - and nothing more. After 20 years, we are nowhere near the answer point, and don't even know what the data really is.

M R. Hynek gave his opinion of the classic Mantell UFO case (Jan. 7, 1948) - where a military pilot closed in on a unidentified flying object - only to loose control and crash. "Mantell was chasing a IFO", he said, meaning Identified Flying Object, " Can prove it - was a skyhook balloon." However, we must point out the opinion of the late Edward Ruppelt, former Head of the Air Force Project Bluebook, UFO program, that there is doubt that a skyhook balloon was in the area at that exact time and place.

I N the famed "Socarro" UFO case, April 24, 1964, where a reliable police patrol-men saw the take-off of an unknown aircraft, Hynek gets into a bit of 'hedging' and semantic difficulty. It is well-known that geometrical markings were found at the site, -6- yet Hynek says that the marks were only "supposedly" left. A bit too cautious - where no caution is necessary.

HE mentioned that the military contradictory philosophy on this subject was a "military foul-up" and not necessarily a "cover-up".

THAT much of the data comes from very reliable sources, for example, reports come from police squad cars at night. And when human beings can't be relied upon, Hynek pointed out that cattle reacted to the passage of UFOs, and he had yet to hear of a number of cows hallucinating. Dr. Hynek is suspicious of many present UFO photos - and is reluctant to label any authentic. There is just no way to tell.

DR. Hynek mentioned a recent case - the 'Calgary Case' - which he was immediately going to investigate, where colored photos and metal residue was involved. The photos have since been published - no comment yet on the residue.

HYNEK objectively stayed away from the all too emotional conviction that UFOs are 'Space-Ships'. Hynek leaned more to "things in physics right around us - phenomena which is beyond our understanding, yet will be natural when understood."

AFTER showing some of the more interesting UFO photos - and giving the program a little levity by showing UFO 'cartoons', Hynek mentioned that more and more people "are opening up to him", and that he ridicules no one, and is eager to receive soberly written reports.

AN informal Question and Answer period was also one of the high-lights. Hynek was very patient with sundry questions.

UNFORTUNATELY, Hynek was swarmed with the 'kooks' who wanted to know if the Space Brothers are real; if the moon had intelligent beings; if a actual space-being had showed up in the Pentagon.

BUT then there was a number of very interesting questions too. The similarity and correlation between many UFO sightings. UFO fragments. Tracking systems on UFOs. Not that he previously mentioned questions were not important or really offensive - but the 'way' they were asked seemed dubious.

DR. Hynek had great hopes for the Colorado UFO Project - soon to make its finds known. We have our personal doubts. The "Cult of Suppression" is just too big -too big even for the Colorado UFO Project.

U.F.O.'S

THE INTERPLANETARY THEORY OF THE ORIGIN OF LIFE

WILLARD E. EDWARDS, M.S., LITT.D.

MAN has been looking for "missing links" for over a hundred years. These are species bridging the gap between earlier ones and those thought to be descended from them. Some scientists are still trying to prove the evolution theory while others have accepted it as fact.

WE have had the discovery of Pithecanthropus erectus and the Piltdown man. Neither was a satisfactory proof of earlier man, and the latter proved a hoax and a disappointment. It was somewhat like so-called "religious relics" reported found or preserved at various times and places. The Dead Sea Scrolls were hopefully thought of as possible proofs of the existence of Jesus. After examination and translation of the Scrolls, no such help was indicated.

THE ORIGIN OF LIFE ON EARTH

WE often cling to ancient theories and myths with the hope of finding new supporting evidence. But why not rationalize a new theory? In the light of our present scientific knowledge and achievement, I propose "The Interplanetary Theory of The Origin of Life on Earth."

It is reasonable to assume that there are thousands, perhaps millions, of inhabited planets in our Galaxy. There might even be another one in our Solar System. It is also reasonable to assume that some of their inhabitants may have intelligence, knowledge and achievement far superior to ours. Also, they may have had these qualities several hundred thousands years ago.

It would therefore be possible that their spaceships and crews colonized our Earth and brought its first plant and animal life. Imagine a race of people on any nearby planet with physiques, brains, and life spans similar to our own. They could have successfully conquered the problem of space travel as we are now doing. And when they had done this, curiosity would have suggested an Earth visit. Let's assume they solved the problem of a safe penetration of our atmosphere.

MANY previous unsuccessful attempts at a safe Earth landing may have been made. These could account for some of what have been thought of as great meteorite strikes. I'd like to see the "Arizona Meteor Crater" and other meteorite craters dug up and scientifically studied. If a metal fragment shaped by human-like intelligence were found in any of them, it would indicate part of a plausible spaceship. Even if early landing attempts resulted in complete volatilization or contact explosions, successful ones could finally have occurred. We know that Soviet and U.S.A. space capsules are being landed safely now.

SUPPOSE a crew of males and females, white, yellow, brown or black, had landed safely in Europe, Asia, or Africa. Possibly they were unable to take off again. Is it too much to imagine their survival on an Earth previously stocked with plants and animals from other planets?

SEVERAL such landings from different planets could account for the fundamental differences of the races now found on Earth. Can intelligent people believe the Genesis myth that all races descended from one pair of humans, of whatever color? It is far more rational to believe that spaceships from several planets brought different races to Earth. Caucasians, Mongolians, Negroes, Pygmies, and other types may have made up their crews, in one capacity or another. Thereafter, racial mixtures would develop to account for Eskimos, Indians, Polynesians, and so on. This could also account for the different degrees of native intelligence evident among the races of Earth. As time went on, the origins of these earliest Earth inhabitants were lost to individual memory. Origin stories survived only in racial legend, myth, including the Genesis story.

OBSERVERS FROM OUTER SPACE?

REPORTS of fiery happenings in the skies have persisted in the myths, stories and religions of many nations. But only since the advent of our rocket and astronautic achievements have plausible reports of bizarre spaceship sightings been made. Many reports of Unidentified Aerial Objects (UAOs) have undoubtedly been the result of hallucination, delusion, or plain hoax. But not all can be attributed to such causes.

TOO many intelligent aircraft pilots, radar operators, astronomers, and other scientists have had a part in UAO sightings. Some of these undoubtedly due to natural phenomena. Perhaps other UAOs were actually observers from other planets, here to see how previous colonizations were getting on.

