ARREST THE HOME SECRETARY

TO the Chairman of the Bench, Bow Street Magistrates' Court, London WC2, January, 1967: "Both the Home Secretary and the Director of Public Prosecutions have adopted a policy of silence and inaction. In so doing, these two public officers have exposed themselves to a charge of misprison of felony with intent to obstruct and pervert the course of justice. Therefore, on February 6, I shall make application at your Court for their arrest and trial on a joint indictment." These are the words of John Taylor still in pursuit of justice on the Fletcher Case. The facts of the case are as follows:

On July 27, 1961, at Warwick Assizes before Mr. Justice Sir Edmund Davies, Alice (Hayes) Fletcher and Roy Fletcher were convicted of murder and sentenced to life imprisonment, which sentence they are still serving. In October of last year, John Taylor presented a dossier to the Home Secretary which he claims conclusively establishes that the Fletchers are innocent and that their conviction was obtained by the perjured testimony and other criminal actions perpetrated by certain police officers serving with the Birmingham Criminal Investigation department. Since then, the Home Secretary has taken no action and declined to comment on the matter. A copy of the dossier was recently forwarded to The Council of Europe submitting that the Fletcher Case is a fit and proper matter to set before the European Court. And John Taylor has written the following letter to the Home Secretary:

It is customary when charges of a serious nature are levelled at Police Officers for those officers to be suspended from duty pending an official investigation.

THEATRE OF ACTION

INTERNATIONAL TIMES with the kind assistance of Columbus Arts Productions Ltd., presents

"THE FLETCHER FILE" (not a play) by John Taylor, edited and adapted (not for stage) by Lee Harris, Presentational supervision (not direction) J. Henry Moore.

AT THE ROUNDHOUSE (AGAIN), 5th FEBRUARY, 2.30 p.m. and 7.30 p.m. Prices: matinee 2/6, evening 5/-. Chairs 5/- extra.

In maintaining your silence over the wrong and unjust conviction of the Fletchers' it has not gone un-noticed that you have further failed to take cognisance of the evidence proving the original actions of certain Birmingham C.I.D. officers.

Whilst I concede that in taking no action you are merely continuing the policy of your predecessor who gave Home Office immunity to rogue policemen such as Challenger and those Birmingham C.I.D. Officers who were the subject of the Mächent Report (who incidentally were under the direct command of Mr. Baumber) your decision and inaction is nonetheless, in law, a felony.

Apart from publicly displaying your obvious contempt for the ordinary principles of law and common injustice, your policy may be equated with 'misprison.'

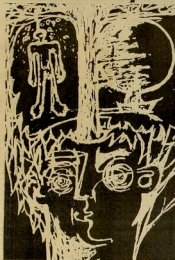

In the latter part of 1965 in a case, the first of it's kind, a man was charged with criminal libel in that he accused a police officer with the stealing of £10 and, on conviction was sentenced to three years imprisonment. In my letter to the Director of Public Prosecutions dated 5th. November, a copy of which was sent to you, I quoted the foregoing case and publicly named the police officers together with my accusations. In 'The International Times' dated 10th. November, 1966, copies of which were sent to both you and the D.P.P. these allegations were repeated and the officers were named.

If the evidence contained in my dossier of 'The Fletcher Case' is not accepted by you as being conclusive in establishing the innocence of the Fletchers' and the guilt of Mr. Gerald of the Fletchers' and the D.P.P. or Mr. Baumber—I challenge you, the D.P.P. or Mr. Baumber himself to prosecute me for criminal libel. Alternatively, explain why the man who was sentenced to three years imprisonment was presented for a relatively minor libel whilst I go scot free.

Your silence in these matters is eloquent enough and, in those circumstances, I have to advise you that, in the absence of positive action by you I shall, on the 6th. February, at Bow Street Magistrates' Court apply to that Court for the arrest and trial of yourself and the Director of Public Prosecutions on a joint indictment of Misprison of felony with intent to obstruct and pervert the course of justice.

I AM speaking from this pulpit conscious of history, of my role as poet, of the addresses and essays in public consciousness by my transcendental predecessors in this city, with all the awesome prophecies about these States pronounced by Thoreau and Emerson, and elsewhere the more naked Whitman: prophecies that have now come true.

