in Vietnam. Two young men, both 18, made this statement as they said "No" this week to the killing. What is most admirable is their choice of locale for the personal drama they are enacting as BARB goes to press Thursday. That lo-cale in front of Walnut Creek City Hall -- has long been considered bastion of reaction in the East Bay. The young men are Jack Peet and Patrick Bryan of Pleasant Hill. Hill

Hill. Both began a fast and silent vigil on Wednesday, August 16th which they vow to continue from sunrise to sunset until Friday, August 18th. On Friday at sunset Jack will burn his draft card "as a public demonstration of his non-cooper-ation with Selective Service "

Both are pleading for others to join them in their "refusal to commit atrocities against their

Patrick's resistance became open when he notified the U.S. Justice Department on May 10, 1967 that he refused to regis-ter with Selective Service. Jack informed his draft board on August 1st that he could no longer cooperate with Selective Service.

Service. "We are here in love for the American and Vietnamese dying in the jungle", reads their statement of purpose, "the women and chil-dren burned to death and the devastation of life and land that to us is not far away in our lives. The time is now for us to raise a cry of humanity."

GEN. HERSHEY SUBPOENAED

August 28, U.S. Attorney Paul Sloan will attempt to quash the subpoena in a hearing this Friday on the grounds that Hershey's testimoney is "ir-relevant" to the issues in O'Connor's case and that the sub-poena constitutes harrassment of

Reese Ehrlich of the Berkeley SDS, Fillmore organizer, Ed Washington, and others down the coast, like Dave Harris from the Palo Alto Resistance attended these meetings. "The letter we are sending across the nation," said Terry Cannon of SNCC, who has been chairing the stop the Draft Com-mittee meetings, "does not and will not define the actions we will take on that week, Different actions will take place all over the country." Steve Hamilton brought the Stop Induction idea to L.A. last week-end and Dave Harris has been spreading the word in the Bay

hip. The crowds reached far beyond The crowds reached far beyond the sound of his voice and ans-wers were relayed to the edge of the crowd mouth-to-ear, Many an idea being enacted today had its origins with Lenny's rap. He was well-known as an ac-tivist and chairman of the Com-mittee for Narcotics Reform, predecessor of LEMAR and SPAR, He debated Attorney General

For this, the judge gave Lemy only three years probation, which meant, a friend of his tells BARB, "that he merely had to cease functioning as Lenny Glaser ... surely not too much to ask of a man for the heinous crime of possessing a roach (in the pocket of borrowed pants)!" During the Free Speech Move-ment, Lenny took on a right-winger. A couple of days later he joined a union sit-in. He just happened to be passing by; they busted him for it. The crime of "probation vio-lation," according to Lenny's friend, "is a felony in California," Lenny was sentenced to a 3 to 10 year stretch. So Lenny has been out of sight for a long time, But now we have to think of him again. Toward the end of this month, he comes up for a parole and to get a parole it is important to have a job guarantee.

the news media. If LSD use does prove to cause defects in chromosomes, what does this mean? One effect might be harm to the user. What kinds of harmful effects? As an example it was reported that a chromosome cattern receivingly found only in it was reported that a chromosome pattern previously found only in certain types of leukemia hasbeen discovered in the cells of two LSD users. Two separate studies, yet unpublished, report NO abnormalities while two studies, widely reported on radio, TV, and in newspapers and maga-zines, report chromosome damage in some LSD users in small sam-les. the pregnancy rate has been noted among LSD users. BIRTH DEFECTS SCIENCE, in its July 28, 1967 issue, reported a study of five rats injected with LSD early in pregnancy. One rat aborted early in pregnancy, two delivered stunt-ed offspring, one had a litter of 7 healthy and 1 underdeveloped young, while only one rat had a normal litter. There were 5 matched controls. All delivered healthy litters of from 11 to 16 offspring; there were no abortions and no still-births. Treatment of 5 additional rats with LSD late in pregnancy had no obvious effect on the off-spring. SCHOOL SEEKS BREAD