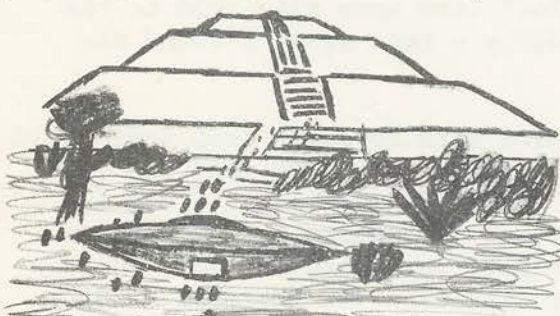

LET'S not be too eager to throw out such a possibility. The Genesis story and the evolution theory of the origin of man are poles apart, and neither is entirely satisfactory. One is a myth, the other a theory. They are not proven or scientific fact, as the clergy and many scientists would have us believe.

VISITATIONS to or from nearby planets now seem plausible and within the range of physical achievement. But there are human and physical (speed) limitations. Travel to planets of Alpha Centauri (our nearest star), or to those of other stars, now seems impossible within one normal life time. But travel to planets in our Solar System is within the range of eventual human possibility.

WHEN this (or star travel) is achieved, who knows what we'll find? We might encounter limited environments like our own, and intelligent beings much like ourselves. Or they may be differently constituted in order to suit a different environment. We are familiar with the intelligence exhibited by some tamed animals. Perhaps inhabitants of other have an intelligence as superior to ours as that of ours over Earth's tamed mammals. If we do find intelligent humanlike inhabitants on other planets, the evolution theory and the Genesis myth may both be exploded.

WHAT WE NOW ASK

SUPPOSE our first visit to another inhabited planet does show our present knowledge and achievement to be inferior to theirs. This event should not change our respect for the remarkable accomplishments of our own thinkers and scientists. We admire them for the great social advancements and scientific achievements they have already made.

HOWEVER, as humanitarians and rationalists, we ask that physical and social scientists, statesmen, economists, and educators do more for us right now. Their effort is urgently needed to reduce today's population explosion, fear of the unknown, and opportunism. Such effort may seem to many people to be as equally important as further aerospace research and development; and far more important than looking for "missing links".

BACKGROUND OF DR. WILLARD EDWARDS

REGISTERED Professional Engineer (Hawaii) and Certified Corrosion Control Engineer (N.A.C.E.). Former Member of A.I.E.E., I.R.E., I.P.A., A.A.A.S., N.A.C.E., and S.A.M.E. Past President of local Toastmasters Club, Honolulu Funeral and Memorial Society, and now President of the Perpetual Calendar Association. Retired Lieutenant Commander, U.S.N.

ORIGINATOR of the PERPETUAL CALENDAR in 1919; lecturing and writing on it in over 300 cities in 90 countries since 1920 on six trips around the world. Four-year student at M.I.T. and graduate of University of Oklahoma with B.S. degree in Electrical Engineering; also M.S., M.A., and Litt. D. degrees from Jackson College (Hawaii). Ordained minister in Life Science International and bishop in Universal Life Church.

IN Federal Service, November 1941 through December 1965 (retired), except for nine months of wartime pilot service with Hawaiian Airlines. Previous engineering service: 15 years with Lockheed Aircraft Co., KFI Radio, Am. Tel. & Tel. Co., Alexander Aircraft Co., and R.C.A. Former Third Officer in U.S. Merchant Marine on a worldwide cruise in 1928.

CONTRIBUTOR of technical and freethought articles to various publications. Former Instructor: Jackson College, U.S. Naval Reserve, and California vocational arts classes.

B.T. STEVENS

SORRY about that, but I am one person who never has an adventure. Many years ago I learned that what is called an adventure - is usually only a very ordinary occurrence fouled up by two things: ignorance and stupidity.

IGNORANCE of conditions one will meet with in any expedition or exploration - and stupidity of proceeding with the operation or exploration, etc. Too little knowledge - too little preparation.

THERE were no adventures involved in the investigation which I undertook anent the Shaver Mystery. It did entail considerable expense and a lot of time. To turn up nothing substantial or evidential supporting Shaver's claim that thousands of washing machines were stolen and sold to his mythical cavern dwellers.

AGAIN Shaver cited the beliefs that thousands of Ford Cars were also sold to the Cavern Wites or Deros. That too I checked out very thoroughly - once again I found nothing.

IT was also claimed that some elevators in big cities were so built that they could descend far below even the sub-basement of their respective buildings. Now that was in a way, right up my alley. As a maintenance man in several industrial complexes I had met many elevator Mfgs Agents and Installation representatives, so to inquire into the capabilities of all known makes of elevators as to the possibility of any known installation being able to descend to such depths - required only the writing of a few letters. Again nothing.

ONE thing Shaver claims - I will go on record as saying it is fact. He claims to hear voices right out of the air - so to speak. Now that I'll go along with, for I as well as others that I know of, also heard those voices. Fact is: that everyone with reasonably good hearing can also hear those voices, if they listen for them.

BUT, however, I'll have to go on record as stating that the voices heard say only what one has previously memorized and nothing more. I will give one instance of just how such a 'voice' can seem to exist. Years ago here in California Delta there were many tug boats operating with three cylinder gasoline engines. The exhaust of those engines seemed to say over and over potato: PO.-TA.-TO. When the tug was close one would not find it too noticable, but a mile or two away and with wind slightly gusty, one would often just hear potato - then nothing.

AGAIN there are times when voices of persons miles away and speaking in normal tones can be heard - and that can happen either on the plains or in the mountains. Temperature inversions can cause a moderate loud sound to carry unbelievable distances. So hearing a voice that actually seems to speak sense, is not unknown. However, as said before, such voices do not say anything unknown to the hearer and for this reason: while one hears a sound similiar to spoken words - words as such are not distinguishable - actually we supply the words to fit the sound as one did for the tug boats and their exhaust - potato.

