

America and the New Era

A number of friends, actively identified with the Administration, have in a number of Congress, through amendments and the like, attempted to amend the Federal Civil Rights Act of 1964. In the past, the power of the Congress has been used to amend the Act in order to broaden its scope of effect. It is now a matter of fact that the Administration has been unable to get the Act amended in any way. This is a significant change in the Administration's position on the Act.

The Act, in the original stage of its establishment, it is known to be a law which is intended to be enforced, not only in the past, but also in the future. It is a law which is intended to be enforced, not only in the past, but also in the future. It is a law which is intended to be enforced, not only in the past, but also in the future.

It is a law which is intended to be enforced, not only in the past, but also in the future. It is a law which is intended to be enforced, not only in the past, but also in the future. It is a law which is intended to be enforced, not only in the past, but also in the future.

It is a law which is intended to be enforced, not only in the past, but also in the future. It is a law which is intended to be enforced, not only in the past, but also in the future. It is a law which is intended to be enforced, not only in the past, but also in the future.

Amendments to the New Frontier

A number of friends, actively identified with the Administration, have in a number of Congress, through amendments and the like, attempted to amend the Federal Civil Rights Act of 1964. In the past, the power of the Congress has been used to amend the Act in order to broaden its scope of effect. It is now a matter of fact that the Administration has been unable to get the Act amended in any way. This is a significant change in the Administration's position on the Act.

It is a law which is intended to be enforced, not only in the past, but also in the future. It is a law which is intended to be enforced, not only in the past, but also in the future. It is a law which is intended to be enforced, not only in the past, but also in the future.

It is a law which is intended to be enforced, not only in the past, but also in the future. It is a law which is intended to be enforced, not only in the past, but also in the future. It is a law which is intended to be enforced, not only in the past, but also in the future.

THE CIVIL RIGHTS MOVEMENT

The American public has witnessed a change in the civil rights and established power in America since the passage of the Act. The power of the Congress has been used to amend the Act in order to broaden its scope of effect. It is now a matter of fact that the Administration has been unable to get the Act amended in any way. This is a significant change in the Administration's position on the Act.

It is a law which is intended to be enforced, not only in the past, but also in the future. It is a law which is intended to be enforced, not only in the past, but also in the future. It is a law which is intended to be enforced, not only in the past, but also in the future.

It is a law which is intended to be enforced, not only in the past, but also in the future. It is a law which is intended to be enforced, not only in the past, but also in the future. It is a law which is intended to be enforced, not only in the past, but also in the future.

It is a law which is intended to be enforced, not only in the past, but also in the future. It is a law which is intended to be enforced, not only in the past, but also in the future. It is a law which is intended to be enforced, not only in the past, but also in the future.

S.T.O.P.

Every citizen has the right to be heard in the hearing of the Federal Civil Rights Act of 1964.

to Present Form

It is a law which is intended to be enforced, not only in the past, but also in the future. It is a law which is intended to be enforced, not only in the past, but also in the future. It is a law which is intended to be enforced, not only in the past, but also in the future.

It is a law which is intended to be enforced, not only in the past, but also in the future. It is a law which is intended to be enforced, not only in the past, but also in the future. It is a law which is intended to be enforced, not only in the past, but also in the future.

It is a law which is intended to be enforced, not only in the past, but also in the future. It is a law which is intended to be enforced, not only in the past, but also in the future. It is a law which is intended to be enforced, not only in the past, but also in the future.

It is a law which is intended to be enforced, not only in the past, but also in the future. It is a law which is intended to be enforced, not only in the past, but also in the future. It is a law which is intended to be enforced, not only in the past, but also in the future.

It is a law which is intended to be enforced, not only in the past, but also in the future. It is a law which is intended to be enforced, not only in the past, but also in the future. It is a law which is intended to be enforced, not only in the past, but also in the future.

It is a law which is intended to be enforced, not only in the past, but also in the future. It is a law which is intended to be enforced, not only in the past, but also in the future. It is a law which is intended to be enforced, not only in the past, but also in the future.

The establishment of a new system is a significant step in the history of the American people. It is a law which is intended to be enforced, not only in the past, but also in the future. It is a law which is intended to be enforced, not only in the past, but also in the future.

It is a law which is intended to be enforced, not only in the past, but also in the future. It is a law which is intended to be enforced, not only in the past, but also in the future. It is a law which is intended to be enforced, not only in the past, but also in the future.

THE DILEMMA OF LABOR AND LIBERAL POLICY

The American public has witnessed a change in the civil rights and established power in America since the passage of the Act. The power of the Congress has been used to amend the Act in order to broaden its scope of effect. It is now a matter of fact that the Administration has been unable to get the Act amended in any way. This is a significant change in the Administration's position on the Act.

It is a law which is intended to be enforced, not only in the past, but also in the future. It is a law which is intended to be enforced, not only in the past, but also in the future. It is a law which is intended to be enforced, not only in the past, but also in the future.

