 On Strike

Mexican students on hunger strike

An hour of Mexican students' solidarity marches demonstrated their concern and led to strikes at the State Dept. in Chicago and at the University of Illinois. The strike was called off in response to the arrival of Mexican and Americanized food supply in the kitchen on Jan. 12.

The first demonstration occurred at the University of Illinois on Jan. 12 at the State Dept. and was followed by a strike at the State Dept. on Jan. 13. Over 100 Mexican students, mostly high school students, took part in the strike.

Early on Jan. 12 thousands of students demonstrated and picketed in front of the State Dept. building in Chicago. The students, many of whom were from the University of Illinois, were led by a group of 100 students. The group began to march on the campus of the University of Illinois. Students who attended the Jan. 13 meetings at the University of Illinois were led to the State Dept. building.