—I say of all this tremendous and dominant play of solely materialistic bearings upon current life in the United States, with the results already seen, accumulating, and reaching far into the future, that they must either be confronted and met by at least an equally subtle force-infusion for purposes of spiritualization, for the pure conscience, for genuine esthetics, and for absolute and primal manliness and womanliness — or else our modern civilization, with all its improvements, is in vain, and we are on the road to a destiny, a status, equivalent, in its real world, to that of the fabled damned." — Democratic Vistas

Because our governors and politicians have failed to perceive the obvious I wish to make some political suggestions to this community; I make them as Poet, and claim powers of Prophecy as did the good grey herds before me in this country, because one who looks in his heart and speaks frankly can claim to prophesy. And what is Prophecy? I can not propose right and wrong, or objective future event such as purple balloons on Jupiter in 1984, but I can have the confidence to trust my own fantasy and express my own private thought. All have this gift of prophecy, who dare assume it though?

The present condition of life for American Person is one of deathly public solitude. We've built a technological Tower of Babel around ourselves, and are literally (as in German) reaching into heaven to escape the planet. Now giant overpopulation depends on a vast metallic superstructure to feed and transport all the bodies here together. The stuporously machinery surrounding us conditions our "thoughts feelings and apparent sensory impressions," and reinforces our mental slavery to the material universe we've invented in.

Yet according to Chuang Tzu 2,500 years ago, "The understanding of the men of ancient times went a long way. How far did it go? To the point where some of them believed that things have never existed — so far, to the end, where nothing can be added . . . Worlds like these will be labeled the Supreme Swindle. Yet, after ten thousand generations, a great sage may appear who will know their meaning, and it will still be as though he appeared with astonishing speed." Years appearing in Ireland this century declared:

"This preposterous pig of a world, its farrow that so solid seem
Must vanish on an instant, did the mind but change
Its theme."

How can we Americans make our minds — change theme? For unless the theme changes — encrustation of the planet with machinery, inorganic metal smog violent courage and mass murder will take place. We witness these horrors already.

Abruptly then, I will make a first proposal, on one level symbolic, but to be taken as literally as possible, it may shock some and delight others. That everybody who hears my voice, directly or indirectly, try the chemical LSD at least once, every man, woman and child American in good health over the age of 14 — that, if necessary, we have a mass emotional nervous breakdown in these States once and for all, that we see bankers laughing in their revolving doors with strange staring eyes. May everybody in America turn on, whatever the transient law — because individual soul development (as once declared by a poet in jail in this city) is our law transcending the illusions of the political state. Soul also transcends LSD, may I add. To reassure those like myself who would fear a chemical dictatorship, I propose, then, that everybody including the President and his and our vast boards of generals, executives, judges and legislators of these States go to nature, find a kindly teacher or Indian psychic chief or guru guide, and assay their consciousness with LSD.

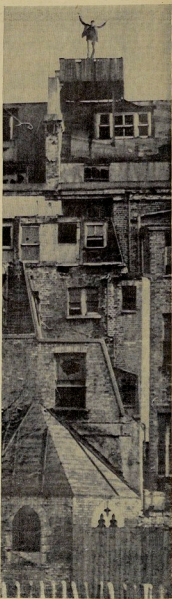

Then, I prophesy, we will all have seen some ray of glory or vastness beyond our conditioned social roles, beyond our government, beyond America even, that will unite us, into a peaceable community.

The LSD I am proposing is literal. I hope it will be understood as not THE solution, but a, Typical, and spiritually revolutionary catalyst, where many varieties of spiritual revolution are necessary to transcend specifically the political COLD WAR we are all involved in.

Anger and control of anger is our problem. Already we have enough insight into politics to be aware of one very simple thing: that we can judge all politics and all public speech and ideology by perceiving the measure of anger manifested therein. All present political parties propose violence to resolve our confusions, as at Vietnam. We might look for a third party, specifically named a Peace Party — referring to individual subjective peaceableness found as we have not seen in our populace (or our leaders) as well as consequent public peaceableness; a party founded on psychology not ideology. We obviously need to feed China and India not ignore, manipulate, or threaten to destroy them. The earth is yet to be saved from our aggression, and living organic life like unto our own nature be replaced on its surface which has been overgrown with cancerous inanimate matter, metal and asphalt. And the many mammal species have been made extinct in this century, there are many we can yet save including our-sees.