OUR ears can play weird tricks with sounds, for instance in a ship yard such as the Bremerton Navel Yard in Washington, there are huge shops, machine, forging, welding, electrical, sheet metal and the woodworking shops - all of them are noisy. Then there are welders, blowers, cranes, railroads, trucks, cars and diesel engines running all around the place. Take it all at one time and you have one hell of a racket going on. Well, if one lets all that din come in so that one is consciously aware of it, anyone who wants to attract ones attention would have to scream right in your ear. However, one can blank out all that sound except those sounds he wants to hear and then one can hear another person speak in a normal tone of voice from twenty feet away.

OR if one wishes he can turn all the cacophony into a beautiful symphony, which will vary from hour to hour and from day to day.

BOOK REVIEW

Were We Controlled? - Lincoln Lawrence

( University Books, New Hyde Park, New York)

UNDER the pseudonym of Lincoln Lawrence, a noted newsmen and T.V. commentator investigates the intriguing, dark depths of the underlying plot in the mentioned book: The Rumor. Only when all the facts; all the theory; all the reasons are brought together, it is no longer just a rumor - but perhaps the most probable explanation as to what is behind the bizarre happenings of the assassination of President Kennedy.

LAWRENCE sees evidence that two, possibly three, of the most ultra-modern methods of "Mind Control" were used in the conspiracy to kill President Kennedy. R.H.I.C. - Radio Hypnotic Intracerebral Control. E.D.O.M. - Electronic Dissolution of Memory. And, ofcourse, Hypnotism. Taking into consideration the use - and growingly sophisticated - methods of "Mind Control", pieces to the Kennedy-murder-puzzle fall quickly into place.

THE Warren Commission unknowingly (duped?) steered clear of this breath-taking implication, and the crime was therefore beyond their scrutiny (P. 13). But Lawrence believes that somewhere in Argentina, Brazil (home of many neo-Nazis, and 'Reichsleiter' Bormann - Atlas, March, 1968, 1180 Ave., New York, N.Y. 10036) a Germanic group planned the collapse of the Stock Market - through Tino De Angelis, and his 'Allied' financial Empire - at the precise moment Oswald and others were to shoot the President. Under the control of R.H.I.C. and E.D.O.M., both could be caught with no fear of 'ratting' out. Even Jack Ruby shows striking signs of 'Mind Control' - and even the possibility that his 'control' 'goofed' during his hypnotic session.

UNDER the scrutiny of a mysterious 'Mr. One', Oswald was sized up as a very probable 'pigeon'. Oswald was educated - told that he would "assist in experimental research", get a education in philosophy. Lee Harvey Oswald underwent surgery on April 1, 1961, in Minsk. Oswald thought he was going to get an "adenoid" operation. Eleven days later he was released - only an adenoid operation doesn't take that long; neither is it tell-tale of all the signs that could only come from the Experimental Section at No. 5 Krasnaya street.

JACK Ruby shows just as many signs of R.H.I.C. and hypnotism. Psychiatrists such as Roy Schafer, and Attorney Billi, noted the 'uncontrolled' behavior of Ruby. "....appears to feel not altogether in control of his body actions, as if they occur independently of his conscious will at times" (P. 97). Ruby, the Rumor goes, was conditioned against remembrance of Oswald after he killed him, and indeed, Ruby found it hard to speak of Oswald. And there was the one 'phone call' Ruby avoided remembrance on every occasion. And the shadows of 'Nazi-anti-Semetic' conversation lurked in his mind, only finding mention in abstract notes of his.

EACH carrying out his programmed order - Oswald, Ruby, Angelis, and certain unknowns, all moved closer and closer - till Kennedy was shot, the stock market collapsed, and a mysterious "Elite" associated with Bunge and Born, Ida, Argentina, and other Germanic relates, made off with close to a billion dollars. The Warren Commission was startling ignorant and the C.I.A. wasn't about to speak (P.85).

BUT "Mind Control" comes from somewhere - and political assassination has no corner on it. Kenneth Arnold, the famous UFO sighter who allegedly sighted the first modern UFOs in 1947, was personally investigating the June 21, 1947 Maury Island incident of Tacoma, Washington. UFO fragments were involved and eye-witnessed sightings. But all too soon, walls began to have eyes and ears. Strange people began to pop up. UFO fragments were stolen. Arnold was hypnotized to see a fully active-lived-in-room, which turned out to be quite old, and far from recently lived in. And several military Intelligence agents met their death aboard a military plane carrying the 'fragments'. The mysterious Mr. Crisman, who showed all signs of being a under-cover agent (the, then, new C.I.A.?). Ending when Arnold nearly crashed his little plane, for reasons not too mundane. (The Real UFO Invasion, Ray Palmer, Greenleaf Classics, Inc., 5839 Mission Gorge Rd., San Diego, Calif. 92120).

CHARLES Eric Maine, in his novel "The Man Who Couldn't Sleep", had "Psycho-recording", where a person was put under the complete influence of recorded 'stories', and mentally lived a life of "Subjective Escape", under complete control of the operator. And, as is possible in real life, there is the sinister tyrant, Zakon, and cohorts.

SOME would say that all these sundry things are the makings of man's own 'animal thinking'. Maybe so- but still, where do the 'ideas' come from? One writer for this magazine would insist it came from a sinister, eternally ancient race of people beneath our surface, hidden in deep 'caverns', operating 'Mech': the 'telaug'; 'teleportation mech'; the 'THOUGHT CONTROL mech'. And so it may be - it would be as good as any explanation of the 'madness' going on in our Governments; in our lives. Perhaps, there are more "sleepers" than just Oswald and Klan. Perhaps 'it' reaches to Hell and back!

SUPPRESSION OF KENNEDY ASSASSINATION
EVIDENCE AND BOOKS EXPOSING IT

HAROLD WEISBERG

THE effort to suppress the truth about the Kennedy assassination and its official investigation, which I have already proved to be a fake investigation, is stronger today than it ever has been. The news media, especially the Associated and United Press and CBS and NBC, have sought to brainwash the public by a coordinated campaign of suppression, deception, distortion and outright lies that has, to a large degree, succeeded in misleading those who do not have the truth and do not know how to get it. All of this concerted campaign, with exception, is of deliberate dishonest intent, has knowingly false content, and is calculated to deceive the people, as Jim Garrison has charged.

