SF STATE MASS ARRESTS

(as phoned in by Art Gottlieb)

Thursday 3:30 pm - I saw the pigs turn a peaceful rally into a massacre earlier this afternoon.

I saw them trap 500 or more people against the speakers stand.

I saw clubs rise, fall and rise to strike again.

A guy next to me is knocked down.

A girl gets smacked in the back with a club.

Inside the trap, I see pigs beating women in the pits of their stomachs.

The clubs are flailing and one whacks me in the ribs.

A three-deep wall of pigs surrounds the victims.

Shouts of "Medic! Medic!" come from the crowd.

A medical aide gets pushed back by three pigs.

"Out, out, out, nobody gets through this line," yells a lieutenant.

I see the wooden speaker-stand falling as people try to escape.

A hole is made. But the pigs rush into it. They flail with their clubs, jabbing and felling the helpless crowd.

I can see a Chicano youth holding a rag to his bleeding forehead. A bearded man crumples. I hear the crack of a club smashing the side of his head.

"Get that asshole," yells a pig. "This club is just itching for your ass . . . Move out punk."

More pleas of Medic, Medic, come from the trap. But a five deep wall of pigs now bars the way.

The massacre began about 12:30. A half hour before about 400 people ga-

Once again we see the power of guerrilla action.

"More than 700 students were holding out in a dozen (Tokyo U) buildings when 8500 riot police moved into the campus" - AP.

For two days, these students held off the combined efforts of helicopters dumping liquid teargas, police armed and dressed like medieval Knights of old replete with ladders to scale the castle walls.

The "final attack" brought 6000 cops into the "last stronghold" of the students, the main auditorium building. There, in full view of American TV, the students held out to the last, with umbrellas, rocks, and fire-bombs.

And, once again, the irony of events is played out on page 5 of the SF Chronicle's 'Sunday Punch' section, Jan 19. There, in full view of its readers, is a putdown cartoon illustrating that stupid article by UC's John R. Searle for his "Scenario for Student Revolts."

That cartoon is EXACTLY what just took place in Japan - scaling ladders, clouds of teargas, flags flying - and even the clock (which kept telling the time amidst all the flying debris and attacks in Tokyo). To former FSmer, Prof. Searle, however, student unrest is a joke.

Speaking of guerrilla action, whatever became of out "biggest Marine amphibious assault since Korea"? Answer: nothing. One report had it we "killed" 10 "VC's" in "six days of fighting." (During WW II, SIX THOUSAND men died in THREE DAYS at Tarawa - 2,000 US Marines, and 4,000 Japanese).

This "biggest amphibious assault since Korea" sounds like another "Scenario" by Prof Searle.

There IS a new scenario, however, in Vietnam. Never has there been so much activity to get our ass out of that country. "Startling Speed in Paris Talk" is the way the SF Examiner headlines an AP story.

"US to Begin Viet Withdrawal"

is another.

Really? Honestly? Is it for real? What happened? Why?

One question at a time, please - take the last one. We are getting out of Vietnam so we can go into Europe (not repeat not the Mid East). Proof? China.

China? What the hell!

Okay - "Communist China yesterday proposed a meeting with the Nixon administration on Feb 20, and for the first time publicly called on the US to sign jointly an agreement on the five principles of peaceful coexistence" reports the SF Chronicle.

Sgt Pepper's immediate reaction then (about two months ago) was, "Aha - Russia is moving into Europe, so, China is moving just the opposite - as Russia moves OUT of coexistence, China moves in."

Sgt Pepper was not alone in this thought. Ambassador Murphy, a Nixon retread, "dismissed" this Chinese statement as "a tactical one."

Of course!

However, there are more scenarios on heaven and earth than are dreamed of by our intellectuals. Here are two more....

Proof that the 'Pueblo' was a planned sitting duck to start another war, and, proof that Pres Nixon deliberately held up the Paris peace talks until he was in office came to light in the SF Chronicle of Jan 21, 1969.

On the 'Pueblo', the paper reports Com Lloyd Busher was given an "awesome message" before he left Pearl Harbor. He was quoted from his testimony before a Navy Court of Inquiry that:

"A captain whose name I don't recall told me the Navy and Air Force had plans to react (if we were attacked) through the Joint Chief of Staff...they could only be fulfilled in time of general war. In any case, assistance was not likely to be in time to save the ship."

"I told no one on the ship about this conversation. I expected no problems or worry at all."

Translation: somebody repeat somebody tried to force Pres Johnson's hand and ENLARGE the war in Vietnam by having "our boys" sacrificed on a ship that was NOT FLYING THE AMERICAN FLAG (Busher's earlier remarks).

In the Top Secret section of the SF Chronicle (same issue), the following excerpts from the "In Fashion" page (from the Washington Post):

Last year, Pete Velasco, Bay Area Co-ordinator for the Agricultural Labor Support Committee, predicted that 1969 would be the year of international work and support for the farmworkers on strike in California.

Check out the news; so far it's proved him correct.

Saturday, January 18th, the Sweden Transport Workers Federation, in cooperation with the In-Gen Claire Chenault of Flying Tiger Fame, may be destined to be the party-giver of the Nixon administration...

"The St Louis Post-Dispatch" reported recently that she "secret" contacts with the South Vietnamese in the candidate's (Nixon) behalf just before the election. She reportedly encouraged Saigon to "delay" in joining the Paris peace talks in hopes of getting a better deal if the Republicans won the White House.. whether she is, or has been, linked with the CIA, is a question she answers with a stoney-faced 'no comment'."

Okay - this is not the first time a sexy female has been used by the establishment to further our foreign policy in the Far East.

Pres Johnson sent Jackie Kennedy to Cambodia on a "secret mission" to woo the Prince. This was FIRST brought to light by Sgt Pepper at the time she was there (denied, of course, by our lying State Dept).

And so it goes. All we parents are supposed to do is supply our sons and daughters to be slaughtered overseas, or, be sent abroad as secret agents for the establishment. Parents of America, unite - you have nothing to lose but your sons (while your daughters suffer a fate worse than death).

international Transport Workers Federation, instructed the 5,000 of its members who are longshoremen to refuse to unload California grapes in Swedish coastal ports.

The test will come this weekend, when two U.S. freighters, the ELCONAGUA VALLEY and the SAN JOAQUIN VALLEY, arrive in the Swedish port of Haelsingborg loaded with California grapes.

When BARB contacted Pete Velasco late Wednesday night, he was optimistic, in that he felt that the longshoremen would not back down from their refusal to handle the scab grapes.

Pete pointed out that earlier this month longshoremen in Britain had refused to unload cargoes of Cal grapes on American freighters. He stated that if the European longshoremen continue their embargo, the only way to reach those markets for the Cal grape owners will be an airlift . . . and they will have to hassle with the same International Transport Workers Federation.

Concerning the local scene in the grape boycott, the United Farmworkers are sweeping the Bay Area to find out which stores are continuing to deal in scab grapes, and are also building their consumer support through community leafletting and picketing projects.

Also, the monthly "Caravan to Delano" of food, supplies, and encouragement to the striking families will make the trip over and back this Saturday, the 25th.

A seminar for state-wide organizers of the Boycott will take place the same day at 11 a.m. in Delano, which all supporters of the strike are invited to attend. Because of the meeting, departure time from both points in the Bay Area have been moved up 3 hours.

United Farmworkers in Oakland announced Wednesday that the caravan will leave Saturday at 5 a.m. from the San Francisco Labor Temple at 2940 16th St., and from their headquarters at 568 47th St. in Oakland at 4 a.m.

Pete Velasco, the Bay Area Co-ordinator, urged all people sympathetic to the grape strike to make it to Delano to meet the families of those on strike. He said that for info on Caravan transportation and donations, or boycott news, call United Farmworkers at 655-3256 in Oakland, or their S.F. office at 621-8821.

Pete added this note for readers: "Don't buy grapes. Talk to your grocers; tell them not to buy grapes until the owners negotiate with the working people. Remember the farmworkers who harvest your food, and boycott grapes!"

STRIKE ON! SURVIVAL THE ISSUE

by Phineas Israeli

"Our survival is non-negotiable," Ysidro Macias, a Third World Liberation Front spokesman, declared flatly on Wednesday.

The scene is Bancroft and Telly, not Holloway and Nineteenth; the campus is called Cal and not State, and the uniformed pigs are not yet visible.

But the struggle is the same. The Third World students at UC Berkeley have united beneath the banner of a Liberation Front. On Wednesday they struck the UC campus. They are demanding self-determination over their educational destinies.

The first day of the strike was more successful than had been expected, according to Charles Jackson, a TWLF spokesman and representative of the Afro-American Students Union. The blacks are joined in the TWLF by Chicanos belonging to the Mexican-American Student Confederation and by Asian Americans belonging to the Asian American Political Alliance on campus.

At a late morning press conference Jackson denounced Chancellor Roger Heyns as "an out and out liar, and I defy him to disprove it."

The black student leader criticized the dealings the Administration had had with the AASU for the last nine months about the black student-proposed Black Studies Program.

"Heyns has treated us like a game for these nine months," Jackson said. But he continued, "We are totally committed to what we are doing."

Pricking the balloon-like myth of great liberal progress in the ghettos, Jackson said that programs had been begun in the Bay Area to have professional athletes set up basketball teams for the ghetto youth.

"We do not need basketballs," Jackson said, with anger and irony. "We need jobs, we need food."

The TWLF's goal during the initial stage of the strike is to give political education to the white students on campus as to the Third World demands and situation. Picket lines are being manned from 8AM to 4PM by white students who are supporting the strike as well as by Third Worlders.

Jackson told the piglet press that there had already been two incidents where scabs had sought to bust through the picket lines and hurt the picketers. Jackson said the TWLF wanted no violence on the picket lines.

He charged, "There are certain students on this campus trying to disrupt our picket lines. If they are attacked they (the pickets) will defend themselves with all force necessary."

At a mass meeting on Tuesday night, white students formed a Strike Support Committee, similar to the White Student Strike Committee at SF State.

Coupled with the picketing, many striking students, including whites, went to classes that were in session to discard the day's agenda and discuss the issues involved in the strike.

The majority of Berkeley's students slipped past the picket lines on Wednesday. Nobody knows how many of these scabs will actively respond to the education being offered them by the TWLF strike.

It's difficult to say how many UC students came to Berkeley because Max Rafferty called it a cross between a shooting gallery, a hippie pad and a brothel. But one can easily affirm that among the eternal trinity of Dope, Sex and Treason, the average Berkeley student is thrilled to settle for just dope and sex.

The students at Cal are basically a slave community, and in a funky sort of way they realize it. They are here to learn to build the President's Pentagons. But each has his own special soma, and is

FIRST NIGHT COINCIDENCE? WHEELER (REICHSTAG) FIRE?

HEYNS ON THE FIRING LINE

STRIKERS DEMAND THOROUGH PROBE OF WHEELER FIRE

Berkeley Reichstag?
Or Tet Offensive?
How did the huge fire that completely gutted Wheeler Auditorium get started?

Rumors circulated swiftly on the UC campus late Wednesday night as the last wisps of smoke drifted out of the completely destroyed lecture hall, the largest on the campus. A young man told the BARB that "six firebombs started it." He said he was one of the first people to arrive at the scene. A young girl standing nearby corroborated his account.

Among those at the scene of the $300,000 blaze, watching with vested interest were Chancellor Roger Heyns, and his deputy, Earl Chert.

AFT Local 1570 called the fire

REGENT REAGAN EGGED ON

by G.K.

While students in Czechoslovakia pounded on a Russian Army staff car (as another student died from self-immolation), students in Berkeley splattered eggs on Gov Reagan's staff car.

In a curious demonstration last Friday by over 500 students outside University Hall, nothing happened except the omelette and two broken windows.

"Surrender, Reagan - we got you surrounded!" one student shouted at the face-dotted facade of the building in which the Regents of the University of California were meeting (inside an enlarged phone booth).

But Reagan didn't give up, and the students let him get away from what could have been a nice trap; i.e., his long black Lincoln sedan was parked down in the parking-well of the building.

Guarding the ramp was one lone black University cop. Ringing the well were hundreds of students. As this one cop left the ramp, some of the students moved in and placed the wooden barricade across the ramp.

Minutes before, the Governor - face pink with makeup - looked out the door at the students. The students immediately shouted "Fuck Reagan" and gave him the finger.

Reagan, indicated with HIS finger to someone out of sight (Regent Mrs. Hearst?) what he was getting from the students. He then bowed deeply and left for the enlarged phone booth again.

The barricade apparently gave pause to the Governor's departure because many hurried conferences were held at various doors and down in the parking-well.

Finally, three University cops came back, one with a drawn-billy-club. This display drew mock shouts of fear then laughter. Ten minutes later, Reagan - appearing at the door again then disappearing then showing up again - pointed to much indecision at the Regent's level.

Even Mrs. Hearst put in a brief appearance (a striking woman with slate-gray hair dressed in a rose suit).

Eventually, the warehouse doors of University Hall were opened and officials proceeded to back the Governor's car INSIDE the warehouse!

This brought more laughter from the students.

However, apparently at Gov Reagan's insistence, the car was moved outside again and he got in while in full view of the students above.

He just made it before the first egg hit. In a rapid drive up the ramp, the car sped through the students who were pushed back by the three cops, one saying, "Okay, kids - you've had your fun."

But we almost had our "fun" tragic and counter to the aims of the strike, in a statement issued Thursday morning.

"We demand an investigation if it is arson," the AFT statement said. "The motivation behind this is to discredit the strike."

The Third World Liberation Front has made a similar statement.

On Monday evening, there was a small fire in Wheeler, apparently started by pouring an inflammable liquid over some seats and a portion of carpet and wall. Damage from the Monday fire was reported as "slight."