Driving out of NY or into Boston at night we see the transparent apparitional glitter of buildings walling the horizon, and we know that these are transient spectators. In cold daylight we believe in their finality. But it is that half-dreaming insight of normal consciousness that may provide the direction for our imagination to manifest itself in the material world.

What can the young do with themselves faced with this American version of the planet? The most sensitive and among the "best minds" do drop out. They wander over the body of the nation looking into the faces of their elders, they wear long Adamic hair and form Kristian communities in the dunes, they pilgrimizing to Big Sur and live naked in forests seeking natural vision and meditation, they smell in the Lower East Side as if it were an hermetic forest. And they assemble thousands together as they have done this year in Central Park San Francisco and Washington Park in New York to manifest their peaceableness in demonstrations of Fantasy that transcend protest against — or for — the hostilities of Vietnam. Young men and women speckled clothes, mustache, garb, jeweler's robes, carrying balloons, signs "President you are praying for you", gathered chanting Hindu and Buddhist mantras to calm their fellow citizens who are depressed entrapped in a planetary barbarous brawl.

But there has been no recognition (farther Zosovian's famous cry) of this young. What's lacking in the great institutions of learning? The specific wisdom discipline that they young propose: search into inner space.

Children drop out of schools because there are no, or few, or wrong, Gurus. Those elders concerned with this practical problem might consider that there is an easy practical solution: the establishment within centers of learning of facilities for wisdom search which the world has proposed as the true function of education in the first place: academies of self-awareness, and spiritual teaching, darshan with holymen of disciplined mind-consciousness. One might well, in fact, employ madmen and beatniks as instructors in this department, and thereby officially recognize and protect the social validity of exploration of inner space. Tibetan monks, swamis, yogins and yoginis, psychedelic gurus, American spirit chiefs, even a few finished Zen Roshis and many profound poets are already present, and available in our cities for such work, though at present they battle immigration bureaucracies and scholarly heads of departments of Oriental Religions.

What is the young proposing as policy, for what community we have, is self-education as Official Politics and Official Politics of Control of Africa. While state propaganda reversed as that directing spiritual teaching and research in that direction and equips to the government for vast sums of money equal to the outer-space program; and consequent billboards on the highways "Control Your Anger — Be Aware of Yourself".

There is a change of consciousness among the younger generations, in a direction always latent to Elmer Anderson, toward the most complete public frankness possible. As the Gloucester poet Charles Olson formulated it, "Private is public, and public is how we behave." This means revision of standards of public behavior to include indications of private manners heretofore excluded from public consciousness.

Thus, new social standards, more equivalent to private desire — as there is increased sexual illumination, new social codes may be found acceptable to rid ourselves of fear of our own nakedness, rejection of our own bodies.

Likely an enlarged family unit will emerge for many citizens; possibly, as the Zen Buddhist anarchist anthropologist Gary Snyder observed, with matrilineal descent as contrary to these daktins whose adharma or holy path is the sexual liberation and teaching of Dharma to many frightened males (including myself) of their own. Children may be held in common, with the orgy of acceptance, community increasing and sharing, and an acceptor closer together. Certainly one might suggest the Birch Society to partake in naked orgy, and the police with their wives, together with Terri Jones the brilliant poet. America's political need is organic in the parks, on Boston Common and in the Public Gardens, with naked bacchantes in our national forests.

I am not proposing idealistic fancies. I am acknowledging what is already happening among the young in fact and fantasy, and proposing official recognition for these breakthroughs of community spirit. Among the young we find a new breed of White Indians in California, confronting with illuminated desert redskins; we find our teenagers dancing Nigerian Yoruba dances and entering trance states to the electric vibration of the Beatles who have borrowed shamanism from African sources. We find continual religious use of gongs, the new sacred to Mahadev (Great Lord) Shiva. The young heard the spread of mantra chanting in private and such public manifestations as peace marches, and soon we will have Mantra Rock over the airwaves. All the available traditions of U.S. Indian vision-quest, peyote ritual, mask dancing, Oriental pranayama, east Indian drum music are becoming available to the U.S. unconscious through the spiritual search of the young. Simultaneously there is a new Diaspora of Tibetan Lamaist initiates; texts such as the Book of the Dead and I Ching have found fair-chooked and dark-browed and Kansas devotees. And rumor from the West Coast this season brings the legendary Havelra Tantra — a document central to Vajrayana Buddhism's Lightning-bolt Illumination — into public light as a source book for antinomistic rituals. LSD structured by ancient disciplines for meditation and community regulation.

