Bhutan Private Journey

ABOUT PRIVATE JOURNEYS

Wilderness Travel Private Journeys are designed for people who want to travel with their own small private group, but who still want to experience the same superb itinerary design, great accommodations, and signature quality of Wilderness Travel's escorted group trips. These Private Journeys allow you to choose your own dates and your traveling companions—and enjoy the WT touch on all aspects of the journey.

In the serene, secluded Himalayan kingdom of Bhutan, spirituality permeates every aspect of daily life, traditional festivals are living manifestations of a national faith, and the king decrees “Gross National Happiness” as the standard by which to measure the country’s wealth. On this lodge-based Private Journey with your own private guide, hike to tiny villages of whitewashed homes, through magical forests, and up to mountainside chortens (shrines) bedecked with colorful prayer flags. Along the way from Thimphu, the capital, to the beautiful Paro and Punakha valleys, meet villagers, farmers, and red-robed monks, explore colorful markets, and marvel at the Shangri La setting of sublime fortress monasteries reigning over wooded valleys. Exciting optional add-ons include the opportunity to experience a traditional hot stone bath, get a reading by a Bhutanese astrologer, or visit a nunnery in the Punakha Valley.

Itinerary

Due to the limited availability of flights, guides, and accommodations, we strongly recommend you request your trip dates 6-12 months in advance, but we are happy to check closer dates as well.

Please Note: Make sure you arrange your travel plans to arrive in Bangkok at least one day before Day 1 of the itinerary. Overnight(s) are on your own in Bangkok.

DAY 1

BANGKOK / PARO (7,500') / THIMPHU (7,600')

An early morning flight from Bangkok, Thailand, brings you to Bhutan's emerald-green Paro Valley, where shrines dot the landscape and graceful willow trees grow along the edge of the Paro River as it winds through fields and farmlands. On arrival, you are met for a drive to Thimphu, the capital. The drive contours lovely mountain roads through countryside of terraced rice fields and dense rhododendron and pine forests. En route, you'll see your first examples of Bhutan's remarkable traditional architecture, one of the country's unique cultural treasures. Even the most remote village farmhouses are hand-crafted using the same ancient methods used to create Bhutan's religious fortress-dzongs. Along the way, you'll stop at the Iron Bridge, a large chain bridge built in the 15th century laced with prayer flags leading to Tachog Lhakhang. After arrival in Thimphu and lunch at a local restaurant, you will visit the beautiful Giant Buddha statue, perched on a hilltop overlooking the valley. This evening, enjoy a Welcome Dinner at your hotel. Overnight at hotel in Thimphu...LD

THIMPHU / CHERI MONASTERY

A short hike through a beautiful forest of oaks brings you up to Cheri Monastery, a 17th century monastery and Buddhist university where you'll see monks studying and carrying out their daily rituals. Later, head to Sangay Gang, where there is a sanctuary for the cattle-sized animal called the takin, the national animal of Bhutan. These rare Himalayan creatures resemble miniature American bison, standing about five feet high with large heads and front quarters. Later, you will have an optional astrological reading. Overnight at hotel...BLD

Hiking Details: Approximately 2 hours, 2.5 miles, 1,200 feet ascent/descent; Maximum Altitude: 9,600 feet

Thimphu: Thimphu was a wooded farming valley up until 1961, when it became Bhutan's official national capital. The massive Tashicho Dzong, about 700 years old, was carefully renovated in the 1960s by the late King Jigme Dorji Wangchuk to house the royal and main government offices. It is also the summer residence of the Je Khempo, Bhutan's chief abbot. King Jigme Dorji Wangchuk was the main architect of modern Bhutan. He died in 1972 and was succeeded by his son, Jigme Singye Wangchuk, who was 17 at the time. He abdicated the throne in 2006, as Bhutan changed to a constitutional monarchy, and his son, Jigme Khesar Namgyel Wangchuck (then 28), was crowned king and became the head of state in November 2008.