AFT Local 1570 called the fire tragic and counter to the aims of the strike, in a statement issued Thursday morning.

"We demand an investigation if it is arson," the AFT statement said. "The motivation behind this is to discredit the strike."

The Third World Liberation Front has made a similar statement.

There was no minimizing the damage as a result of the Wednesday fire however. A BARB reporter who entered the building with the first wave of newsmen said the entire stage and all four walls were completely burned out, as were the back doors.

"There wasn't an unburned seat in the place," our man reported. "Plaster and wood kept falling from the ceiling, and the floor was a mess. The light fixtures had all fallen or shorted out. The only unscathed part seemed to be the very center of the ceiling."

Berkeley Fire Chief G. Rodney estimated the damage at around $300,000. He said that there had been some damage on the upper floors of Wheeler also.

One campus source reported that there had been six false alarms in Berkeley earlier on Wednesday, and that the Fire Department had been slow in responding to the alarm for Wheeler. Chief Rodney said that when he arrived on the scene, Wheeler Auditorium was completely engulfed in flames.

The crowd watching the flames lick out of the doors of Wheeler was in a carnival mood. They seemed happy that at last something big had occurred. "Wheeler's just gone up in flames. Isn't it great?" remarked a chick at the edge of the campus.

Chief Rodney admitted to reporters there was a possibility of arson as his men moved in to clean up the mess in the charred interior of Wheeler.

It was the third attempt to ignite a Berkeley campus building this week. In addition to the Monday night attempt on Wheeler, a firebomb was thrown into the Placement Center late Sunday night or early Monday morning.

Why no extra precautions were taken to protect Wheeler remains a mystery.

As a BARB reporter approached the burning building around 10pm Wednesday night, he saw a janitor leaving, a ring of keys in his hand. BARB asked if he had reported the fire.

"No," the janitor said. "I just helped open the auditorium doors. I was the nearest person with keys," he said, hurrying away.

"I think it is all a right-wing attempt to discredit the movement," theorized Paul Glusman, a well known radical activist. "They know we always hold our important meetings in Wheeler." He was laughing while he said it. But

START OF STRIKE TWISTER FOR FIRM OF HEYNS & CHEIT

"Minorities of the world, unite - you have nothing to lose but your chains."

Karl Marx may be turning over in his grave, but it's nothing compared to the tossing and turning of Chancellor Roger Heyns and Vice Chancellor Earl F. Cheit at UC Berkeley.

What is giving them bad dreams is this signature on a leaflet: "COMMITTEE OF CADRES, Asian American Political Alliance", for it heralds the historical first of ALL minorities united in closing down the UC campus until their thing is done.

"We want to write history," Manuel Delgado, of the Third World Liberation Front declared. "Heyns has already given us the ethnic group study. Now we want our own college, books, courses, faculty, and admission."

John Turner, Chairman of Communications for the Afro-American Student Union said, "We must shut down this university, bodily. We must move beyond mere rhetoric."

And move they did - nearly 800 pickets, on and off campus, took up the chant, "Asses out of Classes" and "We want the world, and we want it now!"

A little black lady stood at the campus entrance with a sign: "Black Mothers from the Black Community supporting. I am a black mother of 7 potential college students."

A huge banner from SF State's AFT local #1928 read: "Strike Right On! We stand with you!" They also put out a leaflet signed by Wm. Rider Cooley, president of the AFT local, which stated that it "wholeheartedly endorses the strike of the TWLF... we strike with them to win the fight against racism, to implement the 15 demands, and to insure self-determination for all Third World peoples."

A leaflet put out by the Strike Support Committee pointed out that Heyns's "extensive" efforts to help minorities has only resulted in the hiring of 4 Blacks, 9 Mexican-Americans, and one Indian.

"But if black, brown, yellow, and red minorities were given employment and admitted to student status up to their percentage in the state, their numbers would increase by over 8,400," the leaflet states.

The Radical Student Union said, "To make the university safe for our minds, we need students in every department challenging the relevance and importance of every course, ever requirement, and initiating courses and counter-courses of their own."

It hasn't got to THAT, yet, but on the first day of the strike, students did enter classes and either asked to speak in favor of the strike, or spoke anyway.

Some classes closed down, some listened and continued. How long this will continue is the question hanging over the campus like a sword.

No campus cops were around, not even one (were they on strike?) The Berkeley Police were there, however, dressed in hippie clothes. One Berkeley Police Inspector was present all day, dressed in a Beatle Beanie, a surplus Army Coat, baggy pants, and old tennis shoes.

Friday, was Gov. Reagan's personal body-guard, but at that time he was dressed in a Hart Schaffner

"Many a true word . . ."

The fire occurred, coincidentally, as the Cal campus saw its first day of picketing in support of the fired San Jose State teachers, and against on-campus racism. When the fire broke out, the student senate was meeting in the ASUC building, trying to decide whether to support the strike or not.

With tension running high throughout the state as a result of Ronnie Reagan's policy of "education by billyclub," it seems inevitable "the fire" will make police "necessary" on the Berkeley and Marx suit and black trenchcoat.

At a press conference Wednesday, both Charles Jackson, of the blacks, and Ysidro Macias repeatedly stressed that they were not "seeking violence."

Jackson pointed out that "on two occasions" students tried to force their way through the picket lines instead of going around like thousands of non-striking students did.

BARB observed the same student (shown on Chan. 9's 'Newsroom') try to bully his way through 300 pickets at old Sather Gate just as he baited the line at Telegraph and Bancroft, earlier. (See also BARB photo this issue.)

At Telegraph, he held up a sign hurriedly written in his note book, "FUCK YOU". He changed his mind and wrote: "I WANT TO LEARN" and counter-picketed with that sign for a while.

This is the way the Asian-American Political Alliance put it in their leaflet: "We are not here to fight policemen, but the racist system which employ them. However, the police seem to chance upon the scene in a most provocative manner."

Chancellor Heyns has announced he will not "hesitate" to call police.

This Wednesday, then, was the end of the nine-month road the Afro-American Student Union plodded to get some action. From now on in, it's "STRIKE ON!"

THIRD WORLD STRIKE HITS BERKELEY

afraid to commit treason against the masters and 1984.

So the key to the strike's effectiveness may well prove to be the TWLF's willingness to open up a bit more than ever before and take militant action against the cardboard academics and vinyl-coated businessmen who run the UC plant.

No tactics for next week have yet been revealed by the TWLF. They have not threatened to escalate their disruptive activities beyond the level of picketing, should that be necessary in order to shut the school down. But they have indicated they mean business with this strike and intend to win the demands.

The crucial demand of the strike is for an autonomous black studies department. Heyns, the professional manipulator, has little room to squirm and squish on this issue.

The black students insist they be given the powers to determine the structure, the content and the faculty of the Black Studies Department to be, if it is to be.

If the blacks are able to exercise these controls over their education, then honest, relevant courses on the black man's position in America will be taught by honest, relevant black men.

But the Reagan Regents have made it clear to Heyns and the world that a voice as pure as Eldridge Cleaver's will not be allowed to teach at UC Berkeley.

As Ysidro Macias said Wednesday, "The central issue in the Cleaver controversy and in this strike is racism and self-determination."

"We recognize that the racist power structure does not give up power willingly," Jeff Leong of the AAPA told the Wednesday gathering.

"Rights are not given; they must be won. We of the Third World now stand together in the fight for educational freedom in this racist society."

The TWLF urges all students and faculty at Cal to join the strike in support of the demands.

Leong put it like this: "Our struggle is everyone's struggle against the hypocrisy and contradiction of American society."

Has the revolution really begun? Or is it another Reichstag fire? We have a right to know.

EARLY STARTER

by Art Gottlieb

"You have to protest for what you believe in. I was right and you have to stand up for what you believe in."

Steve Politzer, a thirteen year old boy scout from Berkeley High told this to BARB after he was released by University of California police last Friday.

Steve, was walking up University Avenue when he saw students demonstrating against the Regents at University Hall. The Regents hire his dad to teach German here at UC.

Steve went closer to see what was going on. "This plainclothes cop took my picture and I started banging on the door," Steve related. "I wasn't afraid of the cop but was worried what my parents would think. I flipped him the bird and he opened the door and grabbed me."

It took five UC pigs to drag Steve into a side room. "I fell down and was grabbing at everything that I could. I yelled Let Go of me Pig and one of them kicked me in the back."

BARB first talked to him while he was in that side room. He related how UC police had put the handcuffs on him. "This cop here" pointing his head to an officer Fulks, "This cop here helped put the handcuffs on and pushed my arm way up behind my back."

Steve later told Barb that Fulks had tripped over him while they were dragging him into the room. Here you can see the bruises on my arm" and he drew up his sleeve to show the dull purple bruises.

Steve was forced to stand for two hours in a side room with handcuffs on him. Outside two windows were broken by pissedoff demonstrators but the leaders soon told everyone to Cool It.

Before he was released he was questioned by Fulks and a UC police Sergeant. "They asked me my name and address and if I ever smoked pot," Steve said.

Steve was released to his parents and there were no charges pressed against him. Jewell Ross, head of UC Police and ex-head of the Berkeley Red Squad spent most of those four hours telling reporters not to worry as "The kid is known to be mentally unbalanced."

Apparently Ross' ploy worked. BARB later heard Los Angeles Times reporters saying "Don't worry about that kid. The chief told us he was mentally unbalanced."

BERKELEY FUZZ CAUGHT WITH THEIR BADGES DOWN

by G.K.

The Berkeley Police goofed twice Friday during the student demonstration against the Board of Regents -- two cops showed up without badges, and another cop "revoked" a sound-permit.

Both actions are illegal (which, no doubt, will be 'heard' by the City Council, then 'referred' to some committee to be buried once again).

Police car #608 was occupied by two or more Berkeley officers, two without badges. As the students pointed this out by shouting "No badges, no badges!" BARB saw one cop hurriedly put his star back on.

He was halfway out the driver's side of the car when the shout went up. He hurriedly got back inside the car. Students brought this BARB reporter over to the car to see for himself, who caught this scene.

This reporter then told Berkeley Police Sgt #18, who ignored the whole scene and shoved us all back with his billy-club. When this reporter later (as a private citizen) registered an official complaint with the Berkeley Police, the officer-on-the-phone, Lt Cook, asked, in amazement, "What were you chasing Gov Reagan for?"

I told him "that was my concern. I have no objections to the police doing their duty (clearing the street) but they got to wear their badges when doing so."

Lt Cook amazes easy. He was dumbfounded I would believe Kathy Cleaver and not Chief of Police Beall. I had pointed out that she, too, experienced Berkeley cops without badges.

The other BPD fuckup was over the sound permit issued to Bob Mandel of the 'Oakland Seven'. After cruising around the streets of Berkeley, asking students and people to come to University Hall and down to the County Courthouse, a Berkeley cop stopped the car.

"May I see your permit?" asked the officer-of-the-law. When Bob handed it over to him, the cop said, "It's revoked."

As the students in the car began to protest, the officer then said, "You can come down to the Hall of Justice and pick it up."

All this was told to the BARB by Mandel and the others. One girl laughed and said, "Put in the BARB Bob is too chicken to go down and get it back."

Bob said, "That's right." Apparently, the Berkeley Police are becoming a law unto themselves. In "revoking" the sound-permit, they just "revoked" Judge Brunn's ruling on this matter, namely, you can't do what that cop just did.

ASIAN-AMERICAN RUMP GROUP BACKS UC STRIKE

by Jerry Popkin

"S. I. Hayakawa has dramatized what it means to be a yellow white American," Ray Okamura of the Japanese-American Citizens' League told a recent conference on the Asian Experience in America.

Though it wasn't on the agenda of the symposium, held January 11th in UC's Pauley Ballroom, the issue of San Francisco State and the role of Asian-Americans in the conflict there seemed to be an overriding concern of many of the delegates.

The symposium sponsors, Cal's Chinese Students' Club, Nisei Students' Club and Chinese Students Association, announced the close of the conference before discussion turned to SF State. Some of their members apparently were disturbed that the issue came up, and one Asian-American columnist, writing in the DAILY CAL, called the procedure an "unexpected takeover by the radicals."

The SF State debate, carried on by the minority of conference members who remained after the official adjournment, illustrated the variety of viewpoints among Asian-American students.

Warren Furutani from College of San Mateo, arrested during demonstrations there, gave one of the strongest endorsements of the radical point of view. He claimed, "the people that paid my bail were black people and white people," and called on Asian-Americans to become more involved in minority struggles.

Chinatown community leader Larry Jack Wong also voiced the call for unity with other ethnic minorities.

"We're so damned wiped out that we don't realize that we're the only group that can be used to divide by the power structure," he said. "Unless the yellow people become aware of the problems that beset us and find identity with the browns and blacks, we will be ignored."

Wong noted, though, that many Asian students are not citizens and avoid political commitment

INHOGRATION DAZE

THE DREAM IS DEAD

by Stew Albert

WASHINGTON, D.C.— Little Dick Nixon, always the smallest punk on the football team, has finally been sworn in as captain.

The Mormon Tabernacle Choir was there, and stoned out of my head, I thought I saw Eldridge in the White House, and the choir was singing "Fuck Ronald Reagan."

We came to Washington to denounce the war and the phony democracy that produced it. There were twelve thousand new style madmen, the kind that flaunt their sanity in public.

The same people who stormed the Pentagon and Richard Daley's dungeon were back on the streets, and if they were not able to destroy the inauguration, at least they could force it to share TV time with an army of solid freaks.

It started in a weird huge tent more or less at the base of the Washington monument, a day before Nixon put his hand on two Bibles. There was a rally, the usual assortment of Guatemalan priests, Hell No GI's and Woman Liberationists. And Phil Ochs.

The crowd wearing white Nixon masks and playing kazooes got up-tight -- some guy shouted "anyone who speaks from a microphone is my enemy," and 700 Yippies, their purple and pink flag aloft, bolted from the tent and began their march twenty minutes before anyone was supposed to.