EACH of the media refuses the chance for fair answer. Each exercises its raw power to lie and suppress. With almost all sources of information ganging up, where are the people to learn what really happened and how it happened? How can our society function if the people are lied to and have no independent means of learning, or as is true in most cases, even seeking the truth?

WHEN Photographic Whitewash: Suppressed Kennedy Assassination Picture appeared, the New York Times found it worth more than 40 column inches as news. No other major organ mentioned it. The Associated Press, which knew of the Times' interest, interviewed me and prepared a story. It then ordered that this story be suppressed unless one of its members demanded it. Unless the AP puts the news on the ticker, how are the papers to know the news exists? This is open suppression. It is opposed to every fundamental democratic principle. The AP can get away with it only because its competition has the same policies.

PHOTOGRAPHIC WHITEWASH proves, with reproduction of 150 pages of documents that should have been in the Warren Report but were hidden in its files, that:

The government refused to gather the available photographic evidence;
It misused, distorted and misrepresented what it could not avoid;
It guaranteed that much of it would be destroyed;
This evidence, identified and described in the book, proves the falsity of the Commission's conclusions and Oswald's innocence.

THIS is why there is such a great effort to suppress it.

THERE can no longer be a complete photographic record of the assassination. This the FBI and the Commission staff saw to.

AND, of course, the pictures were thus denied the members of the Commission for their deliberations and decisions.

CONSISTENT with this is the continuing fear of books that tell the unpleasant truth and wholesaler reluctance to offer them to the book stores.

ACCORDINGLY, we have had to resort to the costly and, for two people, very difficult procedure of letting those who write and have written us know of the books we have published and how to get them. This is the purpose of this letter (and its contents). If your bookstores - which can get our books under normal trade arrangements from us - do not have them, we will mail them to you. The enclosures give the titles and price of each.

HAD it not been for the complicity of the press to begin with, there never could have been this monstrous miscarriage of justice formalized in the Report. As Americans, we cannot allow injustice to be perpetuated. We cannot ever be without fear, the basic institutions of our society cannot be without jeopardy, and no President can ever be really safe if any President can be consigned to history with a phony official investigation of his murder, which then remains unsolved.

IT is our hope that those who cherish our institutions, who shared a love and respect for the murdered President, will first seek the truth themselves and then join in the effort to bring it to public attention and demand the crime be solved and punishment be meted out.

IF we depend on the tightly-controlled press, which is initially responsible for the acceptance of this terrible lie and now mixes new ones with continuing suppression, we will never establish the truth, justice will never be done. That, now, can come only when concerned Americans assume the responsibilities of citizenship. In turn, that can begin only with knowledge, which is what we offer you.

Sincerely,
Harold Weisberg

C ONSPIRATORS

MR. X

Mr. X claims personal contact with some of the major suspects in the Kennedy assassination (letters in our files). Here is a first in a serial part.

WITH regard to the Garrison investigations, I will now state what I know, and may be repeating what I have said in a previous letter. I have had no personal contact with District Attorney Garrison, although I have reason to believe he knows of my existence. I do not consider myself free to disclose anything that I know when the question of the matter being communicated to me as a clergyman is involved, but I consider myself free to comment on matters that have been published in the papers, connected with material in my files.

I was associated with my former ordinary in a small church the English Rite Catholic Church founded by Jon Kazantka - which had been associated as an affiliated church with another body, the Patriarchate of America. Hyde resigned from the jurisdiction and our group was merged with another small denomination, the American Catholic Church. Hyde broke communion with the American Catholic Church and an abortive effort to form a synod followed with Fr. Clarence E. Duffy and Archbishop Carl J. Stanley of Louisville, Kentucky and as a result I came in contact with two people who were publicized in connection with the Garrison investigations - Dave Ferrie and Jack Martin.

MY sole contact with Ferrie * was a long distance phone conversation and a few letters. In 1963, Hyde wrote me at a time in which I had difficulties with him - that there were doubts about his moral character, but that he was going to make him a priest in the group. Later a synod of the group Hyde was associated with was broken up by the cops, and Ferrie was present at the synod seeking to be made a Bishop. This was in August, 1963, not long before the assassination of our late President....In 1965, Hyde issued a magazine, the Byzantine Criterion, in which he listed Dave Ferrie and Thomas A. P. Gilboy....as priests subject to Hyde's jurisdiction.

I was ignorant at that time of the Warren Reports. These mentioned that Jack Martin ** had tried to get them to believe that Ferrie was implicated in a plot, but that Martin was not entitled to be taken seriously because of being a drunk - I have put Martin up two times in my apartment, and although he drinks like a fish, I can state definitely that he is not a drunk. He never goes under and holds his liquor. I personally do not drink, except for an occasional beer, and I do light on that.

* David William Ferrie, a free-lance pilot and private investigator, died Feb. 22, five days after Jim Garrison charged that Ferrie conspired with Lee Harvey Oswald and others to kill the President. Ferrie was found dead in his apartment. The coroner's office said 'natural causes'. Garrison suspected suicide. Ferrie supposedly took a trip to Texas the day the President was shot.

** Jack S. Martin, a private investigator told the FBI that David William Ferrie might be connected in the assassination of the late President in November, 1963. Upon this, the FBI arrested Ferrie, yet seemed to find no bases to Martin's accusations. Attorney Garrison has found some evidence to indicate that the FBI is either withholding or over-looking some important matters on Martin's claim.

FROM what I have read in the papers, I am definitely sure that Ferrie was involved in such a plot (emphasis mine, Ed.). I have been handicapped by being ignorant of Ferrie's possible involvement until fairly recently and at the same time honestly and sincerely believed that an entirely innocent man, Michael Itkin, was involved. I went so far as to write Senator George Smothers and try and get him to investigate Itkin. It is too involved a story, but it is quite possible that Ferrie was responsible for creating the documentation that led me to believe that Itkin was involved.