COUNTRYSIDE HIKE / PHOBJIKHA (9,800')

Boarding vehicles, drive to the Phobjikha Valley, on the western slope of the Black Mountains in eastern Bhutan. Along the way, cross the Dochu La (10,000'), whose summit is festooned with fluttering prayer flags and more than 100 chortens (stupas) dedicated to Bhutan's continued peace and happiness. From the pass, hike through a mixed forest of spruce, rhododendron, hemlock, oak, pine, and juniper to isolated Lungchuzekha Monastery (11,800'), surrounded by prayer flags. ## DAY 4

PHOBJIKHA (9,800') / GANGTEY MONASTERY

With its alpine setting in the absolute heart of Bhutan, the beautiful Phobjikha Valley is a high-altitude glacial valley featuring mixed forests of pine and rhododendron, with brushy grasslands on the valley floor. In the winter, a flock of 200-300 black-necked cranes (Grus nigricollis) migrates to this valley from Tibet to spend the winter foraging in the valley. The cranes are considered harbingers of good luck and have long been respected by the residents of the valley. Their arrival signals the villagers that it's time to pack up and move down to lower, warmer climes (the valley is snowed in during the winter months).

Hike from the lodge along a nature trail to the gold-roofed Gangtey Monastery, which sits on a prominent hilltop in the valley, or visit a local farmhouse. Later, visit the Crane Foundation Center, a museum and information center on the black cranes. Today, you will also have the option of a hot stone bath at a local farmhouse, a traditional therapeutic treatment in Bhutan. Overnight at Yue Loki Guest House...BLD

DAY 5

PELE LA PASS HIKE / PUNAKHA

A short drive brings you to Pele La Pass (11,220'), one of Bhutan's highest and traditionally considered the boundary between west and central Bhutan. You may see local craftspeople selling fine yak-hair products at the roadside here. From the pass, you'll set off on the Trans Bhutan Trail, which descends to the meadows of Longtey village (be sure to keep an eye out for the remote yak herder camps that can be seen scattered around the valley). You'll take a break in a traditional farmhouse in the village of Rukubji to enjoy a hot lunch, before visiting Rukubji's village lhakhang (temple), also known as Kuenzang Choling. It is believed that this temple was built some 300 years ago by a Lama named Tshendhen Duelwa. Unlike most temples, it is not built on a ridge with a view out over a valley, but rather on an extended plateau and close to two rivers. Legend has it that the Lama built the temple on top of the head of a snake-demoness that he subdued in the same location. After lunch, you'll drive to Punakha with the rest of the day at your leisure. You'll have the option to visit the Sangchen Dorji Lhuendrup nunnery, which overlooks the Punakha Valley. More than 100 nuns reside here, and inside the two-story temple a 14-foot bronze statue of Avalokiteshvara, Buddha of compassion and mercy, stands. It's a great place to meditate and catch a mesmerizing view of the Punakha Valley. Overnight at hotel...BLD

Hiking Time: 2.5 to 3 hours. Driving time: 2.5 hours

Classic Accommodation: Hotel Sonamgang, Dharma Siddhi Homes, or Spirit Village Lodge

See Lodging section of this itinerary for description and photos.

Punakha: The winter capital was located here in part because Punakha is a warm, well-watered valley with a relatively low altitude of 4,100 feet, allowing for the production of two rice crops each year. Oranges, mangoes, bananas, and even pomegranates are grown here. In Punakha, you may see people from the remote village of Laya. The Layap, as they are known, are yak herders who make the three- or four-day walk to Punakha from their high altitude villages in the Gasa district to trade. Women of Laya are recognizable by their conical bamboo hats with a center spike of bamboo. Laya's men wear distinctive black woolen cloaks.

KHAMSUM YULEY NAMGAY CHORTEN / PUNAKHA DZONG

The little village of Nezigang is the starting point for a hike through cultivated fields and small villages, with a gradual climb to the Khamsum Yuley Namgay Chorten, a shrine recently built by the royal family. It is an amazingly elaborate structure with a rainbow of Guru Rimpoche images and superb views of the Punakha Valley. Hike back down and enjoy a hot picnic lunch near the riverside, then follow ancient trails amid whitewashed farmhouses to the architectural wonder of the 17th century Punakha Dzong, Bhutan's former winter capital. The Punakha Dzong was built in 1637 at the confluence of the Mo Chu and Po Chu (“mother” and “father” rivers) by Shabdrung Ngawang Namgyal, who unified Bhutan in the 1630s and established the distinct Bhutanese culture separate from the Tibetan one from which it is derived. This vast, labyrinthine dzong has played a pivotal role in Bhutan’s history. The official name of the dzong is Druk Pungthang Decchen Phodrang, which translates to “the palace of great happiness.” Today it is the winter home of the Je Khempo, the head abbot of Bhutan, who in winter resides here with a retinue of 1,000 monks. Overnight at hotel...BLD