When the march officially began it numbered ten thousand. Reversing the route the monsters would take the next day on Pennsylvania Avenue celebrating Nixon, we marched to and not from the Capitol building.

The reviewing stands were already up for the Inauguration and we piled into them cheering ourselves as we walked by. The occasional Hungarian refugee was there to remind us we were traitors.

There were occasional incidents with the pigs and some clubbings and arrests, but it was mostly peaceful and the fuzz even faked being polite.

When the night came we had our Inhoguration. It was a great rock and light show, and Paul Krassner was on the set to say that he had a post escape interview with Cleaver and that the FBI had already questioned him.

The tent was packed and ripping apart at the seams, the grass was passed around and many of the cats who stay away from all marches were there, really grooving and happy.

The ground was cold and muddy, it reminded people of Resurrection City, but we all stayed close together and warm.

Around midnight a Yippie wearing Earl Warren's robes stood on top of a parked truck, and using the Reader's Digest as a bible swore in a pig as President. This time Pigasus was a naked man in a pig's mask (the real presidential Pig still languishes in a Chicago jail), and he was shot down and assassinated on the spot.

Throughout the evening, plain-clothed pigs circulated in the crowd, but although they saw pot, made no arrests.

There were some SDS and Youth Against War and Fascism type radicals who wanted to try to create a Chicago type situation out of the power of their own wishful thinking. To have an all out war in the streets it takes a Trujillo type Mayor or Governor but the guy in charge was Attorney General Ramsey Clark and he was very generous in handing out permits.

The government played it clever allowing the organizers the freedom to do all the peaceful things they wanted and bringing in an overwhelming police power to crush us. The 82 Airborne, the Secret Service, the National Guard and the Washington Tac Pigs were all there. In this environment street fights were always small and sporadic, and it was impossible to fuck up the Inaugural parade.

We will now have to relate to Richard Nixon. He is the first president whose very inauguration was met with organized opposition in the streets on the day he took the oath.

This hard working mediocrity will have no era of good feeling from the New America. The universities and ghettos will blow up in Nixon's Bob Hope face, and even the boy scouts won't be inspired by his Elk's Club charisma.

The Dream is now officially dead. Without myths no ruling class can survive and what myths are left in America are now the sole property of the movement.

POT DECISION

LEARY STILL CHEERY

by Jon Jacobson

"This will be my last month around here," Tim Leary announced cheerfully as he breezed into the BARB office Wednesday. "Soon I'll either be in jail or in India."

The outcome all rests on the US Supreme Court's ruling in Leary's pot case appeal. He is appealing a 30 year sentence imposed by a Texas court in 1965.

The high court's decision is expected in about a month.

"But I can't worry about what'll happen," Tim said. "I let my attorney's do that," he laughed.

Leary said he has missed teaching since he left Harvard seven years ago. Before departing he plans to hold some classes in Berkeley. The classes will be sponsored by the Free University of Berkeley and deal with ecstatic life and the future.

Pauley Ballroom will serve as the scene of Leary's lecture and discussion series, starting February 4.

Leary has been arrested a total of 15 times, but he keeps in good spirits and refuses to think about legal matters. Besides the Supreme Court case his December 1967 Millbrook raid is unsettled. He feels it will be dropped due to illegality of the police action. He also has to appear for a hearing in Laguna Beach next Monday for his December 26 bust.

"It's always around Christmas they come, like Santa Claus," Leary smiled. "I almost expect them to come now."

He feels the Southern California charge too will be dismissed because of the illegality of the search. "The policeman said he smelled the odor of pot, but that's not probable cause for search," he said.

Despite all his hassles with the Establishment Leary is hopeful as ever. "The key weapon we have is beauty and individual freedom," he said. "Sure people are getting their heads busted. But then every day in towns like Richmond 50 girls are experiencing their first orgasm. That's beautiful. That's also news that should be reported."

The five Free U classes will all be given from 4 to 6 pm, February 4, 5, 6, 11, and 12. They are entitled: Psychedelic Psychology; How to Turn On; The Psychedelic Marriage; How to Tune In; The Psychedelic Community; How to Drop Out; The Hedonic Revolution; and The Hedonic Society of 2001.

This may be your last chance to dig Leary. The total of all his arrest sentences add up to 79 years. And if he wins India will be his home.

RIGHT LEAN PICKIN IN JURY PICKING FOR OAKLAND 7

by Art Goldberg

Down at the Alameda County Courthouse this week one thing became absolutely clear. DA Lowell Jensen wants no blacks on the jury that will decide the case of the Oakland Seven.

Jensen has used six of the ten preemptory challenges he has made thus far, to get black people off the jury. Every single black person who has been tentatively seated on the jury panel has been bumped off by Jensen.

Each time Jensen has challenged a black person, chief defense counsel Charles Garry has risen to his feet to state, "Let the record show that Mr. (Mrs.) is a black man (woman)." It is getting to be a daily ritual at the trial.

After Jensen challenged the sixth black person, on Wednesday, Garry made a motion for a mistrial on the grounds that the prosecution was seeking to systematically exclude blacks from the jury.

Jensen said Garry's charge was ridiculous. "There are many reasons why you excuse people from the jury," he explained. Without blinking an eye, Judge George W. Phillips denied Garry's motion.

At the time Garry moved for the mistrial the DA had challenged eight persons, six of them blacks. Jensen's next two challenges were of white persons.

Besides Jensen's obvious aversion to blacks, several other features about the prospective jurors stand out. Many of them either work for the Defense Department at one of the many Bay Area military installations, or have close relatives who do. Several work in defense related industries, or are connected with the Lawrence Radiation Laboratory, a leading atomic research center located in Berkeley.

The overwhelming preponderance of prospective jurors, it seems, are avid readers of the Oakland Tribune or listen regularly to right-wing radio commentator Pat Michaels.

The jury selection process is expected to take up most of the coming week. As BARB went to press, the defense had 36 preemptory challenges remaining, and the prosecution, 35.

As the examination of jurors moves on, the major lines of the defense case are becoming clear. Defense attorneys Garry, Richard Hodge, and Malcolm Burnstein have repeatedly asked jurors if they would be prejudiced if it were shown that the Oakland Seven were totally opposed to the Vietnam War which they consider to be "illegal, immoral, and unjust".

Garry and Hodge have also referred to the discriminatory nature of the selective service system, police provocation of violence at the Oakland Induction Center, the police acting illegally and clubbing demonstrators over the head with billyclubs, and to the obligation of citizens to oppose illegal acts by their governments, as stated at the Nuremberg Trials.

FOR RELATED STORY, see page 6

The defense also filed a memorandum of law with Judge Phillips arguing: "(1) International Law is the Law of the U.S. (and, therefore, the Law of California); (2) the war in Vietnam is illegal under International Law; (3) the defendants had the duty and the right under International Law to resist U.S. involvement in Vietnam. . ."

The memorandum further argues that the U.S. involvement in Vietnam violated the United Nations charter, the Geneva Accords, and the Kellogg-Briand Pact.

The game of chess continues next week. Thus far, sixty jurors have been questioned. Very few have been from Berkeley, but lots have been from conservative San Leandro. Oh well, that's justice.

FIGHT FOR RIGHT TO SACRED PEYOTE

U.S. Department of Justice has officially denied a request by the Neo-American Church for religious use of peyote.

Michael R. Sonnenreich, deputy chief counsel of DJ's newly created Bureau of Narcotics and Dangerous Drugs, told Rev. J. F. Poland on Jan. 14 that "your request for authority to use peyote in the religious practices of the Neo-American Church would require amending regulation 166.3(c)(3) of Title 21 of the Code of Federal Regulations. Your request is hereby denied on the ground that it fails to allege facts showing reasonable grounds for the amendment of the previously mentioned regulation."

Sonnenreich helpfully sent the Church a copy of the rule, which exempts certain American Indians from peyote prohibition;

"The listing of peyote in this subparagraph does not apply to non-drug use in bona fide religious ceremonies of the Native American Church; however, persons supplying the product to the Church are required to register and maintain appropriate records of receipts and disbursements of the article."

Poland commented to BARB that the federal government "apparently practices racial and religious discrimination in denying the Neo-Americans while supporting Native Americans."

His next step would be to request a formal hearing by the Department of Justice, where all those "reasonable grounds" for exemption could be heard and argued -- if he had a lawyer.

Poland appealed for "the pious rich of bohemia" to hire a church attorney. "Surely Bill Graham will contribute a thousand dollars for peyote freedom", enthused the Rev. "So will KSan. Those guys love us hippies."

OLOMPALI POT LAW TEST SET

"The Establishment is a pest," one of the residents of much harassed commune of Rancho Olompali told BARB this week. "The cops won't let us alone."

The commune is just recovering from two raids by scores of narcs within the space of five days.

According to Jack Van Allen, jewelry maker at Olompali, $790 worth of tools and merchandise was missing from the ranch after the fuzz left.

"But we're not afraid of anything here," Don McCoy the founder of the commune told BARB. "Even the busts are at times enjoyable."

McCoy is one of ten commune members who will go to court February 28 on "drug" possession charges.

"We intend to hold a mirror up to them," he said of the upcoming trial. "Their lousy laws, ICBM with nuclear warheads pointed at each other, garbage-filleted water -- those facts will convict their society."

After testing the pot law, McCoy said his next attempt might be to fight the infernal revenue law, which even the straight don't dig.

moments later. The huge black sedan became stuck in a traffic jam a half-block away, at Shattuck Square. A shout went up, "Get him!" and hundreds of students dashed into downtown, scaring the holy shit out of the shoppers and taxpayers.

Again, he got away only THIS time, with a little help from his friends, the Berkeley Police (some without badges).

Very, very, interesting (and curious).

THE INQUIRY

IT DID AND IT DIDN'T

by Art Goldberg

The Commission of Inquiry into the Vietnam war and political repression in the U.S., held in Pauley Ballroom on the U.C. Berkeley campus last Thursday, Friday, and Saturday proved to be an impressive, if somewhat tedious affair.

The Commission certainly succeeded in its major aim. It clearly and logically presented the radical argument on political repression in the United States. Simply stated the argument goes: the law serves power; the war also serves power; those who resist the war face legal harassment and repression.

To illustrate this argument, and to concretely relate it to the case of the Oakland Seven, at whose behest the Commission was convened, some twenty witnesses were called, and five films were shown.

The most impressive testimony came from U.C. Santa Cruz psychology professor G. William Domhoff, author of "Who Rules America". Ramparts Senior Editor David Horowitz, and Arthur Melville, a former Catholic priest expelled from Guatemala for working on behalf of the revolutionary movement there.

The Commission also heard impassioned statements from several very obvious victims of political repression in the United States, including Bobby Seale, Dennis Mora of the Ft. Hood Three, who just completed 28 months in Leavenworth for refusing to fight in Vietnam, and Gregory Harrison, chairman of the statewide high school BSU, charged with "insurrection" for his activities at Oakland Tech.

Domhoff set out "to tell you who makes U.S. foreign policy, how they make it, and why they make it."

According to Domhoff, the major lines of U.S. foreign policy flow out of three major think tanks-- the Council on Foreign Relations, the Commission for Economic Development and the Brookings Institution. These in turn are financed by the Ford, Rockefeller and Carnegie Foundations.

By reading the publications of the three institutions mentioned above, Domhoff said, one can pretty well predict what the major lines of foreign policy will be. In addition, he said, there are small groups of twenty to twenty-five persons who meet regularly to discuss foreign policy subjects. These groups are usually composed of top corporate executives, a man from the State Dept., a CIA spook, and "the best academics money can buy."

The key figures in the formulation of U.S. foreign policy, said Domhoff, are Averill Harriman, John J. McCloy, C. Douglas Dillon, and Devereaux Josephs. All are investment bankers.

To illustrate his point, Domhoff cited a 1960 study on China made by the Council on Foreign Relations. The study was financed by a $900,000 grant from the Ford Foundation. The grant was easy to arrange. John J. McCloy was president of both the Council on Foreign Relations and the Ford Foundation at the time.

As a result of the study, Domhoff said, the U.S. is pursuing a softer line towards China. "It's no accident that Hubert Humphrey recently proclaimed that U.S. policy on China did not have to remain rigid. He had gotten the word." Horowitz traced the history of U.S. imperialism.

"The United States must maintain its system of foreign investments in order to survive economically," Horowitz said. "Naturally, revolutionary nationalism overseas is a serious obstacle to the U.S."

Melville told the audience that U.S. planes were bombing and napalming in Guatemala. "You contribute to the system which oppresses them and benefit from it," he said. "The main enemy of the Guatemalans is the United States."

The former priest described how he began trying to help the Guatemalans by forming credit unions, and carrying out other reforms. He soon realized that the governor of the province where he was working was under the thumb of the CIA. At that point he decided to join the revolutionary movement.

There was much more testimony. In fact there was so much that the panel got very few chances to ask questions that might have enlivened the proceedings and created some drama.

There was an attempt to intersperse the testimony with films, but it proved impractical. Instead, all the films were shown Friday evening to a large audience. The benefit Rock dance was a huge success, with over 2,000 people jamming Pauley Ballroom last Thursday night.

The obvious message to the left then, is that a long series of speeches and statements, no matter how well organized, will not turn on huge numbers of people. Films and rock dances do. As Jerry Rubin said a long time ago. "You've got to use the media, baby."

Former SDS president Carl Ogelsby, now living in San Francisco seems to have understood this. One of the leading theoreticians of the New Left, Ogelsby has recently formed a new rock band, The National Liberation Front.

Get KAK. Before KAK Gets You.