AS for as the Garrison Investigations are concerned, I need to make my position clear. I respect Garrison and subscribe to his philosophy. However, I am seeking to instigate a movement holding that the Church ought to keep out of politics, and I do not want to appear to be one holding that the Church should go into politics - to support Garrison's side. A trickish situation exists. Evidence has been suppressed by the C.I.A. However, the National Council of Churches has also been involved. I am opposed to the N.C.C., but in order to get anywhere, I have to present my opposition on a high level disassociating myself from much of the opposition, and it would obviously compromise Garrison if church people got the idea that I was saying that the Churches were against him. I want to leave the Garrison matter to other people as much as possible, and not appear one seeking to involve myself in that matter as a publicity seeker; while at the same time, I am a publicity seeker, and need to identify myself as one who was persecuted by Hyde because as Superior of the Society of Domestic Clerics, I insisted on policies that would have kept people like Ferrie out of the Society.

I have written to the Professor who has written the article in the Saturday Evening Post, seeking to interest him in writing an article for FATE, with me listed as a co-author. I would like to see him treat Ferrie from the point of view of philosophy, in accordance with the book on philosophy he has written....

I am going to write to Martin and will then write to you giving his address. He is a nice guy, but he is hard to get along with, since he is a Mister Know It All, and he thinks big whenever I think small and want to work with people who do not think too big. Jack wants to run anything he is in. I want to run whatever I am in, and when we get together things blow up. In contacting you I am taking it for granted that you are planning on running what you are seeking to start up, and I am interested in you as a channel and media, I am not seeking to move in on you. In contacting Jack you are going to run into one or two responses from him: he will either try to sell you on something he can handle, but is too big for either you or me, or else he will threaten you. However, he can be a good friend to you with the Garrison investigations. I want to write to him first before I make it possible for you to get in touch with him.

"EROTIC REALM"

OUTMODED SEX

LEWIS JOHANNES

WHY is it that we continue to cling to the outmoded ideas that our forefathers had when it comes to sex? Is it that we are so deluded and brainwashed that we cannot see the light and come out from under their teachings?

IT has been put forward by some of our greatest psychologists such as Freud and others that some of our greatest problems stem from the suppressions that are put on the young by their equally deluded parents in regards to sex.

WE are told that sex or any other erotic thought is dirty, bad, or that if we should break down and indulge in some form of sex that we may become insane. To be sure, that if these natural forces are 'suppressed', quite the same thing may result. That one with great inhibitions may and in many cases do become neurotic, and in some cases, psychotic.

IN these cases, the other end of the pendulum is reached. Some of these poor and disturbed people become sexual perverts, exhibitionists, and rapists. It is these that are pointed at and held up to the scorn of the so-called "normal" people, whose outmoded outlook on a beautiful and natural act has caused them to become what they are.

WHO can look on a beautiful human body and say that it is dirty? Only those whose minds are dirty. Who can say that any act that this body performs is bad? Only those who can find badness in any beautiful thing. Who then is the perverted? The one - who in innocence performs an act that has been blessed by God from the beginning of time, or the one who declares that to be human is wrong!!

IN most cases, the inhibitions that are developed in a child are started when that child cannot think for himself. It makes no difference if that person is alone, or should happen to have a partner in his exploration of the body that has been given to him. In either case he or she is summarily condemned. In this condemnation there is at once established a feeling of guilt, and inferiority or worthlessness. If these feelings are allowed to continue, then the person can often do become a burden to the society that has made him that way.

IN recent years, the Playboy magazine has taken great and bold steps toward the erasure of the ancient taboos that are and have been with us in regards to sex. I think that it is time that other 'thinking' people also do their part to aid in this movement - and try to free us of yet another of these yokes that are leftovers of the dark ages.

WHEN the word sex is mentioned, the first thing that comes to mind is the physical act - that is necessary. I think that there is much more to it than that. Not only is there the physical side, but also the psychic and mental side too. One must be in the right "mood" in order to get more than a mere animal delight out of sex.

NATURALLY, there is the pleasure of procreation. To know that your 'line' will continue is pleasant. To give pleasure to one's partner is rewarding. In Biblical times there was a greater meaning attached to the act of love. If a woman could not give her husband, then more than one case is listed in the Bible where at the insistence of the wife, the husband would find another to help him in the act that God had ordained. Such was the case of Abram and Sarah. In cases like these the people were not condemned by God, but were further blessed.

AS in many cases, the translation of these ancient books were made to be erroneous through the years. In these translations, there was much added - and even changed - until one cannot be sure what the original meaning was.

IF we can perhaps make the world that our children will inherit a better place to live in, then I think we should do all that we can to do so. In one way that we can do this is to try and break down the old taboos that surround sex - and put it in the rightful place that it should hold. It is and always has been the one act that brings man nearer to the gods. In sex - he can aid in the creation of life - and the continuation of the human race. At times, one may think that the race should not be carried on, but if it does, then they may become a better people. If time allows us, then we may be able to revive some of the greatness of the past older races that were once on the world - that we now have in our possession. Through research, and the general raising of the mental development of the race, then perhaps we can once again have the leisure to develop the 'art of love' to the point that it once held.

THROUGH the stimulative use of the Elder Ray Mechanics, we can once again be nearly gods, in that we will not be filled with the envy, greed, and the many other vices that we must daily live with, and that are constantly surrounding us.

In addition to the work that is being done across the country on the problems that have been exposed in the near past by our far-thinkers, I believe that we should also begin to work on the development of the "Stim" that was at one time so highly prized by the Elders. To put this idea before the "thinkers" of the U.S. would soon land a person in an institution, however, the private experimentation is not overlooked, if it can remain private.

"MEN have never fully used the powers they possess to advance the good in life, because they have waited upon some power external to themselves and to nature to do the work they are responsible for doing." JOHN DEWEY.

O R I G I N S

TOM FAIRBANKS

Ever wondered if there was any information about the origin of Christianity, outside of what is written - and often misconstrued in the Bible? There are many who reason a person shouldn't seek knowledge - for fear of damnation. Not this writer!

IT seems to me self-evident that there is something in the nature of a Kundalini science taught in the writings of Paul and in the Gospels. There is also no reason why Apollonius of Tyana could not have been connected up in some way with the Apostle. Church Fathers say that Christians were originally called Chrestians. Suetonius says that Claudius expelled the Jews from Rome because of a certain Chrestus instigating an uprising, and Paul earns his living by working as a weaver in the tent factory of a Jew expelled from Rome by Claudius who thinks enough of Paul to keep moving his shop around from place to place, so that the Apostle could be sure of earning his living in the cities he wanted to preach in. The term Chrestus sound like it belongs to a pre-Christian gnostic cult which could have been one headed by Apollonius, in which a student was called a Chrestus, 'Useful', a name given commonly to slaves in a manner similar to the name Rastus was used in pre-Civil War days, and on being initiated into the cult by being confirmed with perfumed oil, would be called a Christos or anointed one. The reference in Acts that the disciples were first called Christians in Antioch would indicate that some way the Christians and Essenes got merged together, being called Christians because they started getting confirmed with oil after baptism in the manner of the Early Church and the Orthodox Greek Church today.