Itinerary

Approximate Hiking Time: 1-2 hours, 2 miles, 700 feet ascent/descent

DAY 7

CHIMI LHAKHANG / PARO

A half-hour walk through mustard fields brings you to Chimi Lhakhang (lhakhang means temple), a monastery and fertility temple dedicated to Lama Drukpa Kuenley, a Tibetan Buddhist saint known popularly in Bhutan as “the divine madman” and considered a folk hero for his unconventional ways. Drukpa Kuenley originally built a chorten on the site in the 14th century. The newer temple, flanked by nearly 100 tall prayer flags, sits atop a picturesque hill. It has long been a pilgrimage site for childless couples. After the visit, head to Paro, recrossing the magnificent Dochu La. After lunch in Paro, explore the National Museum, housed in the round, multi-storied Ta Dzong, built in 1775. The museum’s collection includes ancient artifacts, weapons, and stamps, and an incredible collection of silver teaware. The Ta Dzong was once the watchtower for the massive Paro Dzong. From the Ta Dzong, walk to the nearby Paro Dzong, the religious and secular center of the Paro Valley, conceived in the 15th century and finally consecrated in 1646. Overnight at Khangkhu Resort or similar...BLD

TAKTSANG MONASTERY (10,200') / PARO VALLEY

Today, hike up through pine forests festooned with Spanish moss to reach the striking monastic retreat of Taktsang, the “Tiger’s Nest,” built into a sheer cliff face high above the Paro Valley. This is the most famous temple in Bhutan and one of the most venerated pilgrim sites of the Himalayan world. Padmasambhava (Guru Rimpoche), the great 8th century Buddhist saint and teacher, is thought to have landed at this spot after flying over the mountains from Tibet on the back of a tigress, thus bringing the teachings of Buddhism to Bhutan. The primary temple was built around Padmasambhava’s meditation cave in 1684. Enjoy lunch at a local restaurant or en route at a teahouse midway with fantastic views of the monastery. Back in Paro, explore the town on a guided walk and visit the local bazaar. Overnight in Paro...BLD

Arrival & Departure

ARRIVAL & MEETING PLACE

Bangkok, Thailand

Suggested Airport: Suvarnabhumi Airport (BKK)

Suggested Date & Time: At least one day prior to Day 1

Meeting Place: Your trip begins in Paro, Bhutan. However, you must arrive in Bangkok at least one day prior to Day 1, due to the timing of the Bangkok/Paro group flight (Wilderness Travel will book this flight for all trip members as part of the “internal airfare”). Please note that overnights in Bangkok are on your own (at additional cost).

On Day 1, the Bangkok/Paro flight usually departs very early in the morning, between 4:30 am and 7:30 am (subject to change). You will meet your local guide upon arrival at the Paro International Airport (they will not be with you in Bangkok). They will be waiting outside of the customs area, holding a Wilderness Travel sign.

DEPARTURE

Bangkok, Thailand

Suggested Airport: Suvarnabhumi Airport (BKK)

Suggested Date & Time: Spend the night in Bangkok on Day 9, and depart anytime the next day (or later, if you would like to extend your time in Bangkok)

On Day 9 (the last day of your trip), you will be transferred to the Paro International Airport for the Paro/Bangkok flight. Wilderness Travel will also book this flight for all trip members as part of the “internal airfare.”

This Paro/Bangkok flight typically arrives in Bangkok between 1:00 pm and 5:30 pm, although it is prone to delays and changes, even at the last minute. Because the timing of this flight can change, you should spend the night in Bangkok on Day 9, departing anytime the next day (or later, if you would like to extend your time in Bangkok). Overnights in Bangkok are on your own (at additional cost).

INTERNAL AIR TRAVEL

Please note that these Druk or Bhutan Air flights often stop en route in India. You will not need to get off the plane, but other passengers may join or depart the aircraft.

We ask for your patience regarding Druk or Bhutan Air flights, as the military’s priority usage of aircraft, adverse weather conditions, booking problems, and other factors beyond our control, often result in a group not flying as scheduled. Bhutan is a developing country where western ideas of efficiency do not always operate, so we ask that you try to “go with the flow” if any unexpected delays occur.