Ideas I have dwelled on are mixed: there is some prescription for public utopia thru education in inner space. There is more prescription here for the individual: as always, the old command to free ourselves from social conditioning, laws and traditional mores.

And discover the Gurm in our own hearts. — And set forth with the New Wilderness of machine America to explore open spaces of consciousness Set and fellow Selves. If there be the necessary revolution in America it will come that way. It's up to us older hairs who still have relation with some of the joy of youth and to encourage this revolutionary individualism.

But how can peaceful psychological politics succeed when $50 billion a year is spent to buy participation in armed conflict? "Vietnam War Brings Prosperity" — headline Lincoln, Nebraska Star, February 1966. Certainly the awareness itself of this condition will help some of us, as did Ike's warning against the military-industrial complex running the mind of the nation.

As a side note, there are specific individuals combating the mental dictatorship over "thoughts, feelings and apparent sensory impressions" imposed on us by military-industrial control of language and imagery in public media. W. S. Burroughs has provided a whole armamentarium of counter-brainwash techniques: cut-up of newspapers and ads, collage of political and entertainment news to reveal the secret intention of the Senneders, observation of TV imagery with sound off and simultaneous appreciation of noises on the radio or street. These methods are effective in jolting the soft machine of the brain out of its conditioned hypnosis. Cutting out, or dropping out, of the culture will not lead to a chaos of individuality: what it will mean, for the young, is training in meditation and art (and perhaps meditative love), and responsibility of a new order, to the community of the heart, not to our heart-less society wherein we have read the headline in the Omaha World Herald: "Risk Says Toughness Essential For Peace".

The "oversold" to be discovered is a pragmatic reality. We can all tell signs of an illuminated man in business or the church — one who is open-hearted, non-judging, empathetic, compassionate to the rejected and condemned. The tolerant one, the Observer, the Aware. And we see that these seeds do influence for good.

Finally, detachment comes naturally; we all know the war is camp, hate is camp, murder is camp, even love is camp, the universe is a grand camp according to Chuang Tzu and the Pratanaramita Sutra. This detachment is salvation. We have an international youth society of solitary children — silajig, provo, beat, maffala, madaida, engersomero, mod and rocker — all aghast at the space age herce world they are born to, and not habituated to — and now questioning the nature of the universe itself as is proper in the space age.

There are many contradictions here, especially between proposed communal sex orgy and contemplative choiceless awareness (as the sage Krishnamurti articulated in this Fall in New York). Whitman noticed that too: "Do I contradict myself? Very well, I contradict myself." A dialogue between these contradictions is a good healthy way of life, one correcting the other. Indulgence in sexuality and sensual ecstasy may well lead to contemplative awareness of desire and cessation of desire.

"I know what when looks unmet
I tremble to the bone,
The more I leave the door unshut
The sooner love is gone."

What satisfaction is now possible for the young? Only the satisfaction of their Desire — love, the body, and orgy; the satisfaction of a peaceful natural community where they can circulate and explore Persons, cities, and the nature of the planet — the satisfaction of encouraged self-awareness, and the satiety and cessation of desire, anger, grasping and craving.

Respect for the old? Yea when the old are tranquil and not nervous, and respect the sport of the young. Holymen do inspire respect. One conservative Vaishnavite Swami Bhaktikavants moved into the Lower East Side this year and immediately dozens of young LSD freak-outs flocked to sing the Harekrishna Mahantra with him — chant for the preservation of the planet.

But a nation of elders convinced that spiritual search is immaturity, and that national war and metallic communion is maturity, cannot ask for respect from the young. For the present context of this country in America is a reflection of lack of Self respect.