Kenneth Rexroth, poet and critic, has parted by "mutual agreement" from his eight-year-old job as columnist for the San Francisco Examiner. He will soon open a new and used book store in San Francisco.

some further reflections on the working class, an article so dis-astrously misunderstood as to convince me not to write on that sub-ject again until I've straightened out my own thinking. Now back to the Peace Torch Marathon, in a somewhat mellower mood than last week. The purpose of this article is not to exacerbate the antagonisms caused by the split in the peace movement but to try to make the break as clean and painless as possible, so that --in the Leninist metaphor -- five separate fingers may be able to come together in one fist to strike at the government on October 21 in Washington. First let's get clear, as best we may, on what happened with the Peace Torch. The idea originally belonged to two Pelo Alto pacifist types, Lars Speyer and Richard Elmore. (It may still blong to them legally; I'm told that Richard actually copyrighted the name so no one can use it without his permission. The Marathon office is not rented in the name of the organization, but in the name of Richard Elmore; since it is his private office, he can legally bar entrance to anyone he pleases, as he has done.) According to the original conception, the Marathon was to be simply for Peace, with no mention of Vietnam. Richard and Lars floated the idea widely in peace movement circles, and learned that the pro-ject had no balls at all without Vietnam. They decided to make it a Vietnam thing and extended an open invitation for everyone to work on it. That invitation brought them, among others. lerry Rubin and Stew on it.

Vienam thing and extended an open invitation for everyone to work on it. That invitation brought them, among others, Jerry Rubin and Stew Albert, widely known independent activists; Carl Frank and Pete Camejo, members of the Socialist Workers Party (Trotskyists); and a girl whom I shall for the sake of delicacy call simply S, a member of the Communist Party. They all worked together happily or miserably, depending on whom you ask. A few weeks later, the invitation also brought them me. I wanted a ride to San Francisco and Carl Frank, who was driving to the Peace Torch office with Rubin and Albert, said he had room for one more. I hitched a ride and, for the sake of politeness, stayed around the office for a few hours. By the time I left I liked what I had seen of the project, and was committed to write a draft of a leaflet for it. A few days later I walked in with my draft and met a very embar-rassed S. She said there had been an "amicable parting of the ways" between the Peace Torch Marathon and the four people I had come to the meeting with. I pressed her for details and couldn't get any; all she would say was that everybody was very friendly but wouldn't be working together. The next morning Jerry Rubin woke me up with a phone call and to the meeting with. I pressed her for details and couldn't get any; all she would say was that everybody was very friendly but wouldn't be working together. The next morning Jerry Rubin woke me up with a phone call and said dramatically, "I've been purged!" I couldn't help thinking then about the methodical campaign Rubin himself had mounted in 1965 to purge Jack Weinberg from the Vietnam Day Committee. But I kept quiet about that and listened to Rubin's story. The previous day Richard and S had told the Four that they were mo longer wanted in the Marathon. (Richard holds the copyright and the office, remember.) They had come over to the office anyway, talked is out, and reached an agreement. Then they held what was, according to Rubin, an amicable and fruitful planning session. The next morning before dawn Richard called Camejo and told him: "S and Lars and I have talked it over again and you're out again." They came back to the office anyway, and found the door locked. I agreed it was purely a "personalities, shall we say, and could easily have rubbed Richard the wrong way. (Richard has a strong personality too.) But why were Frank and Camejo thrown out? Even purge supporters agree that Carl Frank is much too gentle to have gotten anyone mad at him personally. And Camejo was in Mexico the two weeks just before the purge; he was deported from the Marathon only two days after his deportation from Mexico. If it wasn't "personality difference", then what was it? Three theories suggest themselves: 1) The purgees had an irreconcilably different conception of the priving to force their own ideas on the Peace Torch Marathon. Since twy didn't drop out, it was necessary to throw them out. 2) The Communist Party in San Francisco made a decision, in the aftermath of the April 15 Spring Mobilization, never to work forch Marathon, and that meant throwing out the Trots and their friends. Richard and Lars were already personally antagonistic to pacifists against the Trots and was able to kill two Firds with one stone. 3) Bo stone. 3) Both of the above. The purgees will be happy to talk to you about their case. The purgers tend to be reticent, and you will have to pump them hard. But if you work at it, you may be able to come up with the truth.