Soon after the Beginning, the Electric Sailor guided KAK into the California sunshine clearing where the instruments waited. As the planets turned through the Bryte 'N' Clear Day, the Golgotha/Mirage/Rain Trieulogy was born. A tambourine hung vibrating in the air. The sitar and tabla sung a Lemonaide Kid raga.

Many mushrooms later, KAK walked into the age of Aquarius with its visions etched in black wax. "I think it's safe to say we've created a monster," KAK said. "You're pretty scary all right," said the Electric Sailor, Flying By.

EXCLUSIVE -Alvarado

"WE ESCALATE"

by Phineas Israeli

The students are winning at SF State, but their struggle is far from over.

Gestapo patrolling the library, students and teachers manning their picket lines, most of the classrooms a ghost-town and 19% scabs polluting the Bay City air --these were the scenes at State, Tuesday.

"I think the strike will probably go on a few more months, at least," Roger Alvarado told BARB in an exclusive interview.

Alvarado, a leader of the Third World Liberation Front, was not jiving when he made that prediction. The education factory known as SF State is virtually shut down, as it has been all month.

The trustees have but two choices left: either kill all the strikers or meet their demands. Until the trustees make up their fucked-up minds, the strike goes on. Of course the men pulling Hayakawa's strings may still try a bit more repression here and there, you know how things work.

But with these tough, mean motherfuckers manning the picket lines at State, a bit more repression never works. So, as Alvarado told BARB, "They may eventually wind up kicking everyone's ass in."

WE ESCALATE

The TWLF will not yield a single of its fifteen demands, Alvarado stated flatly. We asked him what would happen if the Trustees come to the strikers with an offer to meet most of the demands but not the ones giving the Third World students control over the ethnic studies departments.

"We escalate," Alvarado firmly replied.

"If they're hurting enough to come out front to tell us they'll give us some of the demands, then it's important to us to make them hurt a little more."

The rains have had a curious effect at State. While the picketers were fewer in ranks on Monday and Tuesday, most of the pigs had run for cover. Only about a dozen held the fort at Holloway and Nineteenth.

"Ever since the rain started," Alvarado said, "I guess they felt it's more important to stay warm than impress the people."

"Basically, they're not very strong," he rapped on. "They're doing a job."

GUNS

From the experience of the pig-

student battles at State, Alvarado says that the only way the police keep the people in fear of them is the gun each bluishirt carries on his side.

"If all they had was the stick," Alvarado said, "we'd take half the people off this line and kill those motherfuckers."

"Law enforcement would be impossible in this country if the pigs didn't carry round that shit. That's the result of conditions which are so oppressive, that the only way they can protect the pigs assigned to enforce the law is to give them their pieces."

Alvarado compared the situation here to recent student revolt in Mexico. There, he said, "from the beginning the students were talking about overthrowing the government." So instead of messing with the police, the government sent in the army right away. Hundreds were slain by their guardians.

Mexico could easily be here soon, Alvarado thinks. "If Ronald Reagan calls out the National Guard that's definitely going to start happening."

"They're not going to bring in some funky unit, they're gonna bring in fascists who really dig that thing, who just like to fuck people up."

REFORMS

After it was all over, Alvarado continued, the government would kick a couple of pigs out of the Guard and blame the killings on them, but the job would have been done.

"That's the only way this country can deal with the conflicts within it," Roger asserted, "Rather than deal with racism, they go out and buy tanks to use in urban ghettos to further mutilate Third World people."

We asked the TWLF spokesman whether he thought the struggle at State might end in a bunch of reforms and nothing more.

"I don't think so," he replied. "Everyone here's been educated much more than any other group of people, educated to basic principles, educated to organizing. White students have had their eyes opened, not only to the fact that their formal education isn't worth shit, but also to what they can do to deal with this shit."

Alvarado also told BARB that the AFT's own conflict with the Trustees, over the right of public employees to strike, to have collective bargaining, etc., is not unrelated to the needs of Third World people in this state.

"The AFT strike is important to us because a lot of Third World people work for the municipal and state governments," he said.

MASS ARRESTS

thered to test their right to meet on a state campus.

They got their answer when a pig sergeant yelled, "All right men, move in on them."

And then might becomes right.

About 200 escaped the trap. They move back and regroup by the library.

Seven pigs block the entrance. A stick hits one in the head.

Rocks start to fly. Two more pigs are hit. They retreat inside and try to lock the doors. Windows break. Doors shatter.

Tac Squad reserves arrive. Everybody splits to the sidewalk where the AFT is still walking their picket line.

Finale: The flags of California and the US are cut down. The pigs rush in to save them like a John Wayne flick.

The action is over. Slowly 350 people move over the debris-covered battlefield into the waiting paddy wagons and buses.

JAIL FLASH

The pigs are not letting anyone out of the Bryant Street jail BARB learned in a later report Thursday from embattered San Francisco State campus.

The 350 arrested earlier in the day are not allowed to make phone calls. Barrish Bailbonds has received only 6 phone calls by 4 p.m. According to police reports no information on the prisoners is to be released before 8 p.m.

A minimum bail of $2500 is set for any felony charge.

Among those arrested are students, AFT members from State and other colleges, and community supporters of all ages and races.

Dough is needed for bail. Call 552-2811 to help.

There is no barbed wire but I flash on pictures coming out of World War II. Jews shuffling passively behind Nazi Storm Troopers.

Only here submission is not the word.

The word is, Venceremos! We shall overcome.

Another account of Thursday's mass arrest at SF State was phoned in to BARB by photographer Bill Paul.

While the arrests were being made those inside the circle of police called out names. This was to let strike captains know who had been arrested.

Five paddy wagons and a bus were driven right on campus to haul the strikers away. People went inside without resisting, but once inside they banged on the sides of the wagons as they were taken away. It made a weird sound.

Watching students jeered and cursed the cops.

Later jock types and the CAE boys came to the flagpole. They were escorted and protected by mounted police. Heroically they attempted to hoist the downed US flag. But something was wrong. It got stuck. And now flies at halfmast.

HAYAKAWA'S HIMMLER

WHY IT CAME DOWN

by Phineas Israeli

A new wave of repression is in the works at SF State.

New suspensions and expulsions for the striking students, particularly the leaders, will start going down shortly.

Hayakawa is planning to overturn the decisions of the Senate and have his own personal lackey hand out punishments to the students, a source within the Academic Senate at State revealed to BARB Tuesday.

Hayakawa's hatchetman is named Duerr. Our faculty senator described Duerr as "a vindictive man, a hard-liner who believes in suspensions and expulsions."

Last month, when the Academic Senate was debating whether the campus should be reopened after New Year's, some faculty members made the point that if it was reopened then there would be war between the occupying army of pigs and the students.

Duerr responded, "Let there be war."

For the past few weeks the Senate and Hayakawa have been deadlocked over who had the right to handle the disciplinary cases arising out of the strike.

A majority within the Senate has insisted that all cases should be handled through the normal channel of the Judicial Court. The Court is composed of faculty and students, and it would give the students brought before it the right to choose their own "creative punishments."

Thus, a black student who pleaded guilty could choose to help Dr. Nathan Hare with some research for a month or two.

But Hayakawa and his puppeteers, the trustees, are out for blood. So Hayakawa is going to rule that due to the emergency conditions prevailing on campus or some shit like that, he has the right to have his offices take over the disciplinary powers.

Duerr, who entered the State Administration with Hayakawa, will then be set up as judge and jury. If all this comes to pass, and it will be in a few days time, says our source, then the students' response is clear -- Let there be war.

OVERREACTION

Ending a black girl's education in Oakland is like condemning her to death. That's the opinion of Alan Kalmanoff, an attorney handling the case of 15 year old Dorothy Allen.

Dorothy, a student at Oakland Tech, was expelled from school for slapping a girl, a white girl who allegedly called her a "nigger."

"To end her education for that is a tremendous overreaction," Kalmanoff told BARB, "In most cases the student would only receive a severe reprimand." She has no prior record of discipline problems, he noted.

Kalmanoff has filed a suit against the Oakland School Board, the Oakland Superintendent of Schools, and the Oakland Tech principal to get Dorothy readmitted. A hearing on the suit is scheduled January 28.

According to the attorney the girl was expelled for "unprovoked assault" although no fact finding had been done by school authorities on the case.

The incident took place September 26. Dorothy was at first suspended, and finally expelled on December 17. Yet she was not notified of this until January 14.

Meanwhile Dorothy has been without an education for more than a semester.

WITHIN POLICE STATE YOU HAVE PIGS IN LIBRARY

BARB got a live action preview this week of a new flick out of the Man's Sacramento studios, Education At The Point of a Bayonet.

We infiltrated the library at SF State -- and infiltrate is the word. The pigs inspect you as you enter, the pigs inspect you in the halls, the pigs inspect you at the shelves. They are not in the library to catch up on their reading.

Upstairs are located the specialized reading rooms. An uptight white matron darts through the hall, sporting that look which says only one thing: I have a degree in library science.

BARB decides to interview her about the library's readjustment period in the wake of the nefarious student sabotage wreaked on the shelves last week.

Enter the reading room after her only to find that she is standing in front of a black student and resolutely blocking his passage. What would Eldridge say?

FREAKS

The student moves to the side, she folds her arms, freaks her eyeballs, and does the same. This goes on for about a minute. The cat doesn't know what to do to get away from his new admirer without touching her and getting charged with felonious assault, intent to rape, and conspiracy to incite lack of virginity.

He moves over to another bookshelf, taking advantage of a lull in the surveillance. We move in to interview the lady. She intimates a willingness to answer our questions, but then suddenly starts scurrying after the black student. We scurry along.

'Why are you chasing after this student?' we ask. 'Because he's a known disrupter - of - the - shelves,' she calls back, pantingly.

So there the three of us are, playing follow the leader through the stacks and shelves of the political science reading room.

PIGS HUDDLE

The black student returns to a desk and sits down with a couple of books. Three pigs enter the political science reading room and huddle with the uptight librarian. BARB moves off to the side and scans the shelf on Africa.

The pigs go over to the desk, and, altogether now, inspect the black student and his books. Obviously, they are not satisfied. Pigs and matron return to the aisle to huddle, but three feet from BARB.

'We can arrest him if you say so,' one honky figure in blue oinks to the trauma-grabbed gal. BARB begins to move out. Pigs stare at BARB, their hands on their hips, their hearts set on winning Most Valuable Pig of the year award for most arrests made by an off-duty washroom watchman in a three-year period, their glare yelling 'Conspiracy.' BARB departs.

The pigs inspect you on the way out. We are happy to leave a library secured by fear.

Later on in the afternoon, a Third World leader, Roger Alvarado, tells us that there have been a couple of busts up at the library. --P.

HEIGHTS SEIZED BY AFT

The AFT seized the high ground at State this week.

Since New Year's the pigs had kept all picket lines off the main pathway leading into the SF State campus at Holloway and Nineteenth.

But this week members of the striking AFT local at State moved up to the path and took it over for a picket line. The police, who previously had lined the path, gave out with a lot of menacing looks, but when the chips were down they didn't make a move.

The AFT strike is making headway in other directions also. Professor McGucken, a member of the union's negotiating committee, told BARB that support is growing for the strike all over the state among high school AFT locals and among other labor unions.

McGucken's scenario for the future of the AFT strike includes the walkout extending into the summer. The AFT leader believes that the issues exposed by the strike -- the rights of public employees to strike, to unionize, to have collective bargaining -- are of great importance nationwide.

The big labor unions will have to kick in with some support for the striking profs. In fact, McGucken believes that the AFT strike will long outlast the student strike which got the AFT out in the first place.

HOW ASIAN STUDENTS BACK BERKELEY STRIKE

from p. 4 because they fear possible deportation.

State College strikers drew firm support from all members of a panel discussion held near the end of the conference as well. Ray Okamura, who later told Haykawa supporters in the audience, "I think you are in a concentration camp of the mind," was one speaker.

Another was Prof. James Hirabayashi, from State College. He supported the striking students and said, "It is only because of the confrontation at State that we ever got off our bottoms to do things." Other strike supporters were Loren Chi from Oakland High and Berwyn Lee, member of Intercollegiate Chinese for Social Action, one of the striking groups at State.

Out of the unofficial discussion came a quasi-resolution that read: "Be it resolved that 100 participants of the Yellow Identity Symposium 1) fully support the 15 demands of the Third World Liberation Front, 2) Condemn the manipulation of an Asian-American by the governor and the Board of Trustees, 3) demand that S. I. Hayakawa resign immediately as president of SF State."

What are the issues which make Asian-Americans conscious of oppression in this society? The main ones stressed during the symposium and in interviews with students are quite similar to those felt by black and brown students, but they are generally expressed less violently.

George Woo, from Chinatown, gave the most militant speech presented to the symposium. Using rhetoric very similar to that of black militants, he demanded action to improve social conditions in Chinatown, where 40% of the population lives below the poverty level set by the Federal government.

Woo attacked students who feel superior to Chinatown residents, saying, "you are the brain from our community, but in the past, our brain has deserted us." And he also noted that the US government has reacted to his political involvement by attempting to deport him on the grounds that his father entered the country illegally at the turn of the century.

Professor Isao Fujimoto warned Asian-Americans to avoid being used against more oppressed minorities. "The entire Asian-American group is the Uncle Tom to the rest of minority society," he charged.

Asian-American organizations have grown rapidly in the past year. The Asian-American Political Alliance, less than a year old, has chapters at many California schools already, and is also active at the University of Hawaii.

"We owe a great deal to the history of black liberation," Alan Fong of AAPA said.

Action is being taken particularly on college campuses, where support for demands by blacks and browns is a major theme. But Asian-American militants are also trying to link up with the most oppressed sections of their community, the farm workers and the ghetto residents.

HOW TO BEAT BERKELEY HEAT

The heat will be on the Berkeley City Council 8 PM January 28th to do something about cleaning up City Hall.