I am in effect putting up moral codes and standards which include drugs, orgy, music and primitive magic as worship rituals — educational standards which are supposedly contrary to our cultural mores, and I am proposing these standards to your respectable ministers, me and for all, that you endorse publicly the private desire and knowledge of mankind in America, so to include the young.

It may appear from this address that I find myself increasingly alienated from the feeling-tone, ideology and conduct of the supposed majority of my fellow citizens: thus the title Public Solitude. But I do not feel myself alienated from all our inmost private desire, which this prophet Walt Whitman articulated in his second preface to his life work 90 years ago, still rationally expressive of our hearts in Space-age America.

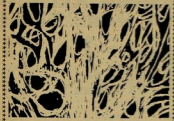

"Something more may be added — for, while I am about it, I would make a full confession. I also sent out "Leaves of Grass" to anyone and set flowing in man's and women's hearts, young and old, endless streams of fire, pulsating love and friendship, directly from them to myself, now and ever. To this terrible, irrevocable, wearying, lustre more or less down undermeath in most human souls) this never-satisfied appetite for sympathy, and this boundless offering of sympathy — this universal democratic comradeship — old, eternal, yet ever-new interchange of adhesiveness, so fully emblematic of America — I have given, so that both unadquisitely, declared, and in openest expression. Besides, important that are in my purpose as emotional expressions for clarity of the special meaning of the "Calamus," because of "Leaves of Grass" and more or less running through the book, and cropping out in "Drum-Taps" mainly resides in its political significance. In my opinion, it is by a fervent, accepted development of comradeship and cropping out in the same affection of man for man, latent in all the young fellows, north and south, east and west, — it is by this, I say, and by what goes directly and indirectly along with it, that the United States of the future (I cannot too often repeat) are to be most effectively welded together, intercalated, annealed into a living unity."

WHY ARE UFO'S MAKING EVERYONE'S SLEEP?

FIND IT necessary as a point of basic intelligence to attempt to take account of the fact that intelligent life from outer space has visited Earth? It is easily generated in many different scientific environments, and there are many stars with planets that have chemistries virtually identical to our own. If life on Mars progressed from pre-solar terrestrial conditions to moon rocks in a couple of billion years, isn't it reasonable to assume that somewhere in the infinite universe something similar is happening? Or has happened? And when there are thousands of credible incidents of sightings of extremely peculiar and consistent phenomena reported throughout the world in the very recent years, is it not better thinking to look for the cause than to be the prey of extra-terrestrial life by accepting an "unproven" explanation?

The individuals who made the following statements would agree that it is: Herman Oberst, the grand old man of German rocket technology, who has written some of the most famous books on rocket motors; Ed Snelson, who headed the Royal Air Force during the 1950's, and who has since of course the flying saucers are real; and who are considered by many to be the most reliable public relations officer for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, wrote: "I've been concerned for a long time that the flying saucers are not merely being watched by billions from outer space." Professor Jaynes Argentine, of the Cerro Casto Observatory in Argentina, said: "There is a scientific evidence that strange objects are entering this planet. It is undeniable that governments have a veil of secrecy around this matter." Benjamin Adelman Dehar, Embassy, Washington, said: "The individuals who are entering our atmosphere at very high speeds and obviously are intelligent creatures, we must solve this 'UFO' mystery." The Hon. John McCormack, Speaker of the House, wrote: "I feel that the Air Force has not been given all the available information on the unidentified flying objects. You are a responsible source." Dr. Walter Bielski, noted German rocket expert, stated flatly: "I am convinced that there are out-of-control UFO's."

It is becoming increasingly clear that the operations of the leading western nations are being run by a secret cooperation conspiracy to keep the true facts about the flying saucers from our own Air Force, which has been the only one of the UFO's since 1947, has prevented a systematic and wholehearted inspection of the military establishments of the great nations, and much valuable information.

In 1955, a UFO report by crashed nose Spitfire, Norway. The Norwegian government was quoted as saying that they had found a flying saucer, badly damaged, but recognizably extra-terrestrial in origin. Colonel Darby of the Norwegian Air Force stated: "I know this was not to be emphatically denied, but built by any other way on earth. The materials used in its construction are completely unknown to all our scientific circles who participated in the investigation." An extensive report would not be issued, in Colonel Darby's words, until some serious facts had been discussed with U.S. and British experts. We should note what we have found out, as mentioned "secrecy" might lead to private revelations.