But if you work at it, you may be able to come up with the truth. If you care. Regardless of what exactly happened, the left-wing types have been thrown out of the Peace Torch Marathon. (The Diggers, by the way, quietly dropped out.) A wave of hard-working Communist Party members has rushed in to make it a success. In organizational structure, you can think of it as a company whose major shareholders are the two Palo Alto pacifists, and whose Board of Directors is the Communist Party. The directors hold their places by doing a lot of hard work, and by feeding rather than challenging the monstrous ego of Richard Elmore, who owns the office. It should be a fruitful and happy alliance, since both parties share the same conception of the Peace Torch Marathon. They want it to be a very solumn, churchy, clean-fingernails affair, the sort of thing that kindly Unitarian ministers can sponsor without getting any static from their congregations. (Don't think the Communists are using the wishy-washy stuff as

MYSTERY OF DRAFTED JAPANESE

The draft, I had always as-sumed, was one of the seven or so plagues visited only upon citizens of this our dearly beloved nation.

The immediate cause of my rude awakening was a story sent to the BARB by Greg Teta in behalf of a Japanese friend named Isao Yoshioka.

According to Teta, the 22 year old Japanese came to this coun-try 8 months ago to study on the Berkeley campus. He took only two courses his first quarter, intending to enroll in a full-time program this fall. He waited too long, as it ap-pears that he will be inducted into the United States Army on August 23 the United States Army on August 23. I say "appears", because the only information at my disposal if Teta's admittedly incomplete account. Isao himself cound not be found. But two facts are non-theless clear: one, that Isao firmly believes that he has been drafted, and, two, that there's a very good chance he's right. According to the Berkeley Draft Information Committee, a "male alien" must register for the draft within six months. Unless he is a full-time student at an accredited institution. The alien who is NOT a student is then classified 4-C, and eligible for the draft after one year's residence. Since Isao has only been here

Since Isao has only been here for 8 months, it is possible that he has been drafted illegally, Or, it may be that he failed to regisfor it may be that he failed to regis-ter withing the six-month period, was ruled delinquent, and con-sequently made eligible for im-mediate induction. It may even be that Isao has mistaken a notice to appear for a pre-induction physical for the induction notice itself -- a fre-quent error, according to the Dratt Inform ation Committee, even among the natives. But even were this the case, it does not minimize the injustice

But even were this the case, it does not minimize the injustice of subjecting a man officially de-scribed as an "alien" to the rigors of military servitude. (What would happen, I wonder, if an American were suddenly drafted into the Red Armyra were suddenly drafted into the Red Army?) Isao is in many ways the per-fect victim. He knows few people, none of them in power. He has no voice of his own. He is unfamiliar with his legal rights and the means of securing them. He does not, in fact, even speak English well. As a recult, he has decided --no doubt in response to a lack of information and an "alien's" on motivation and an "alten's" natural fear of causing trouble on foreign soil -- to comply with the government's demands.

To Isao it must surely seem that he has finally met the Ugly American in his native habitat.

BREWS OVER

Here we were 36 hours from Chicago in Reno -- signs every-where announcing it as the fun center of America

I was driving through with Mi-chael Whitt and we both looked forward to a pleasant, restive few hours in Reno.

I decided to buy a stock of 10¢ chips and win my fortune on the roulette tables. Michael was 20 and the casino asked him to Seeing my shocked expression, the officer suggested I wait an hour, then go to the station. When I arrived at the station, I was told that the captain in charge was the only person who could authorize my seeing Michael. I decided to wait and Captain Paulson was cal-led. led.