They aren't being asked to do it themselves because nobody believes they want to. They ARE being asked to let the people vote on the Better Berkeley Council's three Charter Amendments.

These Charter Amendments would give the people of Berkeley a fighting chance to curb City Hall harassment. BBC spokesmen claim. The City Council has the power to put them on the ballot. City departments don't want them on the ballot, says the BBC.

"Our drive for signatures on the petitions for the Charter Amendments is still in full swing," Al Silbowitz, Chairman of the BBC told BARB. "But we won't know until we call the petitions in on the 28th, whether or not we have signatures enough to qualify for the April ballot."

"What we do know is that the voters want to decide this at the April election. Getting the voters and the petitions together for signatures takes time and good weather. Both have been scarce, but people clearly want a chance to vote for change."

The City Council is holding an Open Hearing on Charter Amendments on Tuesday evening, Jan. 28th. Everyone can come and say their thing for three minutes. BARB asked if the BBC hoped to get positive Council action.

"I don't see how they can face their own political supporters if they don't," replied BBC Chairman Silbowitz. "They are under tremendous political pressure from the Left and from the Democrats to take some responsible steps about the Police."

"Of course, they may still cop out on the basis of some technicality."

"But they need votes in April, especially Black votes. And the town is angry about Black harassment, the police freak-out during the curfew this summer, and the lack of an independent investigating office for these things which the Citizen's Advocate Charter Amendment provides. We'll just have to see on the 28th."

BOBBY SEALE GETS JUSTICE FROM PEER

by Phineas Israeli

An Alameda County judge has exposed the untruthful and illegal ways in which the Berkeley pigs operate.

Last winter the pigs invaded Bobby Seale's Berkeley home and arrested the Panther leader on gun charges and for conspiracy to commit riot or murder.

Last Monday Judge Lionel Wilson ruled that the bust was illegal and the search of Seale's apartment and the seizure of his weapons was unlawful.

In his opinion Judge Wilson pretty much accused the principal pig involved of perjury.

"Officer Coyne's testimony," the judge stated, "was at times inconsistent with other credible evidence, at times evasive and on occasion demonstrated a 'convenient memory' which was usually sharp when helpful to his case and no so sharp otherwise."

Judge Wilson implied that Coyne busted Seale in order to get himself a promotion and a raise.

Seale, at a press conference after the miraculously honest decision was handed down, had fine words to say about the black judge.

"Judge Lionel Wilson is a brother who knows the law and went by the law," the Panther chairman said.

"We want to be tried and judged by our peers," Seale added, "and we respect Judge Wilson."

Wilson went into the pigs' lies in detail:

Officer Coyne's "testimony that when he received the initial radio transmission to go to 1927 Stuart Street he was told that the citizen informant had stated that he had heard the three Negroes say, 'There has to be a killing; there has to be a killing,' and 'Let's go in and talk to him about it,' is not borne out by the evidence as contained in the taped transcript of the informant's conversation with the dispatcher wherein the citizen stated that he could not make out what it was about and heard something about 'Well, we're the only people (garbled) ...'"

What that means is that for all the pigs knew one of the Panthers could have been saying, 'Well, we're the only people on the block who like pistachio-flavored ice cream cones' and on that basis the pigs raided Seale's home and arrested the Panther couple!

In yet another pitdown of the BPD's man on the scene, Judge Wilson said that "The inconsistencies in Officer Coyne's testimony and his apparent emotional involvement were such that it is difficult to segregate the 'truth' from the 'fiction and fancy.'"

Another aspect of the ruling is that the finding of weapons in the possession of Black Panthers does not "form a basis for a probable conspiracy to riot or murder."

Judge Wilson pointed, ironically, one hopes, that "It was common knowledge that the Black Panthers were prone to carry guns."

The moral of the trip is this: The next time you get invaded by the pigs, get Charles Garry to be your lawyer and Lionel Wilson to be your judge and justice shall prevail.

PANTHERS PROMISE TO AVENGE DEATHS

by Phineas Israeli

"We will avenge Bunchy's and John's deaths," David Hilliard, Black Panther Chief of Staff, vowed, Monday.

Apprentice "Bunchy" Carter and John Huggins, two officers of the Black Panther Party, were assassinated at UCLA last Friday, Jan. 17.

Saturday, the 18th, Hilliard flew to Los Angeles to investigate the murders. Monday he and Bobby Seale, Party chairman, released the results of the investigation to the press.

Hilliard and Seale charged that the killings were brought about by US (United Stance), headed by Ron Karenga, and that the triggermen were members of the "elite core within US known as Hilliard stated, were from US.

US is known in the doublethink media as a 'militant black organization.' Bobby Seale's statement described US as "Pork chop cultural nationalists who are co-opted and used by the racist, exploitative power structure."

US, Seale explained, is being used by the power structure in LA to suppress the Panther Party there.

Despite the fact that US is centered in Los Angeles, the Panther Party claims it has been growing there, even to the point of outnumbering US. Until the murders, five national officers of the Party were living and working in LA.

The plot is very simple, according to Panther spokesmen. The Panthers represent a real revolutionary threat to the pig power structure, US does not. But instead of having cops ambush Panthers, like in Oakland, have US do it. So the Man schemes.

US, for their part, are also very unhappy about the Panthers' growth in LA. How can Ron Karenga and his group control the action if the Panthers turn the black community on to black revolution.

Part of the Panthers' national program is unity with the Black Students Unions. "UCLA," Hilliard said on Monday, "is Karenga's stronghold." The directorship of the Afro-American studies program at UCLA is worth $20,000 a year, as well as a great deal of influence in the BSU on campus.

"They wanted that ballhead Karenga to have the $20,000 position," Hilliard charged. "It's known that Karenga was trying to take over the BSU's in Southern California."

But the Panthers offered their own candidate for the job, though Hilliard did not reveal his name.

So Bunchy Carter and John Huggins were apparently killed to keep the Panthers out of the Black Students Union at UCLA and, ultimately, out of Los Angeles.

Seale and Hilliard hit hard at their press conference on the theme of collusion between Karenga and the Man.

"US is an organization known as 'ballhead niggers and vipers.'" Hilliard promised that the Panthers would expose US to the black community and would educate the community to the new realities of "the LA Pig Dept. using niggers against black revolutionaries."

A black female reporter asked Bobby Seale if it wasn't to the advantage of the Establishment to have two militant black organizations feuding with each other. Seale replied:

"Blackness is not a criterion for being in this revolutionary struggle."

Then he added, "It's clear that only a pig would kill a Panther."

Ron (Karenga) Everett and Henchmen

the Simba Wachukas."

Speaking in Panther headquarters in Berkeley, Seale charged the LA police with complicity in the crime.

The motive for the killing, Seale continued, was "to weaken and destroy the Black Panther Party in Los Angeles."

According to the Panther spokesmen, the incident occurred in the following manner. "Bunchy and John entered the cafeteria at UCLA following a black student meeting. Five minutes later, they lay dead on the floor: Brother Bunchy shot in the chest and Brother John shot in the back."

The meeting which preceded the assassinations dealt with control of the Afro-American studies program at UCLA and the choice of a director for the program.

One hundred and fifty people attended that meeting -- two were Panthers, and almost all the rest,

THE MAN DON'T DIG CHURCH

By Jon Jacobson

"Stop in the name of God!" the minister shouted. But to no avail. Federal agents arrested two of his parishioners during the service. And when he protested about sanctity of the church he was locked up too.

The scene was the cold rainy steps of San Francisco's Federal Building, Monday morning January 20. Reverend Dick York of the Berkeley Free Church conducted a service of liberation before two members of the church were scheduled to go on trial inside the glass obelisk later that day.

During the sermon water in the plaza fountain turned blood red, as in the passage from Exodus Rev. York read. The text asked the Pharaoh to "Let my people go" from involuntary servitude. Bishop Michael Itkin performed an exorcism to drive the demons of violence and exploitation from the Federal slab.

Slowly, from all sides, five men in business suits slouched toward the 30 church members. They zeroed in on Sandi McCallister and Charlene Pope in the congregation. The two were set to go to trial for throwing paint on a US flag at the Presidio, October 23.

"Please wait till after the service," the Rev. York admonished the intruders. They paid no heed and tried to lead the two women away. When the minister objected and tried to block their way he was arrested.

The three were led away, but Rev. York continued his service even inside the elevator, and later in the cells. Bishop Itkins was later arrested when he asked a bully who pushed him for identification. The man was a federal agent. All four prisoners were released on bail the same day.

"I was very upset with their total disregard for a church service," Rev. York later told BARB. "I'm not guilty of anything except trying to prevent my service from being interrupted."

"The state is infringing on freedom of worship," York continued. "We may eventually have to go underground as the church did in Germany under the Nazis."

Janitors and maintenance men washed off the red steps of the Federal Building after the Monday service of liberation. "But the blood is still there," said the minister. "They put it there themselves. We only made it more visible for a few hours."

Despite the attack on their minister in San Francisco the Free Church is as alive as ever in Berkeley. They have soon plan to expand their switchboard service to 24 hours and are presently seeking volunteer aid.

The Oakland Seven will be going to a court-martial next Friday. The Seven have decided that they must show solidarity with the six soldiers now in the Presidio Stockade who will be going on trial for "mutiny" next Tuesday.

The Seven will be tied up in court on Tuesday, when the trial of the Presidio Six opens, preceded by a noon demonstration outside the Presidio's main gate at Lyon and Lombard Streets, San Francisco.

The Seven are planning to utilize their regular Friday "day off" to attend the court-martial. "We want to show that our case and their case is part of the same struggle," explained Steve Hamilton, one of the Seven.

So on Friday, January 31, Hamilton, Frank Bardacke, Terry Cannon, Reese Ehrlich, Bob Mandel and Mike Smith will cross the Bay Bridge and attend trials at the Presidio. Jeff Segal will attend also, but the federal marshal won't let him. Jeff is serving four years for draft refusal.

The Seven are on trial Mondays through Thursdays only. The court does not meet on Fridays.

The Oakland seven would like their friends and supporters to join them at the Presidio. For information call 845-6123.

CARAVAN NORTH 69 MOVING ALONG FINE

By Rocky Raccoon

Alaska anyone? An article in last week's BARB about America's last great frontier and the possibilities of starting an aware community there, produced over 20 phone calls from former Alaskans and people interested in going there next summer.

A meeting has been scheduled for 1 p.m. this Sunday at the squat tree near "Hippie Hill" in Golden Gate Park for those interested in discussing Alaska. Future meetings will be scattered around the Bay Area to avoid possible involvement into a neighborhood clique.

Last Sunday, a small group, including four former residents of Anchorage and Fairbanks met to discuss possible locations for a new townsite.

The group agreed that it should be near adequate land available for homesteading purposes so that those who wanted to be near, but not in, the community could preserve their solitude but still be close to people of kindred spirit if they wanted companionship. The group also concluded any people planning to go to Alaska together, would, of necessity, have to be self sufficient.

The "Caravan North '69" concept is still highly flexible. Each week, the group as a whole will make certain decisions which will remain as guidelines until changed. These decisions will be relayed to similar groups in Seattle and Los Angeles.

At this Sunday's meeting, a correspondence committee will be set up to coordinate efforts with people in Fairbanks, Anchorage and major cities along the West Coast.

Preliminary thinking calls for 300 carloads of settlers to leave Seattle about June 1. If you want to go to Alaska this summer, but don't dig the caravan plan, come to Sunday's meeting anyway and give your ideas.

Possibly, Caravan North will rent a post office box or obtain other mailing address to coordinate the project nationwide. Watch BARB for details.

PEACE TRIPS AUDITIONS COMING UP

Actors and technicians are needed for "Trips for Peace," a modern adaptation of an ancient Greek play.

ARMY'S HEAVY HAND STILL CLAMPED DOWN ON STOCKADE VICTIMS

By Jon Jacobson

The Army is going ahead with its heavy-handed suppression of dissent.

Six men will be tried for mutiny January 28 for their part in the October 14 sit-in at the San Francisco Presidio. A decision has not been reached on the fate of the rest of 27 stockade GPs.

The top brass ignored the recommendations of an Army psychologist and the hearing officer at the soldiers' preliminary hearing in going ahead with the mutiny charge.

"These kids are being screwed as an example to other soldiers," Brian Drole of the National Committee to Defend Military Prisoners told BARB. A rally is scheduled to take place at noon the day of the trial in front of the Presidio, Drole announced.

Major T.G. Chamberlain, an Army psychologist examined five of the six men during their first hearing and recommended the GP's be "separated from the Army" because of mutual incompatibility. His advice has not been taken.

Captain Richard Millard, the officer in charge of the November preliminary hearing for the six, requested in his summary the soldiers be either charged with disobedience maximum 6 months or given discharges.

"A charge of mutiny doesn't apply in this case," Millard states in the transcript of the hearing. He further comments on the shoddy and inefficient grievance procedure, and the substandard conditions of the Presidio brig as mitigating circumstances for the soldiers' protest. But General Stanley Larsen commander of the Presidio has chosen to ignore the opinion of his subordinates.

Sunday, January 19 several of the prisoners allegedly attempted suicide and were reported to be in Lettermen Hospital in serious condition. However, the hospital would not confirm this.

Meanwhile, Terence Hallinan, attorney for 17 of the 27 men is still pursuing the case through the courts. On January 16 Federal District Court Judge Stanley Wiegal issued an order to the Army to show within ten days that it had remedied the illegal conditions in the Presidio brig.

"That's a tremendous victory," Hallinan told BARB. "By virtue of this the court has taken jurisdiction over the treatment of military prisoners."

Sergeant Woodring, the guard who allegedly broke the fingers of a prisoner January 8 is still in charge of the stockade, Hallinan told BARB. "As far as I know he wasn't even reprimanded," he said.