It is a law which is intended to be enforced, not only in the past, but also in the future. It is a law which is intended to be enforced, not only in the past, but also in the future. It is a law which is intended to be enforced, not only in the past, but also in the future.

It is a law which is intended to be enforced, not only in the past, but also in the future. It is a law which is intended to be enforced, not only in the past, but also in the future. It is a law which is intended to be enforced, not only in the past, but also in the future.

America and the New Era

The new Congress and other governmental bodies, a wide variety of political activities in the neighborhoods and communities themselves are focused toward organized action including mass rallies and voter registration campaigns among students, political education and voter registration campaigns, "peace" programs, youth and community action projects, neighborhood health centers, health centers for the poor, health care after school hours, local attempts to reach public school youth, discussion groups, pamphlets and circulars aimed at students and parents of urban and suburban schools. There is growing concern over the educational system, especially in inner city areas where there is a growing awareness of the need to improve the quality of education. There is a growing awareness of the need to improve the quality of education. There is a growing awareness of the need to improve the quality of education.

The success of these efforts increasing student participation could be the impetus for a new political movement, but it is not clear that this is the case. The success of these efforts increasing student participation could be the impetus for a new political movement, but it is not clear that this is the case. The success of these efforts increasing student participation could be the impetus for a new political movement, but it is not clear that this is the case.

New Strategic Objectives

The new strategic objectives are first to focus on the inner city and urban areas, then to focus on the educational system, then to focus on the quality of education, then to focus on the quality of education, then to focus on the quality of education.

1. A national labor movement is organizing the labor movement into a movement with mass appeal through fighting for equality and social justice. The new strategic objectives are first to focus on the inner city and urban areas, then to focus on the educational system, then to focus on the quality of education, then to focus on the quality of education.

2. To focus on the inner city and urban areas, then to focus on the educational system, then to focus on the quality of education, then to focus on the quality of education.

3. To focus on the inner city and urban areas, then to focus on the educational system, then to focus on the quality of education, then to focus on the quality of education.

An End to Middle Class Values

The great American middle class has died and is replaced by a new class of inner city and urban areas, then to focus on the educational system, then to focus on the quality of education, then to focus on the quality of education.

4. To focus on the inner city and urban areas, then to focus on the educational system, then to focus on the quality of education, then to focus on the quality of education.

A New Campaign

The national effort of democratic ally organizations increased their efforts in the South and urban and rural areas by the Kennedy Administration. The new strategic objectives are first to focus on the inner city and urban areas, then to focus on the educational system, then to focus on the quality of education, then to focus on the quality of education.

5. To focus on the inner city and urban areas, then to focus on the educational system, then to focus on the quality of education, then to focus on the quality of education.

6. To focus on the inner city and urban areas, then to focus on the educational system, then to focus on the quality of education, then to focus on the quality of education.

7. To focus on the inner city and urban areas, then to focus on the educational system, then to focus on the quality of education, then to focus on the quality of education.

8. To focus on the inner city and urban areas, then to focus on the educational system, then to focus on the quality of education, then to focus on the quality of education.

A NEW VISION OF AMERICA

Political organization is necessary without political progress. Political and economic organization are necessary for the creation of a new vision of America.

The organizational effort to build a new vision of America is necessary for the creation of a new vision of America.

9. To focus on the inner city and urban areas, then to focus on the educational system, then to focus on the quality of education, then to focus on the quality of education.

10. To focus on the inner city and urban areas, then to focus on the educational system, then to focus on the quality of education, then to focus on the quality of education.

11. To focus on the inner city and urban areas, then to focus on the educational system, then to focus on the quality of education, then to focus on the quality of education.

12. To focus on the inner city and urban areas, then to focus on the educational system, then to focus on the quality of education, then to focus on the quality of education.

13. To focus on the inner city and urban areas, then to focus on the educational system, then to focus on the quality of education, then to focus on the quality of education.

14. To focus on the inner city and urban areas, then to focus on the educational system, then to focus on the quality of education, then to focus on the quality of education.

15. To focus on the inner city and urban areas, then to focus on the educational system, then to focus on the quality of education, then to focus on the quality of education.

16. To focus on the inner city and urban areas, then to focus on the educational system, then to focus on the quality of education, then to focus on the quality of education.

17. To focus on the inner city and urban areas, then to focus on the educational system, then to focus on the quality of education, then to focus on the quality of education.

New Politics

The political movement is necessary for the creation of a new vision of America. The new strategic objectives are first to focus on the inner city and urban areas, then to focus on the educational system, then to focus on the quality of education, then to focus on the quality of education.

18. To focus on the inner city and urban areas, then to focus on the educational system, then to focus on the quality of education, then to focus on the quality of education.

19. To focus on the inner city and urban areas, then to focus on the educational system, then to focus on the quality of education, then to focus on the quality of education.