INTERNATIONAL AIR TRAVEL

You are responsible for making your own arrangements for flights to and from Bangkok, Thailand. There are many air carriers servicing Bangkok and thus many flight options.

There are many online consolidators for booking travel, but for more personal help arranging air transport, you can contact Exito Travel at 970-818-8459 in the US or Canada. They are very adept at putting flight itineraries together, to even the most far-flung places. More information can be found on Exito’s website at www.exitotravel.com.

Depending on your routing, it is necessary to depart from the US two or possibly three days prior to Day 1 of the trip itinerary. The name on your airline ticket must match the name on your passport exactly, and your passport must be valid for at least six months after your date of return to the US.

Please do not purchase your tickets until you are confirmed on the trip. Once your tickets have been purchased, please send us a copy of your airline schedule. It is your responsibility to ensure your flight times coordinate with the arrival and departure logistics for this trip.

What to Expect

WHAT THE TRIP IS LIKE

This trip is rated Level 3, Moderate, according to our trip grading system. The hikes are moderate and suitable for people in good shape who enjoy mountain hiking. The longest hike is about three hours.

Please note that travel times vary depending upon local conditions, and the itinerary may change while you are in Bhutan due to government regulations and local climate conditions.

Average Hiking Day

- 3-4 miles
- 2-3 hours
- 1,000' ascent/descent

TERRAIN

Although you carry only a daypack, there are some steep ascents and descents, and the hikes are at moderate altitude, which can make them feel strenuous.

GETTING IN SHAPE

For your own enjoyment, we recommend that you make a special effort to be in good physical condition for the journey.

ACCOMMODATIONS

Most of the accommodations in Bhutan are somewhat rustic but very charming, and we've chosen some of the country's most well situated hotels/lodges for this journey. Please note that most hotel rooms are twin-bedded. Optional upgrades are available. All are luxurious, stylish 5-star retreats featuring beautifully appointed rooms decorated with traditional Bhutanese arts and crafts, and relaxing spa facilities with Asian-inspired therapies.

CUISINE

Meals are included as noted in the detailed itinerary (dinners are not included at upgraded hotels unless prearranged). Generally, you will eat breakfast on your own at the lodge before meeting your guide for the day's activities. Your guides may join you for some lunches and dinners, depending on the schedule and your preference. Please be aware that many hotels/lodges in Bhutan provide simple buffets at lunch and dinner. The cuisine in Bhutan is generally based on basic rice with stir-fry and stew options. If you have any dietary restrictions, be sure to advise us on your application form.

WEATHER

The spring and fall seasons are the most popular times to visit the Kingdom. Bhutan's climate varies enormously and like much of your adventure in the Himalayas it will be quite unpredictable. Spring and fall temperatures in the Thimphu and Paro valleys range from 60 to 80 degrees Fahrenheit but colder spells are not unusual. Winter daytime temperatures in the valleys average 60 degrees Fahrenheit during clear winter days but drop well below freezing during the night. Mid-December to early January can be a beautifully clear and dry time in western Bhutan. Light snow will often dust Thimphu and Paro in winter, and occasionally there will be heavy snowstorms. Punakha and the central valleys are lower in elevation and tend to be a few degrees warmer. The autumn season, late September through November, is usually very mild and clear. While fall colors surround and embrace your senses, the sky is often at its clearest, affording magnificent views of the Himalaya range.

PRIVATE JOURNEY GUIDED SERVICES

You will be accompanied by a Bhutanese guide and driver throughout your entire journey.

Please be advised that California has established a Travel Consumer Restitution Fund under the California Seller of Travel Law that took effect January 1, 1996. This fund is designed to protect consumers from unscrupulous practices by discount airfare ticket sellers or air charter operators. Unfortunately, this law does not cover non-California residents and, even in the case of California residents, it does not cover any foreign travel where the foreign "providers of transportation or travel services" are not in compliance with the Sellers of Travel Law (compliance being defined as registered as a Seller of Travel in California and a participant in the Travel Consumer Restitution Fund). Thus none of Wilderness Travel's tours qualify and we are required by law to advise each client that they are not covered by the California Travel Consumer Restitution Fund. California law requires sellers of travel to maintain a trust account or bond. This business has a trust account. California Seller of Travel #100769640