Hallinan's charges of brutality were countered by a former inmate of the brig who called BARB last week. The soldier, who chose see p. 21

"Just movin' ... Just cruisin' ... Just boppin' at the A-valon, yeah."

The Avalon Ballroom reopens this Friday night. Under a new, but still non-establishment management, the ballroom is going through some changes for self-protection.

Bob Simmons, formerly with the Family Dog, and now part of Sound Proof Productions, told BARB that $1000 worth of soundproofing is being added to make the Avalon sound tight.

Simmons also hopes to make the ballroom more self-sustaining. Besides the regular weekend shows, there will be films, brought in by the Straight Theatre people, Monday and Tuesday nights.

Wednesday nights will be devoted to jam sessions. Also, Sound Proof and KPFA are getting together to do a live broadcast thing from the Avalon on Sunday nights.

This weekend's bill includes The Grateful Dead, The Sons of Champlain, and Initial Shock. Price is $3.50 Fridays and Saturdays, and 3 big ones on Sunday nights. For more info call the Avalon at 776-5853.

Music and good vibrations go out today (Friday) to get Allan, the Cosmic Messiah out of San Francisco County Jail.

His followers from the Messiah's World Crusade will be at the Hall of Justice at 9 a.m. complete with music and love. They will testify to Allan's character and ask he be released on his own recognizance. Presently he is held on $25,000 bail for an alleged pot rap.

"We will balance with our minds the unbalanced minds of those persecuting him," Dian, one of his followers told BARB. "By projecting love we'll show the absurdity of their man made laws."

I'd like, or insist on my right to PROTEST your snide and unfunny head on January 10 issue's picture, p. 9. "Flower child -- or Don In Drag?"

Granted his tactics now smell to high heaven but so do yours now as well. With all the (successful) (and correct) attempts to get parents on SF State campus, to protest also, didn't it occur to you the elderly woman, even though she's carrying flowers, looks much more like the fellow standing mid-picture left than Hayakawa?

Compare her eye-slant with his, her nose-shape, the cheekbone structure, and set of chin, and you may see why I'm willing to lay $25 on the line she is related, though not as matter of fact his Mother -- but his Grandmother. That's irrelevant to the fact you still would owe all parents and relatives who turned out to help your apology for the snideness.

Another $25 on the line if you do in fact apologize.

"PROCTOR."

Yes, we apologize. Though the caption was intended to be humorous we can understand it may be taken another way, and regret any insensitivity. All the parents and relatives who turned out in support certainly have our fullest respect. Please make the $25 check payable to the San Francisco State

Legal Defense Fund.

We also wish to apologize to the people in the top picture on page 5 in our January 17 issue. The caption for the picture states "Some scabs are sadder than others."

One of those in the photo phoned and explained that she was not scabbing but leaving after work at the BSU office. The person next to her with the books is a student from another school. She said she understood how it was easy to make the error. But we are, of course, sincerely sorry.

THE VELVET TRAP

Part II

by Ellen Mendicino

The Big Message lurking behind most sex articles in women's magazines is: Taking Everything into Consideration, Girls, nothing is as Groovy as Marriage.

In the name of groovy old commercialism, however, they invariably tout their sex articles on the cover of a specific issue. "What Happens When a Girl Spends a Singles Weekend at a Resort Hotel" shouts the cover of January McCall's.

Although it's okay to sell magazines this way, McCallian Virtue wins out and the reader discovers that the author only pretended to be an unmarried woman. In reality, she, unlike the poor slob at the nameless resort in the mountains of New York, is a happily married wife and mother.

It's not as honest that way but not as controversial either. The author concludes her article in a sentimental slush of monogamous tears: "I think of them (the singles) whenever the washing machine breaks or the septic field balks . . . I think of them, too, when God's in his heaven and all's right with my world."

The male editors of certain women's magazines are running scared of the Pill. In the January issue of Ladies Home Journal Robert Kistner, M.D. tells women that if they use the Pill and begin to feel sexually liberated they risk "enslaving" their husbands. "It's as if their sense of maleness and self-esteem has been threatened."

And later on he adds: "Wives have complained to me about their impotent husbands who developed this difficulty only after they started on the Pill."

What about the women's magazines that have been "enslaving" women with variations on the GUILT theme for the past one hundred years? Now they have something else to blame on women in addition to juvenile delinquency, homosexuality, heart attacks, alcoholism, and ax murders. And why? Because there is the danger that women are about to be as the editors of the Ladies Home Journal and Dr. Kistner.

Eldridge Cleaver has pointed out how American society has psychologically oppressed blacks by equating blackness with evil in folklore, language and literature. It is interesting that this piling of guilt upon the female has its origins deep in the religious beliefs of Western civilization.

Eve is blamed for the Fall -- the symbolic contamination of all mankind for eternity. It can also be argued that Eve was the first radical because she broke the rules and ate the apple and by doing so uprooted things forever. But I've never heard a theologian explore this point although they frequently run on about Eve being made from one of Adam's ribs.

Not all women's magazines handle sex hypocritically, upholding the double standard by using the iron in the velvet glove. Cosmopolitan with a circulation of 961,508 is edited by Helen (Sex and the Single Girl) Gurley Brown. Most of their articles treat sex with astonishing candor when compared to articles in the other women's magazines. Occasionally, however, a writer gets carried away and writes stuff that sounds like a funny parody on Lolita.

In an article defending extramarital affairs ingeniously titled Low Fidelity Wives (Jan. Cosmos,) the author tells us about Jeannine, married for eight years and the mother of two children.

Jeannine tells it like it was: "The moment Tim rode up on his Honda, my heart began to skip beats. All I can say is that arrogant, muscle-bound juvenile delinquent just plain knocked me out. You should have heard me stuttering while I tried to explain what we wanted done with the closets. I didn't have to say a word about anything else. He picked up on the message right away. So what if he was so boring I couldn't talk to him? He was beautiful. And indeed, he was fantastic."

Such glib case histories are suspect because it is extremely doubtful that married women with children go leaping into bed with sexy carpenters in the middle of the day. Where were Jeannine's kids? And what about the possibility of several neighborhood kids trailing through the house. Not to mention the Avon Lady ringing the doorbell.

One interesting switch in the saga of Jeannine and Tim is the idea that women need not necessarily love a man or have intellectual communion with him in order to have a sexual relationship. D. H. Lawrence said this forty years ago in Lady Chatterley's Lover but the idea still scares a lot of people today -- not to mention the editors of Good Housekeeping et al.

In another article in the same issue of Cosmopolitan titled The Ostentatious Orgasm writer Jill Schary sums up her philosophy: "The ability and right for women as well as men to enjoy sexual expression and satisfaction is as important and relevant a subject today as any other physical ability or civil rights."

Although Cosmopolitan rates the highest among the mags in terms of sexual honesty it has lots of junk in it like its sister publications. Articles (also in the Jan. issue) on The Exciting Days and Nights of a Playboy Bunny and In Pursuit of a Pet, a picture story about one girl's search for a 200 dollar puppy dog are silly and a waste of paper.

Mademoiselle Magazine, also edited by a woman, frequently combines the best of both types of women's magazines. In the past they have included fine political and social articles and interviews with meaningful articles on sex. Their problem is a magazine so cluttered with glossy advertisements that the reader passes out from exhaustion before finding the articles. (Robert Benton and David Newman who wrote the screenplay for Bonnie and Clyde have a regular column in Mademoiselle.)

The majority of women's mags have learned one thing from the underground press, and that is that sex sells copy. Unfortunately, they haven't learned to be as honest about it.

Lecturers were John Hubley 'Fantasy In Films,' Dora Kaliff 'The Creative Imagination and the Development Of The Child,' Anais Nin 'Dreams in Literature,' John Perry 'The Functioning of Fantasy in a Schizophrenic Process,' Harold Stone 'Levels and Types of Fantasy Activity,' James Vandell 'Bob Dylan: Emergence of a Poet,' Laurens Van der Post 'The Pattern of the Seer' (taped lecture).

In spite of the most appalling public relations by UC Extension, over 400 people attended this three-day seminar held last weekend at the I House in Berkeley.

The high point (at least to me) was Anais Nin's most marvelous putdown of science, and the low point was the almost total absence of awareness that "Fantasy, Dreams, and Myths" are something more than an aberration or an illness.

There was also quite a lack of imagination on the part of most of the speakers as to where it's at -- namely, The Beatles, for in Stone's lectures on "Fantasy," we all were surrounded by drawings of a seven year old boy, reminiscent of "The Yellow Submarine," yet John, Ringo, Paul and George weren't mentioned once!

During the coffee-breaks, we discussed this (vis a vis the Beatles) and many, especially the students under twenty, always brought up this point (as expressed by Anais Nin and Dr. Perry) that the poet and artist are ALWAYS there before the scientists and the psychiatrists.

In one of these coffee-discussions, I discovered a NEW generation gap. We were talking about the Beatle films and one girl about 16 said, "The first one was the, ah, war one, then came the Magical Mystery Tour, then the Yellow Submarine."

I said, "No -- the first one was 'A Hard Day's Night.'"

She said, "What's that?"
That's no fantasy, man -- that's a real generation gap! Can you imagine? The Beatles have now been around long enough for a whole new generation to come along WITHOUT HEARING 'A Hard Day's Night.'

Meanwhile, back at the Seminar, Dr. John Perry stressed that a schizoid personality is not "just a disease, but rather it is to be looked upon as a very drastic way nature adjusts to the poverty of life before the fantasy."

He felt a "psychedelic experience" results from the same environment (a sick society) and "it is no accident that LSD groups form into 'hippie communities, a sort of a sub-culture' that wants to go back and be 'close to the land, close to love.'"

Dr. Perry said this desire is often found in a schizoid personality, and this fantasy "is not just idle play -- it comes from one's very guts, one's very life, much more so than from the general world."

In the lecture by Dr. Stone on the seven year old student with a 170 I.Q. who fantasied like mad (if you'll pardon the pun), I got up and asked (pointing to the drawings on display of this student):

"Does this indicate the loss of innocence and fantasy is an attempt to regain our innocence?"
"I don't know what you mean. Can you say it again?" answered the Doctor.

This 'answer' made me non-plussed, so I said, "I can't." His attempt at an answer indicated he missed my point.

After the lecture, this was picked up by some during the coffee-break. What I was trying to say was that we are all born in innocence and that our fantasies (or flipping out or acid trips) were attempts to get it back again from a sick world.

Two Catholic Sisters picked up on this. They felt that "God sent his son, Jesus, to program us to gain our innocence. LSD, dreams, are a substitute. The mystery of Eden (a cool title, by the way and very, VERY close to Dylan's 'Gates of Eden') is our loss of innocence. Mysteries precede myths."

Later, one sister motioned me over while Dr. Stone was speaking, and wanted me to ask him a question on why certain rituals disappear while others remain. The other sister leaned over and whispered to her, "What's the matter -- don't you have enough courage to ask your own question?" We three had quite a rap going while the lecturer was lecturing.

Along this thought, Dr. Jerry Rosenfeld (who also took in the Seminar) talked with me about the significance of one of Dr. Perry's patients.

She had brought him a drawing of a snake being crucified on the cross. The snake was 'crowned.' Dr. Jerry said "It was the snake that gave Eve the apple. In making us aware of sin and of knowledge, we were saved. Otherwise, we all would have perished in disease, storms, like the rest of life before humans."

Dr. Jerry then proceeded to phone me up at 1:30 in the morn-

Richard Whitehall has asserted that the filmmaking movement in the Bay Area is, what he calls, Kinetic Cinema.

I'm not sure I understand precisely what he means by Kinetic Cinema, but from a list of films he gave, citing them as examples of Kinetic Filmmaking, I get the idea that he is talking about films that exploit hard-edged graphics, gross colors, and flashy techniques.

That's only a little of what's going on in the Bay Area. Maybe that's how it looks from L.A.

There are many filmmakers in the Bay Area working in very interesting directions. Here's a list of most of them:

John Schofield, Herb DeGrasse, Michael Stewart, Myron Ort, Jordan Belson, James Broughton, Larry Jordan, Ben VanMeter, Loren Sears, Robert Nelson, Bruce Connor, Jerry Abrams, Bruce Baillie, Gunvar Nelson, Lenny Lipton, Michael Arnold, Scott Bartlett, Lawrence Booth, Tom DeWitt, Steve Wiese, and Will Hindel.

Of these only two work in what might be called Kinetic Cinema. They are Scott Bartlett and Tom DeWitt.

DeWitt's latest film THE LEAP, is the best he has produced. The film has extraordinarily subtle effects and color harmonies, which grow naturally in intensity. Sadly, the effect is spoiled by the horrendous sound track, banal and overstated stuffing of tape music.

When I compare it to the tape composition used with Scogoff's XFILM, by Bill Moraldo, I realize how really crummy is the track of DeWitt's THE LEAP.

It's a pity, because the visual portion is the best thing of its kind that I have seen. The form, despite what festivals and some writers might have you believe, and despite what the public in turn believes, finds little favor with creative filmmakers. Filmmakers may say they like these harsh exercises, but it is difficult to find the taint of a monstrosity like 7362 in most artists' work.

7362 was made by a Los Angeles filmmaker, whose name escapes me. Appropriately the title comes from the code number that Eastman Kodak gives its high contrast positive film.

I quote from the data sheet provided by the manufacturer: "It is suitable for making negative or positive titles of excellent definition and sharpness when clear whites and dead blacks are desired."

A cursory examination of films in the Canyon Cinema Catalog would reveal that only the most facile classification could lump together many of these films as "Kinetic Cinema." DeWitt's film, THE LEAP, takes the thing about as far as I have seen it taken, and is visually really a rather refined and pleasing exercise.

I think we're just seeing the beginning of these films of kinetic design, and I hope the experimentation continues. Its developed form will probably bear slight resemblance to these early works.