The entire episode amazed me, and I turned to leave. As I neared the police station door, I heard the captain's voice asking who I was. I was told the attorney could wait; that I had to take a bath first. I told the police my clothes were a little dirty from working on my car, but that I was otherwise clean, having bathed just prior to leaving Chicago. Again I asked to leaving Chicago. Again I asked to be allowed to call an attorney. This time, in lieu of an answer, some overalls were tossed at me, with instruction to change. Having been denied the right of an attorney about six times, I decided to change. In the process to Berkeley where it began two years ago. The magic number seems to be 130. For example, in Santa Bar-bara on August 9th, 130 persons participated in the weekly vigit for peace in Vietnam, and signed a letter urging President John-son "to bring the Vietnam war to an immediate and peaceful end." There are now over 180 such vigits, including several in Europe and Asia and one on the Berkeley City Hall steps. Elsewhere, about 130 people lis-tened to two speakers and three preachers, according to our cor-respondent in Napa. It was the first peace rally ever held there. One preacher was Reverend Lyle Grosjean, known in Berkeley for his peace actions. "The City Council didn't let us meet in the public park and the Board of Education locked the high school auditorium son us," writes Bram Glaiser. "So we held the rally on the auditorium steps," he continues, "and we might take the Board of Education to court over the illegal lockout." According to Glaiser, "The local newspaper feels this group is sub-versive; therefore, any coverage-even paid ads -- is barred from their third-rate rag." In the near future, the Napa group plans a picket line against the local Rotary Club's pro-war spacker and a debate between hawks and doves. "Operation Bedcheck" was a set of surprise night time raids on the homes of women receiving pub-lic financial aid for the support of their children. Benny Parish, a social worker, refused to take part in it because, he thought, it was unconstitutional. He was fired.

That was early in 1963. After a long court fight led by Berkeley attorney Al Bendich, the State Supreme Court in March up-held Parish's refusal to make an unwarranted search of welfare cli-ents' homes. The court ordered Alameda County to pay him this $23,000 of back pay, and over $2,000 in court costs. DEBONIS DOES HIS THING

People who don't like the "Re-cal Reagan" petitions are getting a little uptight, and Berkeley City Councilmen are no exceptions. Mary Burch, treasurer for the Recall Reagan Campaign, told BARB this story: "Jacqueline Blakemore, a sec-retary for the Campaign was sitt-

On another front, a combina-tion Love-In and Peace-In is in the works for San Luis Obispo. The County Viet Nam Summer Committee there is organizing it for September 9 at Cuesta Park. Dr. Isadore Ziferstein of Los Angeles will speak on "Psycho-logical Habituation to War." The current hangup, according to or-ganizers, is that they "need addi-tional speakers and rock groups willing to do a benefit for some-thing of this sort." Then, if you are intelligent, fortunate, and have money enough, you can do four more years in a university Then you can graduate and proudly be im-prisoned in offices, factories, and institutions throughout the world until, at long last, you are sixty-five. Then you are free to take off more than two weeks in a row." ""Don't ask stupid questions" """ "I'm busy right now." Amen, brother.

THIS MAY BE In a free form, the child's natural curiosity could flow. Their growth in certain subjects which interest them would not be stunted by the compulsion to study the same subjects with the same teacher at the same time in the same room with students of the same age.

(IMAGE FLASH ON A SCREEN WITH THE NAME OF THE IMAGE PRINTED UNDER IT. PRESSING KEYS TO LIGHT UP LETTERS UNDER THE PRINTED WORDS)

UNDER THE PRINTED WORDS) There are teaching machines that could start to teach two-year olds to read, write, and type. Machines like this could be made available to every child. If a child wanted to know about the t.v., you could take or send him to an automated t.v. factory, where there would be classes for various levels of instruction. A five-year old could assemble his own t.v. by inserting proper numbered parts in their matching holes. Just like blocks. A ten-year old could solder some parts on the chassis of the t.v. or hand-operate a machine that is now automated. A twelve-year old could alternate various parts to get different effects. A fourteen year old could design different sets around the same principles. A sixteen-year old could start feeling God. When doctors come to their house, they could inform the children of medical realities. When plumbers come to the house, the kids could go on a plumbing trip. Along with the decentralized teaching of various subjects in auto-mated factories and from personal contact, there could be the Uni-versity where all the different elements of the community could be represented. This would offer all subjects to all ages.