It is quite possible that that story about Pythagoras learning his stuff by going to Mount Carmel and studying in the School of the Prophets founded by Elijah, was started as far back as the first century. Josephus draws a close parallel between the philosophy of the Essenes and that of the Pythagoreans. The Essenes had to proselyte Gentiles to their movement because they needed to have representatives of the twelve tribes of Israel to take part in the battle of Armageddon, and they had to look for the ten lost tribes among the Gentiles, and they would be interested in cultivating Pythagoreans for that reason.

On the other hand, Pol, short for Apollonius, fits Apollos better than Paul. Paul sounds like a very historical person. Paul is not mentioned in the Talmud, probably due to the fact that he was working among Gentiles under a Gentile name carrying on a propaganda which the orthodox rabbis did not consider as bad as the propaganda other people were carrying on among Gentiles, and they, therefore, did not have any motive for conducting a heresy trial which would have brought him into the Talmud. However, there is a large amount of theological discussion in the ancient parts of the Talmud seeking to controvert theological positions maintained by Paul, and many of the prayers of the Jewish Prayer Book seem specifically composed for the purpose of expressing opinions exactly the opposite of those contained in the Pauline Epistles. Rabbis would not be interested in controverting the tenets of a Pythagorean philosopher; they just wouldn't have cared anything about the matter. Luke could very well have been a disciple of Apollonius - the name Apollonius seems to have been taken from the god Apollo; the patron of physicians, and Luke was a physician. He quite probably did ghost-writing for Paul in the course of shaping up the Epistles; and hence have been able to get quite a bit of Apollonius into them. As far as that goes, the Theophilus to whom the Book of Acts and the Gospel of Luke are dedicated could have been Apollonius himself.

AGAIN, I don't see how Mark could have been Marcion. Marcion founded the Marcionite church, which was the first church to have a canon of the New Testament. The Marcionite New Testament contained a selection from the Pauline Epistles and the Gospel of Luke revised to make Jesus come down from Heaven into Capernaum of Galilee and to ascend to Heaven before the Crucifixion, leaving Simon of Cyrene to take his place. Luke contains accounts of miracles that sound like deeds of a wonder worker taking place in a country where they had tile roofs, which they did not have in Galilee; Mark describes occurrences which sound like eyewitness accounts of Peter describing what he witnessed in Palestine; and if Marcion wrote the Gospel of Mark, why didn't he put it in his New Testament?

AGAIN, Constantine could not have done much Bible making. The thing is: the New Testament represents the books received by the Catholic and Orthodox churches. Constantine called the Council of Nice, which legislated for the Catholic Church...but he did not buy what the Council taught; he made the Arian Church, which that Council condemned, the established religion of the Roman Empire, and the Catholic Church led a proscribed existence - largely under-cover during most of his reign and that of his immediate successors. There were two religious denominations in existence, besides the Catholic Church, appealing to the same writing that the Catholic Church used and hostile to it - the Novatian Church and the Donatist Church, that could have effectually prevented their enemy from getting by with any extensive revision of the texts; and, also, the Peshitto version of the Assyrians seems to have been made prior to Constantine's time in country under the jurisdiction of the Persian Empire and hence not subject to actions of the Roman Government, and it contains substantially the text of the Greek.

I personally consider myself to be an entirely orthodox Christian. It seems to me certain that the entire historical probability of the origin of Christianity is that the historic Jesus did not exist. To face this reality, in my opinion, helps rather than hurts orthodoxy. Most modern clergymen want an unorthodox Tolstoyan Jesus who was a great sage - but a purely human figure....in order that they might be able to handle that element of Christianity which is in opposition to currently received sociological and scientific orthodoxies. To prove that Jesus did not exist is to prove that Jesus did not live and die as a man like other men. On the other hand, for a thing to be probable is not for it to be necessarily so. I cannot count on making my living by betting on the horses instead of working because the probability of a certain horse winning a race can be estimated. If you start investigating the probability of Jesus never existing, you have to postulate the existence of a science of the mind in which the past has its reality because of people agreeing that it is there, and it is possible as a result to change the past around and put a real Jesus born of a real virgin Mary into it.

NOW it seems to me certain that the odds are that the Essenes and the First Century church described in the New Testament are identical. A large First Century organization goes out of existence after its adherents are denied the use of the synagogues by Rabbi Gamaliel II and a large organization organized in the same way appears all over the Roman Empire at the beginning of the Second Century....without any history outside of the New Testament books and other writings excluded from the New Testament, that read as if they were written by Essenes.

THE most important piece of evidence, in my opinion, is to be found in Josephus. It is so plain that people ignore it because it is so obvious. Josephus writes about the High Priest Ananias, the grandson of Annas and the Son of Caiphas, that he arrested 'the Brother Jesus, whom they called Christ; his name was Jacob'....and had him stoned to death. Now, if Josephus, in referring to Saint James the Less (Jacob and James are the same name), meant to say that he was the brother of Jesus, why didn't he say so? Hegesippus describes Saint James as being considered by the Jews to be the true High Priest of Israel. Josephus seems clearly to say that Saint James was a wonder-worker who belonged to an inner-circle of the Essenes called the Jesus Brothers, and was the Christ that is the anointed High Priest of Israel in the opinion of the Essenes.

THE name of the God of Israel was not Yahweh; it was Yahu or Yaw, these two being different transliterations of the same Hebrew letters, pronounced the same. The phrase 'I Am that I Am; in Hebrew is Ahweh asher ihweh; a God calling Himself 'I Am' could logically be referred to by another as 'He is', and the Hebrew in the third person is 'Yahweh asher yihweh!' The scribes of the Old Testament were embarrassed at having a God who was worshipped by ritual prostitution and burning infants alive, so they adopted the convention of writing Yahweh in order to make it appear that their God had a different name from that of Baal. In Hebrew, W and U are the same letter, so the magic power in the expression 'Yahu' could continue to operate when Yahweh was said.