Turning to other works, recently completed is DAVID, by Michael Arnold, a remarkably compact and economical tale, if that's the proper word, of the undoing of one David, whose life is presented in the form of home movies, stills, tracks from radio and TV commercials.

The film is perhaps four or five minutes long, and what it accomplishes in this four or five minutes is more than you're likely to get from looking at four or five hours of other film. That's the experience I have with DAVID, surrounded as it was by so much crap, it glistened like a diamond in the shit.

Now that I've said I like the film, what the hell else is there to do about it? It's not so much that I'm at a loss for words, I just don't know what's the point of further communication on the subject.

To the anonymous writer of the card I received, which went: "A loan is all he gives/And takes again;/With his gift lives/The folly of men." I respond with a quote from a well known source:

WAR SICK, HE PLEADS FOR LOVE

Dear Sirs,

I'm station in Vietnam with the 82 Airborne, I just received a Berkeley Barb from my brother and after reading the articles in it you have a very fine newspaper. I do not know if it's a good compliment from a 18 year old kid.

Personally I think you should right more articles on stopping the war in Vietnam, because it's a needless and useless bloody mess. I ask myself why should there be wars between other nations, riots and assassinations, why does one man takes another mans life, when everybody can sit down and settle arguments by talking instead of killing, there should be love in the world instead of hate.

Iv see to many of my friends been killed for no reason at all. Speak out for people who believe in love and peace.

I give you permission to print this if you like.

Sincerely yours,
(Name withheld to protect writer)

With Love From Rubin,

AN EMERGENCY LETTER TO MY BROTHERS AND SISTERS IN THE MOVEMENT

Dear friends,
From the Bay Area to New York, we are suffering the greatest depression in our history. People are taking bitterness in their coffee instead of sugar.

It's a common problem, not an individual one, and people don't talk to one another too much any more.

It is 1969 already, and 1965 seems almost like a childhood memory. Then we were the conquerors of the world. No one could stop us. We were going to end the war. We were going to wipe out racism. We were going to mobilize the poor. We were going to take over the universities.

Go back and read some of the early anti-war literature. Check out the original hippie-digger poetry and manifestoes: euphoria, overflowing optimism, and expectation of immediate success. Wow, I can still get high on it.

A lot has gone down since then. The war roars on, the San Francisco scene is gone, pot and acid are being challenged by speed and smack. Nixon has replaced Johnson, and white racism is stronger than ever.

America proved deaf, and our dreams proved innocent. Scores of our brothers have become inactive and cynical.

Still, our victories since 1965 have been enormous. We kicked LBJ's ass. We defeated the Democratic Party. Our history has been marked by a series of great battles: Berkeley, the Pentagon, Columbia, Chicago. We are stealing the youth of America right out of the kindergarten and elementary schools. We are the most exciting energy force in the nation.

It is just because we are striking so deep that, in every phase of the movement, arrests and trials and court appearances and jail have bottled up resources, zapped energy and demoralized the spirit.

This has happened slowly -- not the way many paranoids expected, the knock on the door, and concentration camps for thousands of us. Chase that shit out of your head. That's not The American Way.

The American Way is to pick one off here, one there, and try to scare the others into inaction.

So:
HUEY NEWTON IS IN PRISON
ELDRIDGE CLEAVER IS IN EXILE

America's courts are colonial courts, where White America punishes her black subjects. America's jails are black concentration camps. Every black man in jail is a political prisoner. In America we have Race and Class Justice, pure and simple.

And they have picked off the Panther leadership and driven it into jail and exile without our burning the fucking country down in retaliation.

OAKLAND SEVEN ARE ACCUSED OF CONSPIRACY

Which means: organize a demonstration which effectively challenges authority and the courts arrest you for conspiracy and tie you up with lawyers and boring shit for years. Is that why so few people are into planning demonstrations any more in Berkeley?

After spending three months there in the fall, I was depressed to see the old Berkeley audaciousness gone. Shit, three years ago we were going to overthrow Washington from Telegraph Avenue. Result: broken dreams for hundreds and hundreds of people. "Politico" has virtually become a term of insult in Berkeley today.

Meanwhile, the cops are smiling.

TIM LEARY IS UP FOR 30 YEARS AND HOW MANY OF OUR BROTHERS ARE IN COURT AND JAIL FOR GETTING HIGH?

Smoking pot is a political act, and every smoker is an outlaw. The drug culture is a revolutionary threat to plastic wasp 9-5 america.

If you smoke quietly, you won't get bothered. If you smoke in public, or if you live in a commune, or get active politically, or show up somewhere in J. Edgar Freako's computer, you're likely to get busted for getting high.

Through the power of arrest, the cops have virtually silenced the drug evangelists and have destroyed drug communities like the Haight-Ashbury.

SPOCK FACES TWO YEARS IN THE PEN

When America arrested the Baby Doctor for advising young men to follow their consciences, I was ecstatic: the next day I actually expected thousands of intellectuals and religious folk to stand on soapboxes and repeat Spock's words. Fuck. No one hardly said a word.

The intellectual community was paralyzed by fear. Is it any wonder now how German intellectuals were so easily silenced? Some of the Boston Five tried to beat the rap, re-interpreting their actions into meaninglessness. Where was that moral confrontation with authority that Paul Goodman spoke so oozingly about?

Sorry for the bitterness, but I saw the arrest of Spock as a test case for the government. If they could arrest and convict Spock without much of a backlash, certainly they could exile Cleaver and jail Leary, and eventually get to me.

The government won the test. Now they are willing to try anything.

CAMPUS ACTIVISTS ARE EXPELLED AND ARRESTED. Participants in any campus outbreak now are expelled or suspended from school, and arrested on assorted misdemeanors, if not on felony charges for conspiracy.

Students quickly forget the court cases left behind, and the euphoria of an outbreak turns sour in the hearts of those who go to court and jail alone.

When cops first come on campus, the liberals scream -- but gradually the liberals get tired and go to sleep.

Cops and courts never sleep.

WAR RESISTERS ARE BEHIND BARS

The anti-draft organizations are in shambles. Individuals are left alone to face 3-to-6 year sentences for refusing the draft. Thousands of men have been driven into exile in Canada and Sweden. The bravest men in the army are choosing to go to the stockade rather than eat military shit.

Stockades, federal prisons and courts are full of men who have defied the military, and who now must face the music. Unfortunately, there is no orchestra playing behind them.

ADD IT UP:

Cops and courts have tried to put the national black leadership on ice, knocked the Berkeley white activist movement on its heels, over-run the campuses, wiped out many longhair communities, muted the intellectuals, and given, with impunity, fantastic punishment to draft and GI resisters.

The pattern goes a long way to explaining the malaise so many of us feel. America got where she is by jailing and killing blacks and other colored peoples. If America's own children -- the brats of her white middle class -- insist on acting like blacks, well, shit, they will jail and kill us, too.

Who the hell wants to 'make it' in America today? The hippie-yippie-SDS movement is a "white nigger" movement. The American economy no longer needs young whites and blacks. We are waste material. We fulfill our destiny in life by rejecting a system which rejects us.

Our search for adventure and heroism takes us outside America, to a life of self-creation and rebellion. In response, America is ready to destroy us.

America, like the Roman Empire, is falling apart. Repression reveals the speed of America's fall. When you challenge America, you soon find that underneath the pretty words about democracy, lies a mad, arrogant beast who will tolerate no disrespect or opposition.

I used to know all this in my head. Now I know it in my gut. In the past six months I've personally found out what it's like to live in a police state.

In 1964 and 1965 I was active in campus demonstrations at Berkeley, travel to Cuba, and anti-war actions like stopping troop trains. In those days America thought it could solve its problems with white demonstrators by quickly winning the war in Vietnam.

But we had other ideas, and so did the Vietnamese. The anti-war movement became part of a massive youth movement, student demonstrations spread across the country, and in the summer of 1967 America's ghettos burned. The solution to rebellion at home became for LBJ a military one, and his administration turned the problem over to the FBI, CIA, Red Squads, the cops and the courts.

I guess I began really asking for trouble when, after working as project director for the siege of the Pentagon, I helped organize the youth festival and demonstration in Chicago in opposition to the Democratic Convention.

The yippies were the most public, anarchic and fearless conspiracy the world has ever seen.

It made LBJ very uptight to realize that an incredible youth-rock festival was going to be held in Chicago the same week he was scheduled to be renominated. LBJ knew that the one group in the country which had done the most to laugh at him and make him look silly were the hippies.

But LBJ dropped out. Bobby Kennedy looked like he was going to get the nomination and through his charisma put the yippies on the shelf. On June 5, Sirhan assassinated Kennedy, and yippie popped back, as unreal as ever.

On June 13 three New York narcotics detectives, carrying a mysterious search warrant, stormed into my Lower East apartment, angrily tore a Castro poster off the wall, and arrested me for alleged possession of three ounces of marijuana.

They spent 90 minutes in my apartment questioning me about yippie plans for Chicago and going through my personal papers and telephone book.

The search warrant claimed that on June 10 an informer was in my apartment with me and he saw dangerous drugs there. The only people in my apartment on that day were my closest friends. Narcotics police, who use corruption to get high, invented an informer to get a search warrant. Attorney Bill Kunstler is now attacking the warrant.

A Red Squad detective later told a New York Post reporter that this was the first blow against the yippies, whom we said were agents of the Communist Chinese importing dope into the country to destroy American youth.

Virtually everyone under 30 in Manhattan smokes pot. The cops use marijuana as a handy club against blacks, longhairs and political activists. If you are a longhair and a political activist, you get in trouble. If you are a longhair, a political activist, and black, you get real trouble. (Hello, Eldridge, wherever you are.)

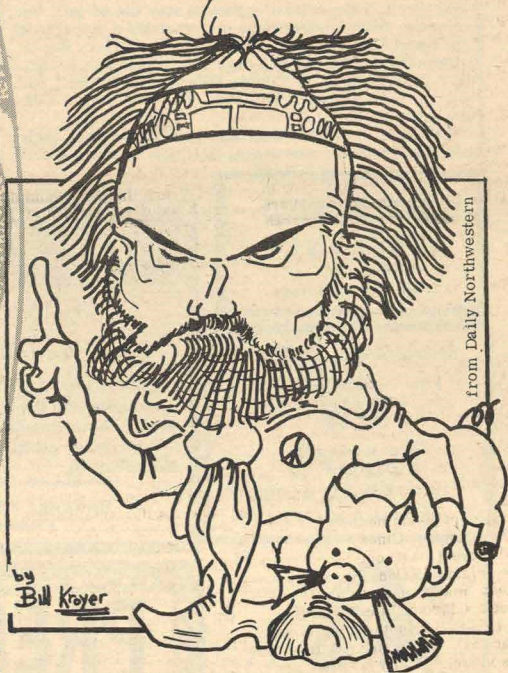

The marijuana charge against me is a felony punishable by 2-15 years in the state pen.

When I arrived in Chicago for the yippie festival, I found three shifts of plainclothes cops hounding me day and night. It was typical Chicago police harassment. Round the clock they tailed the half dozen people they thought were "leaders." They were there when we went to bed at night and they were there when we got up in the morning.

For me they cooked up a special treat. Daley sent an undercover cop, Robert Pierson, alias Bob Lavon, to infiltrate the yippies, act as an agent provocateur, spy on me, and frame me on a serious felony rap.

At 10:30 p.m. Wednesday, Aug. 28, while looking for a restaurant, I was kidnapped off an empty downtown street in Chicago by four plainclothes pigs. I was threatened with beating and death, slugged, and told by the head of the Chicago Red Squad:

"You guys ruined our city. You, you Rubin are respossible. Do you like our city? We hope you do because we are going to put you in jail here for a long time."

By chance, Jack Mabley, a columnist for the conservative Chicago American, happened to be in the streets when I was picked up. This is how he described what happened:

"No blood flowed in one of the most ominous happenings. Jerry Rubin ... was walking west on Washington ... A girl (Nancy) was with him ...

"An unmarked car with four policemen skidded to a stop beside Rubin. Three men jumped out. 'Come on, Jerry, we want you,' one called as they grabbed Rubin. The girl screamed, 'We haven't done anything! We were just walking.'

"I have heard Rubin speak, and he was obscene and revolting. In America a man may be arrested for obscenity or revolution. But Rubin was grabbed off the street and rushed to jail because of what he thinks.

"This is the way it is done in Prague. This is what happens to candidates who finish second in Vietnam. This is not the beginning of the police state, it IS the police state."

I was then accused of a wild assortment of charges and bail was set at $25,000, more than the usual bail for accused murderers.

Two months later, on October 29, the Cook County Grand Jury returned an Illinois State indictment against me on two counts of "solicitation to commit mob action," a felony punishable on each count of 1-3 years in the state pen. Pierson's bullshit provided the basis for each indictment.

Pierson lied by saying that I shouted through a bullhorn, "Kill the pigs," thereby supposedly soliciting others to mob action the afternoon of Wednesday, Aug. 28 in Grant Park. The incident is supposed to have taken place after cops attacked the crowd when the American flag was lowered, during the rally preceding the Mobilization march.

Anyone who was there during that time, including people with photographs or films, and especially people who saw me during that time, please contact my attorney:

 Frank Oliver, 30 North LaSalle, Chicago, Illinois, 60602.
 Whenever I come to Chicago for court appearances the press treats me like a yippie Richard Speck. The Judge has officially restricted my travel to Illinois. (Illinois?) The court system, of course, is under Daley's thumb. It all adds up to a one-way ticket for me to five years in the Illinois state pen and revenge for Richard J. Daley.
 Embarrassed by the national press and the Walker Report, Daley needs a scapegoat in the pen. I am not going to be anyone's scapegoat.

America used to use HUAC to shit people up, but HUAC can only silence a movement that is afraid of itself. Pierson appeared before HUAC in October and said I told him that the yippies were planning to "assassinate Daley and the other national politicians" and overthrow the government "within a year." He sounded like he was on an acid trip.