In the Haight-Ashbury community, none of these ideas were car-ried out in the past year. The ideas are still a little too far out to exist under the existing conditions. Most of the education of children came from personal contact with people living in communes. The only developments in the Haight-Ashbury besides personal contact were two free nursery homes and the Huckleberry House for kids under eighteen who split from their parents.

GET OUT OF THE 1919 FAMILY FORM -

The 1919 007 betty crocker miss clairol family institution is a death form. Marriage, responsibility for children, alimony are death, Let's do away with the meaningless, unnecessary bullshit of ''I want my kids to have more than I had'', ''My kids will starve'', 'I' don't have time to listen to your abstract ideas, I have to support my family.''

THIS MAY BE

The basic unit of the culture could be the commune instead of a house with one man and one woman in it. The commune would not be owned hy one person or one group but would be open to all people at all times, to do whatever they wished to do in it. There would be no marriage contracts, but people could still have huge ceremonies when they met someone they dug. And if someone dug a different person every day, he could have a different ceremony every day.

All children, from the moment they were born, would be the re-sponsibility of everyone, not only of the blood mother and father

In the Haight-Ashbury during the last year, there was none of the shut-in paranoid one-man-and-woman-and-children family structure. Most people lived in communes because they were open and fun, People taught other people what they knew, whether it was about guitars, printing presses, dope, confronting slumlords, cooking, ce, raising children, painting, sex, etc. People be-the hassles of living with people, and had their minds continuously and intimately involved with ten or lown fifteen p fifteen people. Children were confronted with multiple character images rather than just their mother's and father's. For most people, it was more stimulating, more open, more knowledge-giving, more self-expres-sive than any other family form they had lived in.

GET OUT OF THE 1750 ECONOMIC FORM

The 1750 industrial revolution factory institution we live in is a death form. Really straight people, let's put it down. Let's burn all the dollars under pots and pop popcorn together. Let's put the budget books in the archives for future history freaks who wish to groove on the past. Let money, credit, capital, debts, and banking flow away. For really straight people these ideas are anacronisms.

Production of goods can be done almost totally by machines. Free.

Production of goods can be done finite county by intermediate term dig this scene: fifteen people getting stoned and doing their thing in some room in a commune, someone decides to turn on the t,v, and by some weird coincidence he is staring at channel 137, some cat in a clown outfit is in the middle of a tiff about how ten people are needed to deliver bread to a few of the free stores, so one cat says, "Let's go down there and goof" and they split./cut There would be an unlimited supply of some goods. These could be distributed to individuals. There would be a limited supply of others, For example, jet planes. These could be distributed equally to areas instead of to individuals. There would be, say, ten jet passenger planes per county. The only restriction on the use of the plane would be that it had to be broadcast on channel 168 at least a half hour before it was taken. If someone tries to take the plane who doesn't know how to fly it, we wish him lots of luck.

Services can be done free.

People performing these services wouldn't have to hurry, kill time, or be efficient. If you wanted your car fixed, you could notify channel 438 and then start getting the goodies necessary for the party in honor of the car mechanic when he comes over to fix the car.

Division of labor (doing)

So many people have to be farmers ... so many people have to be scientists ... so many people have to be mechanics ... so many people have to be carpenters ... etc. If all things were free and people were free to do what they chose, people would willingly and happily learn to do the things that necessarily had to be done, in order for those conditions to continue to exist.