The American and Russian policy of secrecy, during the past few years, has not only prevented the Norwegian investigation, but was in the strange position of allowing both governments to reveal their own long-standing secret. The obvious fact of origins were silence probably by government pressure. No report ever was issued.

The incidents of the regression of the fields about saucer sightings by our government are numbered in the thousands, and this clearly is another indication of the UFO's extraterrestrial origin. Why, indeed, has the space program proceeded so slowly? Certainly the cause is not lack of technical equipment. Our own government always reacts with a zeal and persistence which any nation or fan that threatens in any way to "invade" America's continent.

Whether it is a military or a civilian, the fact that the Air Force has not been given all the available information on the unidentified flying objects. You are a responsible source." Dr. Walter Bielski, noted German rocket expert, stated flatly: "I am convinced that there are out-of-control UFO's."

It is becoming increasingly clear that the operations of the leading western nations are being run by a secret cooperation conspiracy to keep the true facts about the flying saucers from our own Air Force, which has been the only one of the UFO's since 1947, has

As well as in months and years, the passage of time is measured in periods of great length, periods known to early pre-Egyptian civilizations which recorded their cycles. The end of one such period, the age of Pisces, which coincided with the reign of Christianity, is now at hand, and the spring-point is entering Aquarius. As such, according to all precedents, significant changes must be expected, involving a shift in the archetypes and leading to chaos and bewilderment for those not prepared to receive them. Already the symptoms and portents of these changes are becoming apparent.

This was the last message of C. G. Jung in his book, Flying Saucers published in 1959, a book destined as the time, but now appearing more and more obviously so. The time which Lenin forewarned when our obsession with police and centrally directed systems would be replaced with an entirely new system of thought, in new structure, partly as the result of our growing consciousness of the existence of extra-terrestrial life.

Already politicians and their world soon remote and irrelevant. Some event is awaited which will signal the end of the old and open our minds to a further realization of our potential. What form this event will take is impossible to say for it will involve us in experiences and situations for which we lack any precedent and can not therefore express in language even in thought. All we can do to prepare ourselves for the magnitude of the change to come is to study that period in the remote past when our own dissimative event was about to occur.

RUSSIANS

As far as we can tell, the first and most recent of the great crises in human history was that which culminated in the dissolution of our present concept of civilization, the appearance on earth of a force remote outside the terrestrial realm. The re-interpretation of mythology and all our subsequent religious ideas, in the light of the recognition that this event is an immense and urgent task to which certain people, including an influential group of scientists, are being called, are now applying themselves. In this the Russians have the advantage that they do not have to reckon with the religious dogmas which still inhibit their western colleagues. This is a religious situation, in fact it represents a return to an earlier and purer form of religion than that contained in Christianity.

Earlier religions were concerned above all with understanding the nature of God and the spiritual nature of the human soul of the universe, whereas Christianity represents a step away from this rather than an approach in an understanding of the higher forms of life outside the earth. It may therefore be said that the approach of the Bible of Soviet scholars such as Professor Agrest is more truly religious than that of strictly Christian theologians.

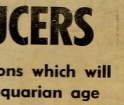

Agrest uses in the Old Testament traces of traditional mythology of ancient Mesopotamia. An article published some years ago in L'Espresso magazine gave his interpretation of certain Bible passages in terms of an invasion of the earth in the past by a more advanced race of people who, he suggests, built the gigantic stone pyramids and other structures on earth for their space craft. The extraordinary universality of archetypal myths is explained by Agrest by noting that the times when the aerial or south of an event occurred a vast stream on the human mind.

This way of thought which considers the UFO's as a form of extraterrestrial communication, shared by many Soviet scientists, the famous astrophysicist, Shklovski, believes that certain prehistoric races, particularly those found in the Sahara desert, had a knowledge of extraterrestrial life, and he has been shown by calculation that the age of the peatler settlements of Man is better than the generally accepted date. Another leading scholar, the paleontologist, Gerasimov, states that people from outer space may have been responsible for what appears to be bullet holes in the skulls of animals and men thousands of years ago.

