Welcome To Malaysia

Malaysia had been controlled by several colonists. After World War II, Britain resumed control again, but Malaya's independence movement had matured and organized itself in an alliances under Tunku Abdul Rahman. When the British flag was finally lowered in Kuala Lumpur's Merdeka Square on 31st August 1957, Tunku became the first prime minister of Malaya.

In 1961, the term 'Malaysia' came into being after Tunku convinced Singapore, Sabah and Sarawak to join Malaya in a Federal Union. But Singapore later opted out of the union peacefully in 1965.

Today, Malaysia comprises 13 states and 3 Federal Territories. Thirteen states are Perlis, Kedah, Pulau Pinang, Perak, Selangor, Melaka, Johor, Pahang, Kelantan, Terengganu, Negeri Sembilan, Sabah and Sarawak while the three Federal Territories are Kuala Lumpur, Putrajaya and Labuan.

Nine of the states have a hereditary ruler respectively from which the Supreme Head of state, the Yang Di-Pertuan Agong is elected every five years. The government is based on parliamentary democracy. The Prime Minister heads the cabinet of ministers.

National flag of Malaysia, the fourteen red and white stripes stand for the equal status in the federation of the states and the government. The dark blue represents the unity of the people, the crescent is the symbol of Islam, the fourteen points of the star symbolizes the unity of the 13 states of the federation with the federal government. The yellow crescent and star is the royal colour of the rulers.

Where It All Began

Malacca is an extraordinary city with an ancient legacy that dates back to 1396 when exiled Sumatran prince, Parameswara, founded it. It soon flourished into a bustling business hub for seafaring nations including the Chinese, Indians, Arabs, South Americans, Portuguese, Dutch and English.

As history evolved, the Portuguese in 1511, Dutch in 1641 and British in 1824 colonized this city until it achieved its independence with other Malaysian state on August 31st 1957. The fact that the proclamation of independence by Tunku Abdul Rahman Putra Al-Haj, Malaysia's first Prime Minister, was held at the Padang Pahlawan, Bandar Hill Malacca on 20th February 1956 speaks volumes of its historic significance to Malaysia.

This cosmopolitan legacy has seen the fusion of a cloverleaf of cultures- Malay, Chinese, Indian, Chitty Baba & Nyonya and the Portuguese. Each of which has significantly influenced the architectural designs of homes and building in Malacca today.

Step into a timeless paradise and discover 600 years of rich heritage that is both glorious and colourful as we say it over here, "Visit Historic Malacca Means Visit Malaysia".

Spirit Of Harmony

The spirit of harmony is very evident in Malaysia and the finest example of this fusion of cultures can be traced back to the evolution of Malacca throughout its history.

By the end of the 15th century, Malacca was a prominent trading empire and the epicenter of activity where Arabs, Indians, Chinese, Europeans and others traded valuable commodities and resources.

The Portuguese invaded Malacca in 1511 followed by the Dutch in 1641 and the British in 1824. Each ruled with its own unique style and a lot of these influence Malacca in terms of cultural, political and social elements was assimilated over time.

Malacca achieved independence on 31st August 1957 along with other state of Malaysia and throughout this time has been a historical melting pot of cultures.

With the evolution of history, Malacca has become a fascinating mix of a rich vein of cultures including Malay, Chinese, Indian, Chitty, Baba & Nyonya and the Portuguese each with its own traditions, way of life, festivals, celebrations and cuisine.

Each step you take into this historic city will bring you closer to this timeless place that truly transcends racial and religious boundaries onverging into a fusion called the people of Malacca - Malaysian one and all.

House By The River 'The Living Gallery'

This apparently unremarkable Malacca shop house conceals a wealth of sensory experiences to delight the connoisseur of art, fine furnishing, textiles, ceramics and garden design.

It is in every way a "living gallery" where beautiful objects from the past vie for space with contemporary works of art still in production.

Little wonder that the House By The River is much in demand in its own right as a venue for high-class private functions and for the weddings of the discerning!

Art treasures on view often caught the eye of the proprietor. The furniture, tastefully arranged around the House, is a collection of antique piece reflecting the cultural heritage of local and regional tribes.

The aficionado will fail to spot the exquisitely delicate range of textiles including hand-woven silk runners produced by Laostian tribes. These vie for attention with some excellently restored art-deco teak settee sets from the more recent nineteen-fifties.

With so many delights on view it is surprising how airy the experience is. This is indeed a "living gallery" waiting to be discovered.