Value - this is the hang-up, brother mutants. People groove on making things, giving them away, and fixing them up. It gives people identity. You are what you do. The problem is that there is only a limited supply of resources and only a limit-ed amount of things can be made. Who is going to decide what to do with the limited resources that exist? In the United States today, the Federal Government makes the decision of what will be done with the resources. They do this by appropriating 60% of the budget to the industrial-military complex. The rationale goes that if we don't have the strongest military force, we will be conquered by those who do, the commie bastards, whoever they are. Since 1945, no one could conquer the United States and its allies unless the whole fucking solar system was thrown out of balance.

the Haight-Ashbury during the last year, most aspects of a economic form were accomplished.

PRODUCTION - There are no production plants in the Haight-Ashbury, so there were few things produced from raw resources into finished objects. The few exceptions have been the food grown and brought into the city from free farms, fish brought in from fishing boats, and guitars, jewelry, etc., made out of rocks, shells, and wood

DISTRIBUTION - Almost every kind of article has been distributed free in the Haight-Ashbury - cars, clothes, paper clips, children, television sets, record players, ice-cream pops, bananas, LSD, cardboard boxes, ecstacy, cameras, leather, eyo control pills, fish'n chips, bubble gum, belly b cas, rosaries, cookie makers, parking tickets, i sunshine, dynamite.

SERVICES - every service has been performed SERVICES - every service has been perform free clothes, free shelter, free stores, free de free doctors, free painters, free sculptors, fr house-painters, free clothesmakers, free carper ics, free printers, free chemists, free buses free sandalmakers, free glassblowers, free d guitar makers. Few office jobs have been do were free, there would be little need of office jobs

It is beyond doubt that people will produce, vice things free. The problem under the present the resources and getting the space to use The people who run the Avalon and Fillmore of ing to give free dances all of the time, but they of paying rent for the space. Most of the musi-dance calls are willing to play for free, but the for their equipment and to pay rent for living space

(If we may digress for a minute-the idea of someone gets money for a piece of space on cause he says he owns it. well, who own the flying saucer people landed and took out said that it said right there that he own everyone on it had to pay him rent, would yu it and the next time the landlord comes rent, tell him not to worry, you already p to the saucer people.)

The same willingness to always do free app penters, and all the other people mentioned abo point the same space and resources bag. In fac-ing the space and resources bag. And now we have of doing free and doing money. There are those who believe free and who do no are still forced to be dependent on other them space and resources. There are those we believe free and who do free once a week or ond are the liberals and shuck-people who think free, but who never do free. The free spirit will grow when people do m dances, free papers, etc. In cities, towns, high-throughout the United States and the Universe.

GET OUT OF THE 1854 POLITICAL FORM -

The 1854 donkey elephant political institut After 113 years of success, the people in t they're at. Straight people, we don't like to ha security, but let's dig the cliche "it's time blow our brains and do more than just cha change from a political system to a free form.

A Pittance for the Pitschel Players

Richard A. Ogar

"on August 1, 1966," reads the brochure, "agroup of college drop-outs hotly pursued by a crowd of well-meaning parents pounded on the door of St. John the Evange-list Church, demanding sanc-tuary."

They got it, but unfortunately sanctuary has come far too close to seclusion for The Pitscheb Players, whose new show, "The W.C. Fields Menorial Orphanage,"

Players, whose new show, "The W.C. Fields Memorial Orphanage," is playing at St. John's (120 Ju-lian) every Friday and Saturday night at 9. The degree of their unfortunate (and unintended) obscurity is well marked by the fact that I, a sup-posedly well-informed reviewer, was three weeks late for the show's opening night. And even then, I had no idea of what to expect once I got there. For those of who share my (former) ignorance, what's hap-pening at St. John's, despite the chronic absence of reviewers, is great improvisational comedy, performed by a young, intelligent, informed and lively cast of nine (Hal Celb, AlexHing, Donna James, Lincoln Pain, Caty Powell, Chris Pray, John Pray, Ken Thorland and Paul Willson; to complete the billing, the group's spiritual and temporal advisors are Al Lott and Ann Raim, respectively). The obvious comparison, I sup-pose, is with The Committee, San Francisco's "established" impro-visational theatre, but Fd prefer not to make it since the two groups, The Committee, whether it likes it or not, generally plays to an older, more "sophisticated" (read "middle-class liberal") audience, and much of its work draws on the workaday world of the urban adult; incursions on the hip scene are generally made from outside. The Pitschel Players, on the other hand, play the other side of the generation gap. When they expose the pufferies of the Haight-Asbury scene, they do so from the inside.