The possibility that an alien race may be infiltrating human society has always been an influence in Russian literature. Dostoevski, in particular was obsessed by the figure of the alien among men. And a short story published a year ago in Encounter by Sorokov, one of the two Soviet writers recently seen to predict, described the plight of an extra-terrestrial compelled to live unobtrusively in a human community.

A great deal of evidence points to one origin for the tradition on which our civilization is based. At some period in the remote past, after aerial ages without any communication of the possibility of another way of life, men were suddenly faced with an incredible vision, the arrival of an

MR & MRS HILL

Already our revived consciousness of the mysterious discs in the sky has brought forth a number of old beliefs, which, since the days when the Gods had appeared on earth, had been on the fringe. The dramatic events associated with flying saucer reports are becoming identified with the legendary other race which has always been known to exist alongside our own. Whereas in the past it was fairies, sprites and magical beings the fringes of our world, impregnated by modern reports of extraterrestrial encounters, these reports are now being identified with those legends found in the myths of the world which specify the mating of a man with a goddess, or the appearance of a new being, often explicitly described as one which has descended from the sky into a flying saucer.

Among the Aleksei Indians, a race with many traditions clearly deriving from the time of open contact with the gods, the vehicle in which the erotic woman of the gods, or the goddess, is depicted is levitated by the stroke of its occupants, and the sound of its motor is said to resemble the powers of sound in cosmic movement and light. There is indeed evidence to suggest that this power may have been rediscovered by certain individuals, recent times, notably by John Henry of Philadelphia at the end of the 19th century, but, as so often happens with inventions which may threaten the preservation of our own companies, they have been persecuted and their discoverers suppressed.

The more people that a generally recognized to have seen flying saucers, the more the reports are being reported for until recent years, the number of alleged sightings has increased. The only two nations which have reported sightings are into it are the societies of amateur researchers and the governments and military leaders of the great powers concerned at the appearance of the mysterious flying discs, and now the flying saucer phenomenon is coming more and more to be accepted as a potent of great events shortly to be expected.

THE GODS

Just as the sight of the god's flying discs gave removal men their first indication of the mind-expanding vision which the coming of the space people represented, so today the mysterious objects in the sky are once again opening up a new point of our revelation for some degree of freedom from the shackles of our own sense, leading to preparation for an event, may be seen in other recent developments such as the new interest in psychotropic drugs and in astrology as a means of increasing the larger patterns of the rhythm of time.

The remarkable record of interest in UFO's in popular thought through the compact telescope, and among serious students of this ancient science, is the most impressive force astrology plays as part as our present observational science, where where the mystery of the old gods and civilizations it was studied in the extension of everything earthly. Its resurgence in the last few years, in the form of the use of the esoteric of the esoteric flying discs, as described in the ancient works of the approaching revelations of the Aquarian Age.

extra-terrestrial race descending to earth in circular airplanes, according to early myths, expressed in oral tradition and in ancient Prehistoric illustrations. These people, the gods, flew through the air in a form described of the same way as our flying saucers today.

The study of the early legends relating to flying saucers in the past, the discovery of the artificial satellites and the presence of those billion miles in Britain and elsewhere where the mystery of the old gods and their circular airships will survive as an eternally important source of information from which the world is urgently needed. ERTAEHT

AFTER years of threats, promises, and false starts, there has at last been a real underground theatre production in London. (By that I mean a theatre set contained and isolated from the "professional" theatre in every possible way.) Last Monday, and Tuesday nights, in the conspicuously unadvertised basement of Better Books, Jeff Nuttall presented his first piece, THE PEOPLE SHOW. It was an almost complete success and the standard was well above that of comparable New York — OB Broadway presentations. The piece has managed to do with physiological actualities, lasts about fifty minutes, and is rumored to have been scheduled for a presentation either at the Uncensored Market, or a future UFO showing. It's a real treat for those who have given up hope for the Cochrane. Watch out for it.

Meanwhile Jeff and his anti-professional aggressors are reported to be working on a new piece for a Better Books showing in two weeks. — JACK H. MOORE