AMONG the Gnostics, the original name of God was used transliterated into Greek letters: IAO. They must have gotten this practice from the Essenes, and we can get a good idea, therefore, of how the Kundalini science underlying the New Testament originated.

March 7, 1968. The 709 gross ton, 185 foot long, steamer, "S.S. Valiente", disappeared off the coast of Nha Trang, after radioing that she was to arrive in Da Nang shortly. Then the Valiente vanished - carrying 550 tons of cement and 85,000 feet of copper wire, and general cargo. Neither did any of the 20 crewmen show up. Various theories fail to explain why she disappeared so "completely".

Washington, April 24. Two government scientists reported that X-radiation might be a contributing factor in causing some cancers. Their studies were based on two years of research with rats. This has been suspected by some unthanked researchers - R. Shaver for instance - with no credit given.

New Orleans, La. March. District Attorney Jim Garrison subpoenaed Mrs. Ruth Paine, long-time friend and associate of Marina and Lee Harvey Oswald, to testify in court on the alleged conspiracy to murder President Kennedy. Garrison described her as a "necessary and material witness" in his continuing inquiry.

ETERNAL TORMENT -or- UNIVERSAL RECONCILIATION?

By: Huey P. Beasley

PART II -The Origin Of Sin, And Its Purpose.

WE have already pointed out that God created evil (Isaiah 45:6-7). But one reader, Mr. Clyde Herrin, has pointed out to me that evil is not the same as sin. The Hebrew stem "RO" underlies the English rendering "Evil". This is rendered by such terms as break, harm, hurt, adversity, calamity, distress, grief, sorrow, trouble, to mention a few.

MR. Herrin is quite right, ofcourse, evil is not the same as sin. Nor has this writer ever stated that God sins, or that God created sin, as such. However, it can definitely be shown that the responsibility for sin and its entrance into the world traces directly back to God the Creator. In fact, it is the very meaning of the term sin, as used in Scripture which proves this point.

THE term sin, as used in the Scriptures, literally means to 'miss the mark'. The same word is so translated (miss) in Judges 2:16. It carries with it the essence of failure, falling short of or missing any standard of perfection. Thus Paul states that "all have sinned and come short of the Glory of God." (Romans 3:23). He does not state that all are guilty of heinous offenses against law and decency and love, but that all are miss-taken --- all fail to meet God's perfect standard. Ofcourse, some sins are far worse than mere mistakes.

THE traditional rendering of I John 3:4, "Sin is the transgression of the law" is in error, as sin existed before the law was given. (Romans 5:12-14). The verse should read "sin is lawlessness", for sin is failure to conform to any standard, Mosaic or otherwise, natural or revealed. Again, it is failure, "missing the mark."

NOW. If God created Satan perfect, and his defection was a surprise and disappointment to God, then God failed. He started out to make a flawless creature, and that creature turned out bad - very bad indeed. God's failure - God's sin - is very great. If God did not intend Satan to sin, and Satan did it on his own initiative, then God certainly "missed the mark" - God sinned!

THOSE who introduce sin into the universe as an excrescence, an unforeseen calamity and an irremediable blot, are charging God with failure, which is sin. If they introduce it surreptitiously, without God's act, making Satan sovereign in sin, then God's failure is the greatest sin of all!

BUT, on the other hand, if God created Satan specifically for the purpose of being an Adversary, and introducing sin into the universe, and Satan did exactly what he was created for, then God did not fail, or miss the mark, or sin.

WE cannot believe that God ever fails or sins. It is only by acknowledging that God created Satan to sin, that we can possibly clear God from the stain of sin. Sin is not a theory. It is a sad and terrible fact. I wonder if those are mentally equal to the consequences, who teach that it has broken loose from God's control, or that it never was in His control. Their highest hope is chaos. Their only reasonable fate is eternal torment, not only for the "lost", but for the "saved" as well, and even for God Himself, for love always suffers with its object. The only sane, rational, as well as Scriptural solution, is that which is stated in the Scripture, that "all is out of Him and through Him and for Him." (Romans 11:36).

THAT then is the part which sin has in God's purpose? It is an essential, though

A PLACE CALLED HELL!

transient part. Due preparation was made for it before it came. The lamb was slain from the disruption of the world. His love can only be displayed where sin has sown the seeds of hate. There can be no Savior apart from sin. There can be no reconciliation apart from enmity; God locks up all together in stubbornness, that He should be merciful to all (Romans 11:32). The limited mind of man can only understand one situation as it relates to other situations. Love can be truly appreciated only when contrasted with hate and coldness. Good can be truly appreciated only when contrasted with evil. If God wants the deep satisfaction of requited love, and wishes to impart to His creatures the deep sense of His Fatherly affections, then such must be excercized against the background of distance and distress of that which sin creates. In short, sin and evil form the black-board against which the brightness of goodness and love can stand out more clearly. When evil and sin have been used to accomplish fully this purpose, they will be destroyed.

It was by no means a mistake (sin) on God's part, when He created a creature who should not only commit sin but scatter it throughout all creation!

We are presenting this temporary series to bring the new readers up to date on Beasley's original "ORIGIN OF GOOD-EVIL AND "ORIGINAL SIN" series, now in its third part - and to be continued in forthcoming issue - and this second series herewith polishes a few other points.

NEWS EXPO

PSYCHIATRY FOR DISSENTERS, from the Des Moines Register: a news bit from the mentioned paper discussed the possible use of Psychiatry from the Pentagon to 'slap down dissent'. A Defense Department civil servant who rises the wrath of his superiors by his dissent on, for example, the Vietnam war, may have to comply with a psychiatric examination, or lose his job. Ofcourse, if he is pronounced 'fit', this means he will no longer disagree with the govenment's policies. The author of the piece compared it to the Russian tactics, as exposed in Valery Tarsis's "Ward 7", on political prisoners in a mental hospital.