The yippies love HUAC. For us it is a costume ball; a chance to project to the children of the world our secret fantasies, a la McLuhan. What a gas it was to see the headline: "HUAC BARS SANTA CLAUS." HUAC is all bullshit; it has no power.

What is not bullshit is an official government document in which the Department of Justice admitted in December, 1968 to a Virginia appeals court that it maintains "electronic surveillance" of me. The document, #12660, is signed by C. Vernon Spratley Jr., U.S. Attorney for the Eastern District of Virginia, and it was sent to the U.S. Court of Appeals, Fourth Circuit.

It says: "The government is tendering herewith to this court a sealed exhibit containing transcripts of conversations in which appellant Rubin was a participant or at which he was present which were overheard by means of electronic surveillance."

Electronic surveillance?
 The government admits that it maintains either a phone tap or a house bug, or both, of my life. In other words, there is nothing that I can do in the privacy of my own home that does not go into some secret Big Brother tape recorder.

No need any more for suspicion -- it's admitted. And what can I do about it? Nothing.

The New York cops, using an illegal search warrant and phony drug possession charges; the Chicago cops, using an agent provocateur and spy; the Department of Justice, using bugging; and the Chicago courts, using frameup felony charges, $25,000 bail, and travel restrictions, have joined together in a criminal conspiracy to deprive me of my civil rights. That's about all the shit they could throw at me in six months.

I've got to raise a lot of money to stay out of jail: for everything from lawyers' fees to organizing a propaganda fight against Daley's Neanderthal Republic. A Jerry Rubin Defense Committee is being organized. Please try to help. Make contributions to "Rubin Defense Committee" and mail to 5 St. Marks Place, apt. 16, New York 10003, New York.

These are days when one asks himself the most basic questions about the movement: Is it real or transparent?

From Rubin, With Love

Does it just concern issues, or is it a whole new life style? Could the government break it apart with concessions?

Are we creating a New Man, or are we a reflection ourselves of the bullshit we hate so much? Are we a new brotherhood, or are we just a tangle of organizations and competing egos? What will happen when we reach age 30 and 40?

I am not sure myself, and what I think often depends on how I feel when I wake up in the morning. And this is one of the differences between the black and the white movements. For blacks the liberation movement is a struggle against physical and mental oppression. For whites the movement is an existential choice.

One way to feel whether or not we have something real is to see how people relate to one another in trouble. In the past the movement has left the casualties of the last battle to their own individual fates as it moved on to the next dramatic action.

Many activists have even been forced to turn to their parents for help, rather than to the movement which is trying to overthrow their parents' institutions. How can we ask young kids to take risks in a movement which doesn't defend its own? My brother is 21 years old and his eyes often ask me that question.

The movement is more concerned with ideological debate, organizational games, and in-fighting than with creating a family. But our movement is only as strong as the friendships within it. Our only real strength is in our identification with one another.

That collective identification then becomes the greatest challenge to the cops and courts.

MESS WITH HIM AND YOU'VE GOT ME TO DEAL WITH TOO.

If 1968 was "The Year of the Heroic Guerrilla," then 1969 will be "The Year of the Courts." We must attack the myths surrounding the courts as ferociously as we have attacked the American myths of war, apple pie, your friendly neighborhood cop, and "free elections." Maybe Pigasus should become a judge.

Lenny Bruce put it right: "In the Halls of Justice, the only Justice is in the Halls." Courts come on as sacred as churches. Judges act like they just got off the last plane from heaven.

America's courts are the nation's toilets. And in America's jails, human beings are forced to live like animals.

Martin Luther King saw civil disobedience and arrests as moral thrusts aimed at stirring the population and government to action. His death dramatized the death of innocence.

The police, district attorneys and judges use arrests freely: to get activists off the streets, to tie us up in endless judicial and legal procedures, and to serve as a warning to others. Arrests become a form of punishment and detention.

For the cops, an arrest is almost as good as a conviction.

To challenge the courts is to attack American society at its roots. In campus rebellions, the most revolutionary demand, the demand that can never be granted by the administration, is the demand for amnesty. Attacking the society's mechanism for punishing her citizens is attacking the society's very basis for control and repression.

Americans like to believe that this is a country of "fair play." We ought to organize tours for the American people of their courts and jails.

An offensive against the courts and jails -- including direct action and direct legal and financial aid to the victims of the system -- would be the most immediate link that a white movement could possibly make with blacks and poor whites: the country's shit-on, the "criminal element."

As a beginning let's organize massive mobilizations for the spring, nationally coordinated and very theatrical, taking place near courts, jails, and military stockades.

The demonstration should demand immediate freedom for Huey P. Newton, Eldridge Cleaver, Rap Brown, Harlem 5, Harlem 6, all black prisoners, Timothy Leary, the Oakland Seven, all drug prisoners, all draft resisters, Benjamin Spock, Jeff Segal, Martin Kenner, me, Fort Hood 43, Catonsville Nine and Milwaukee 14, and all white political prisoners, and amnesty for deserters and draft evaders.

Remember the legend of Spartacus. The Romans slaughtered all the slaves, but the moral example lives on.

When the Roman Army came to kill Spartacus, they faced a mass of thousands of slaves. They demanded that Spartacus step forward.

"I am Spartacus!" shouted one slave.
 "No, I am Spartacus!" shouted another.
 "No, I am Spartacus!"
 "No, I am Spartacus!"
 "No, I am Spartacus!"

With love,

Jerry Rubin

RAPE!
RAPE! RAPE!
 Some women have stopped reading our ads for Horseshit Magazine because we've been talking about seduction, and purity of mind, and the innocence of young girls - the sort of things that only men can believe in. So this is about something women are interested in - rape. Now as all women know from their daydreams, rape has a lot of advantages. Best of all, it's so simple. No preparation, no planning ahead of time, no wondering if you should or you shouldn't; just whang! bang! and there you are. But there are drawbacks, too. There aren't nearly enough rapists to go around; and they tend to be careless about their partner's enjoyment; and if you do find a nice one, he's liable to come bounding out of the bushes some day when you're not in the mood. But there is a solution. When you get a likely prospect into your living room, show him Horseshit Magazine. If he likes it, he's normal and intelligent. Then he'll look over at you, and recognize a woman who's normal and intelligent enough to keep Horseshit around, and you'll be there all wide-eyed and defenseless, and he'll leap . . .

OUR STAFF OF SEXUAL geniuses see the world as a pleasure garden of erotic delight. They have put together a collection of sex toys which are a remarkable realization of 20th. century technology. Recent developments in the rubber and plastic industry have made all this possible. They have created toys of pain and pleasure and devices for love play, as well as erotic recreations from the past. The ultimate purpose of this research is to make your sexual encounters more rewarding. They think sex should be fun. They also feel that their unique inventions will blow your mind and will add a whole new dimension to your sex experience. If you're over 21 and have 25¢ handy you are eligible to receive a catalogue of twentieth century sex equipment. Send your quarter to: PANDORA'S BOX 535 VALENCIA SAN FRANCISCO, CALIF. 94110

HIPPOCRATES
 (copyright 1969) Eugene Schoenfeld, M.D.

Birth of the Peace and Quiet Party Readers of the Berkeley BARB and Los Angeles FREE PRESS may have noticed a curiously benign advertisement recently for something called the Peace and Quiet Party. Peace and Quiet Party? A John Birch group? Some little old ladies having tea once a month? None of these.

The Peace and Quiet Party was born, appropriately, on a noisy hillside in Los Angeles near the Hollywood Freeway. I was staying with Bill Cannon, who wrote the screenplay for SKIDOO, an Otto Preminger film about hippies, the Mafia and LSD. Bill's originally funny screenplay was OTTObled.

Even at 4 or 5 in the morning, the roar from the Hollywood Freeway floats into any open window facing the huge neon-lighted white cross opposite the Hollywood Bowl. During the day, when normal atmospheric conditions of L.A. prevail, one sees below the panorama of Hollywood fading gradually into a murky gray-brown smog.

Early one morning we were rapping about the foul air, noise and general turmoil of our cities. "Yeah," Bill said, "What we need is a Peace and Quiet Party." And so the Peace and Quiet Party was born. We immediately chose as symbol of the Party Bernard, Bill's 200 lb. St. Bernard.

The next day a Los Angeles TIMES story reported that deaths from emphysema in the Los Angeles area had risen 1800% in the past 12 years. A few months ago, a group of U.C.L.A. physicians advised all who could do so to leave Los Angeles because they thought it unfit for human habitation.

But smog is certainly not found solely in Los Angeles. According to the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare, New York City has the country's worst air pollution problem. Manhattanites often can't tell whether flakes falling from the sky are snow or soot. Chicago, Philthydelphia and

Los Angeles follow New York in the dirty skies contest.

Clear days in the San Francisco area have become a rarity. From the Berkeley hills or flying over the bay one sees a dense cloud of brown muck. Even Miami, a city with no heavy industry, no hills, and prevailing breezes, has a haze, easily seen when flying there from the clear blue skies of the Bahamas.

Air pollution experts tell us the single most important source of smog results from the use of gasoline in internal combustion engines. Electrically operated automobiles would solve this problem but they either have not been perfected or powerful forces prevent their development and use. A different power source for autos would certainly cause giant economic upheavals in the oil and gasoline industries.

There is an easy way to almost immediately reduce the amount of pollutants placed in the air by automobiles. Most of the Detroit behemoths gulp a gallon of gas for each 10-15 miles traveled. Autos which consume less fuel contaminate less air.

Within a year or two all autos which get less than 20 miles to the gallon could be banned from the highways. Detroit engineers could easily develop engines to meet these requirements. Seems like a good project for Ralph Nader.

Meanwhile, I'd like to urge everyone to drive cars which consume as little gasoline as possible. Maybe a project of the Peace and Quiet Party will be to distribute bumper stickers saying "I'm Fighting Air Pollution - My Car Gets M.P.G."

I had been intending to write some belated New Year's words, perhaps a long column about where we were last year and the prospects for 1969. But what I intended to say was summed up by two recent stories in the S.F. CHRONICLE. One was about S.F. State students beaten by police as they lay helplessly handcuffed in a paddywagon. The other story was about a firebomb thrown into the home of a "conservative" S.F. State faculty member. His children and wife narrowly escaped serious injury. Firebombs were nothing new to his Japanese-born wife for she had been bombed out of her house twice in WWII.

The policeman beating a helpless prisoner and the firebomber put themselves in the same bag. My hope is that in 1969 the underground press will apply the same standards to the Left that have been applied to the Right. "Wop, nigger, kike, pig" - all words connoting mindless bigotry. Happy New Year. * * * * *

DEAR DOCTOR HIPPOCRATES is a collection of letters and answers published by Grove Press. $5.00. * * * * * Dr. Schoenfeld welcomes your questions. Write to him c/o Berkeley BARB, P.O. Box 5017, Berkeley, Calif. 94709.

 from p. 11
 to remain anonymous said the brig would be all right if prisoners wouldn't antagonize the guards. "I know Woodring he has his job to do. He is an all right guy," the caller said. "The only brutality is segregation for homosexuals." The soldier said he is getting a discharge from the Army because he is gay.

SIX PREMIERES

OPENING WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 29:

1 ANDY WARHOL'S BIKE BOY

A new, mature Warhol moves into the realm of tragi-comedy in this revealing, bizarre psychodrama played out by "bikie" Joe Spencer and Warhol's intriguing Superstars.

2 CONRAD ROOK'S CHAPPAQUA

The long-awaited, definitive, semi-autobiographical account of a young man's cure from drugs and alcoholism. Superbly imaginative depiction of the wild and terrible moon country of an exploding mind. With Rooks, Jean-Louis Barrault, William Burroughs, Allen Ginsberg and Ravi Shankar, who also wrote the music.

3 THE FIRE WITHIN

French director Louis Malle's haunting lost classic, now a film legend, depicting a day in the life of an alcoholic ex-playboy desperately groping for meaning amidst the depravity of Parisian upper middle-class society.
 Also: LA DENONCIATION, first San Francisco showing of an unusual French crime melodrama. Maurice Ronet stars in both films.

4 WARRENDALE

Controversial feature-length documentary made at the experimental center in Ontario, Canada for disturbed children. An overwhelmingly human document, acclaimed the most moving of its kind ever filmed. "Not a study, not propaganda... an experience, passionate and compassionate." — Kauffman, THE NEW REPUBLIC

5 GODARD'S PIERROT LE FOU

Jean-Paul Belmondo and Anna Karina escape the suffocation of middle-class life for a hazardous world of smuggling and gangsters. Godard's complex and eloquent eulogy to the death of romance, made in 1965 but only now released here. Filmed on the French Riviera in exquisite color. (Re-scheduled from our fall Godard series).

6 FATHER

A charming and lyrical film by a brilliant young Hungarian director dealing with a young boy's web of heroic fantasies about his dead father, warmly and humorously rendered on both the real and fantasy levels.
 Also: Special Revival of Alain Renais' HIROSHIMA MON AMOUR

SPECIAL REDUCED SERIES TICKETS ANY 4 PROGRAMS $6

AVAILABLE ONLY AT THE BOX OFFICE (NOT VALID SATURDAYS)

HENRY MILLER SAYS.....

"They call Bunuel everything. Traitor, anarchist, pervert, defamer, iconoclast, but lunatic they do not call him. It is true, it is lunacy that he portrays, but it is not his lunacy. This stinking chaos which for a brief hour or so amalgamates under his wand, this is a lunacy of civilization....The record of man's achievement after 10,000 years refinement. Bunuel is a first man who has taken the medium of the screen and used it to the fullest. He shows what hitherto has been denied us. They should take Bunuel and crucify him or at least burn him at the stake. He deserves the greatest reward that man can bestow upon man."