inside, And since the most grotesque manifestations of the Establish-ment--Vietnam and The Bomb--impinge most directly on the young, they work this turf with equal facility. It is, perhaps more so than The Committee, a purely San Errencience theatre Franciscan theatre. The show is in the traditional two parts: the first, a number of "developed" sketches, and the on suggestions from the audience. Improvisational theatre is by na-ture a game of percentages (he's best who falls on his face least) and with The Pitschel Players the odds are very very road indeed.

best who falls on his face least) and with The Pitschel Players the self-righteousness, and, finally, to little protest. Happily, the whole Saw, only one failed to come off. And surprisingly enough, the second half of the show was even better, despite the total failure of one piece, and the partial col-lapse of another. While most of their ribbing is fairly good-natured, The Pitschel Players can nonetheless put an un-comfortably rough (but necessary) edge on their material when deal-besketch, for example, presented the audience with the spectre of Smoky the Bear lecturing Viet-namese peasants on the proper means for extinguishing villages is funny, the reality behind it is not, and it is precisely this ten-sion between laughter and despai-tat lies at the heart of good remembered, alien both to comedy and "good taste." I cannot leave The Pitschel Play-ers without mentioning singer-composer Jon Fromer, who opens each half of the show with voice and 12-string. Aside from the magnificent intensity of his voice, the most remarkable thing about Fromer is that, for me at least, he has revivified the protest song. There was a time when I, like veryone else, was caught up in the Great Protest Craze, but by the time "Blowin" in the Wind" had made the Top 10 and Peter, Paul and Mary were turning out Dylan (by now re-christened Bobby) faster than Dylan himself, Fd had it, and I couldn't have been more pleased when Dylan announced that HE'D had it to (and had apparently had it al along). Ochs and Paxton I never cared a good goddam about. I couldn't take another college boy turned social conscience. There was tust a good goddam about. I couldn't take another college boy turned social conscience. There was just too much self-conscious liberalism about the "movement," too much self-righteousness, and, finally, too little protest. Happily, the whole thing blew up with "The Eve of Destruction," Barry Mcguire's pop melange of sophomoric fakery. But back to Fromer. * Some IMPORTS EXCLUDED by Ernie Barry Inspired by Greek actress Irene Papas' call for a cultural and tourism boycott against the "Fourth Reich" in Greece, I recently wrote a letter of protest to the head of the Greek Consulate in San Francisco.

Francisco. Irene, and Melina Mercouri too, had specifically requested that actors, writers, and painters refrain from dealings with the present illegal military junta running Greece until it allows a return to the democratic constitutional government it kicked-out on April 21, 1967. My letter follows: "Consul Greek Consulate General 2441 Gough Street San Francisco, California 94123 Dear Sir.

Dear Sir:

Dear Sir: This is to inform you that I am canceling my plans to visit Greece this fall. I am appalled at the brutal handling of Greek society and culture by the military clique which has seized your government. I cancel my visit so as not to support its tyranny with my presence and my tourist revenue. I will not visit Greece until there has been a return to constitutional

I cancel my visit so as not to support its tyranny with my presence and my tourist revenue.
 I will not visit Greece until there has been a return to constitutional democracy. Please advise your government of my letter."
 E. Stamatiou, Greek Consul in San Francisco, responded with the following condescending put-down:
 "This is to acknowledge your letter dated July 24, 1967.
 In spite of the fact that the political situation in Greece is an internal problem that concerns only the Greeks, we would like to inform you, just for the case you really planned to visit Greece, that the present Government in Greece is not a tyranny, as you label it. They have, on many occasions, stated that they are a government of transitory character, who intend to have Greece return to normal parliamentary regime, as soon as they restore healthy political life.
 Since you appear to be misinformed on the situation, we send you, under separate cover, "The Journal of Commerce' issue of July 10, 1967 for you to see what is really going on in Greece."
 What is "really going on" according to the Journal's July 10 twenty-two page "Survey of Progress in Greece" is that Greece has become "one of the most interesting developing countries for investment and enterprise." The Journal (a New York daily business newspaper read mostly by fat-assed businessmen) in more than 60,000 words of coverage repeats many times the theme that Greece is wonderful because its government is flipping out all over itself to help the foreign businessmens, including 30 members of Parliament are known to be subjected to torture, exposure, overcrowding, disease, and summary executions. They include political sise thande. According to the August 8 issue of the square Jehovah's Witnesses' magazine Awakel, three-fourths of the labor unions have been cultawed and "Anyone criticizing the government is subject to court-martial." Since Greece is a country of 8 million people with a land area s in Greece.

Someone make a note of this: When the Underground emerges in 1969 or 1970 and becomes the dominant political force in this country (which it is headed toward) let's be sure to expel from this country Stamatiou

Gentlemen: Let's eliminate heroin. Let's put the heat on the U.S. Government to declare the culti-vation of the white opium poppy universally unlawful, anywhere in the "free world". U-2 spyplanes can be used to detect poppy fields and the de-foliating chemicals used in Viet-nam can make sure that no more poppies are grown. No poppy means no opium, no opium means no morphine base, no morphine base means no heroin. Its that simple. Let's do it now. The revolutionaries talk about the unbearable conditions of poverty, ghettos, no jobs, collapsing family structures, brutal police forces, etc. They concentrate on all the unbearable conditions outside to each individual. And the politicians from millenia have been saying, "Don't worry, folks, things will be better in the future. Heaven, Paradise, and Utopia are just around the program before your eyes. We are trying, trying, the world can't be free, you know". And de-scriptions, explanations, and promises are sometimes well intended and true, but they grossly miss the point.

You can stick a gun in his hands, and fulfill the IMAGE of a man. You can stick a girl in his arms, and fulfill the IMAGE of a lover. You can stick money in his pockets, and fulfill the IMAGE of success. You can stick a suit on his back, and fulfill the IMAGE of dignity. You can stick a t.v. before his eyes, and fulfill the IMAGE of being informed.

of not. Each individual has to have no needs, no necessities, in order to be free. This is impossible, since he is a living organism. So he has to travel second best. He has to know that he can fulfill his ne-cessary needs of food, clothing, shelter, and warmth. When he can fulfill all those needs alone, he can leave any situation and the iden-tity that goes with the situation, knowing that he hasn't lost anything, that he will survive, and that he is still free. The world is filled with horrors because people identify with gripping images which they think they need to become. They viciously struggle for objects and situations that will make the image become reality. They rationalize it and set up rules to make leaders who have power. Power is the ability to execute or throw someone in jail for not obeying established leader authorities. DEATH. It may be that people could INFLUENCE people. INFLUENCE. If you can get away with it costing you thirty bucks a minute, in black and white, that's screen time, you're doing real good, Color is going to be twice that. That's the finished film, which includes film stock, processing, a ratio of about five to one (that means you expose five feet of film in the camera to every foot of film that fin-ally gets shown) a sound transfer, a work print, and finally an answer ally print.

An answer print is the first print, completed "married" version, sound and picture. It's called an answer print, Iassume, because it answers the question, the ques-tion that's been ebbing your strength a long, long time, "what the fuck is this film like?"

These figures only apply if your film is about ten minutes long, or longer. And they are very rough figures.