UNCONTROLLED GROWTH: Senator and Presidential canidate, Eugene J. McCarthy spoke about the "uncontrolled growth" of such organizations as the FBI and the Central Intelligence Agency. He charged that they had been made "an instrument instead of an independent operation" (April 4, 1968)

"After all, I'm the President" (Lyndon Baines Johnson): (Jan. 7, 1968) The Post-Dispatch News, in their Editorial, gave a summary of some of the major problems the present administration has caused, the lack of Congressional power, and the fact that the President should be a 'leader' - not a 'ruler'.

DUPED: Mrs. Shirley Kaczmariski wrote to the Post-Dispatch that our Administration seems to have no end to their lies. Johnson received some support to his call up of the reserve forces, leading the public to believe that the purpose was to have a ready force available should the new Korean crisis erupt further - suddenly these same reserve units are assigned to Vietnam. The war has thus been intentionally enlarged, "with no constitutional or legal controls on his actions".

DANGEROUS HOBBY: The Chicago Tribune has commented on District Attorney Jim Garrison's television appearance on the "Johnny Carson" show. To them, as well as the majority of the Nation's press, Garrison has been nothing but a trouble maker, in what they term "publicity-seeking foray" and "rehash". His "wild, unsubstantiated", claims make him "dangerous". EDITOR'S NOTE: We too saw that television program. And we must agree with Weisburg that it would seem that the press is out to put the damper on Garrison. Garrison not only spoke in a very logical, reasonable manner on that program. But Carson, mimicing his boss, much like the T.V. personalities of CBS mimic their boss and his policies, Richard S. Salant, rotely reiterated the same meaningless questions over and over. Such as "but is that proof?", and "how can you doubt such honorable men?". Despite such rote, Garrison did indicate that such evidence existed (he has sworn statements and photos of CIA men at the scene of the crime), and that such 'honorable' are not always 'honorable'.

"OUTRAGES THE HUMAN ASSOCIATION": Life Magazine, March 1, 1968. Writer Shana Alexander reviews the photo taken of an unnamed, unidentified, supposed Vietcong sniper being shot by the national police chief General Loan. The gun is held inches away - the impact of the bullet is powerful and the body falls like a lifeless log - with a flowing pool of blood developing. Many questions are left unanswered. The facts surrounding the identity of the "sniper" are dubious. The reason for the execution are unclear too. Some things are known. Both are humans. Both are looking at each other. They speak the same language. Each breathing and standing on their human -legs - until one bends his finger and extinguishes the life of a fellow "noble human being". Alexander reminds that if man IS noble - his nobility exists only in relation to his fellow man - "his virtue is society". For this reason, the picture is "outrageous" - it "outrages the human association."

SELL YOUR CONSCIENCE TO NO MAN: March 18, 1968. Bishop Pike gave a 'Ethics Talk' at the Carlyn H. Wohl Jewish Community Center in Creve Coeur, Missouri. On the topic of the Vietnam war, Pike said: "I hereby, in public, do counsel and advise every person of draft age here to follow his own conscience in regard to the Vietnam war....If you regard killing in the present war as unjust killing __murder__ then resist the draft. If you do not regard killing as unjust then go to Vietnam and fight....Sell your conscience to no man - not even the President of the United States."

Mysterious Items

New Orleans, March 5, 1968. The search for a missing B-52 has ended. After a five-day air and sea search, the plane and its eight crewmen have not be found - and no sign has been located.

Dr. Norman Tobias, 634 North Grand boulevard, reported to the police that a one-inch piece of 'radium' - valued at $750 - was stolen from his office. Radium is often used in the treatment of skin cancer, and can cause serious skin burns if it is released from its lead encasement.

New Delhi, Feb. 10, 1968. An Indian air force plane carrying 98 passengers and crew have been missing - and believed to have crashed in the Himalayan peaks of Kashmir.

Tel Aviv, April 12, 1968. Brazilian authorities have captured a prominent Nazi war criminal, from the Brazil that has been noted for its neo-Nazi and Germanic activities.

THE introduction of 'hypnotism' into paranormal occurrences is seen again, as explored in the following UFO cases.

UFO SIGHTER 'HYPNOTIZED': Amarillo, Texas, Feb. 26, 1968. A young farmer, Carroll Wayne Watts, told the press of his elaborate tale of contact with small gray men who said they were from Mars, together with photographs, failed a polygraph test, and Watts recalled being put under hypnosis and given the story by a "Panhandle artist". The polygraph examiner said that he never saw anyone as eager to take the polygraph test as Watts was. The physical characteristics of the alleged occupants in this case show striking resemblance to other contact cases - recalling the Barney and Betty Hill and A.V. Boas case - and one wonders if the 'concept' of the Panhandle Artist was not the 'implanted' 'story' - and not the other way around.

POLICEMAN SIGHTS UFO, but bigger story comes out under 'hypnotism': Patrolmen Herbert Schirmer, Ashland, Nebraska, came upon a hovering UFO over highway 63, a half-mile south of Ashland. After noting the unusual characteristics of the object, it ascended and disappeared. That seemed to be the whole story until members of the Colorado UFO project gave him a hypnotic session. Under hypnosis, Schirmer told that a beam of light had been placed on him from the UFO, and a small human form of four or five feet emerged from the craft and approached him. The form was humanoid and had conversation by a form of telepathy. As in the case of Carroll Watts, UFOs had been sighted in neighboring areas, one Dwayne Boeck of Council Bluffs saw a similar UFO on December 15. Mr. Boeck was unfortunately killed (?) in a two-vehicle crash on December 20th.

ADVERTISING RATES FOR D/D

Dear Editor, Publisher, Manager, Dissenter-Disinter is a new magazine that appeals to the individualistic person. The kind of person with an inquiring mind and a real sense of curiosity. As an individual, our readers don't believe in group tyranny - in religious or political pressures which tend to destroy the individual.

A person who reads D/D finds many topics which appeal to him. He wants to know what is behind the war in Vietnam - its military and political structure. He wants to know what our government has done and is doing - how fair it is - how reasonable. He wants to know why censorship is used on such subjects as Unidentified Flying Objects, The Kennedy Assassination, Foods and Drugs, Medicines. The errors and truths in religion. The terrors of totalitarianism and facism. These and many more topics are read by our readers.

Now you can reach this select group of people - and for your information, the below is our recent advertising rates:
