Hiker's Journey to Bhutan

TIGER'S NEST MONASTERY, PUNAKHA, BUMTHANG, AND A MASKED DANCE FESTIVAL

With exuberant festivals to honor the guardian deities, gold-spired temples in every valley, and a guiding philosophy of “Gross National Happiness,” Bhutan is truly one of the world’s last Shangri-Las. Combining hiking and cultural exploration, we transport you into this rare world, roaming the ancient trails and taking time to experience local life, including a private visit to a nunnery, with an opportunity for a guided meditation, and attending a tsechu—a colorful Tibetan Buddhist celebration with elaborate dance-dramas. Three days of our journey are in the ethereal Bumthang region, the spiritual center of the kingdom.

Itinerary

Please Note: Due to the timing of our group flights to and from Bhutan, all participants must arrive in Bangkok, Thailand, at least one day before Day 1. Trip members will also need to spend the night in Bangkok on Day 12, the last day of the trip. All overnight(s) in Bangkok are on your own (at additional cost).

A note about Bhutan's festivals: It is an extraordinary privilege to witness one of Bhutan's traditional tsechu festivals, a celebration of events in the life of Padmasambhava, the 8th century master who brought Buddhism to Tibet and Bhutan. He is considered by members of the Nyingmapa sect of Tibetan Buddhism to be their founder. Such festivals are celebrated throughout Bhutan, and are attended by Bhutanese from all around the countryside, who leave their farms and dress in their finery to gather and celebrate with friends. Activities include sacred dance-dramas performed by monks or laymen wearing costumes of silk and brocade and, for certain dances, masks representing animals or deities. The dances take place in beautiful monastery courtyards under the brilliant cobalt sky. Each trip will witness one of these festivals.

The itinerary below is our planned schedule. Please note that hiking times are general estimates and vary depending on local weather, daily trail conditions, and festival schedules. Internal flights are also subject to change.

DAY 1

PARO, BHUTAN (7,500') / THIMPHU (7,600')

An early morning flight brings us from Bangkok, Thailand, to Bhutan's emerald-green Paro Valley, where shrines dot the landscape and graceful willow trees grow along the edge of the Paro River as it winds through fields and farmlands. On arrival, we are met by our Trip Leader for a transfer to Thimphu, which was a small, wooded farming valley up until 1961, when it became Bhutan's official national capital. En route, we'll stop at the Iron Bridge, a large chain bridge built in the 15th century laced with prayer flags leading to Tachog Lhakhang. After arrival in Thimphu and lunch at a local restaurant, we will visit the national memorial chorten and the beautiful Giant Buddha statue, perched on a hilltop overlooking the valley. Overnight at hotel...LD

DAY 2

THIMPHU / CHERI MONASTERY

A short hike through a beautiful forest of oak and rhododendron brings us up to Cheri Monastery, a 17th century monastery and Buddhist university where we'll see monks studying and carrying out their daily rituals. Later we head to Sangay Gang, where there is a sanctuary for the cattle-sized animal called the takin, the national animal of Bhutan. These rare Himalayan creatures resemble miniature American bison, standing about five feet high with large heads and front quarters. Overnight at hotel...BLD

DAY 3

THIMPHU / FOREST HIKE / PUNAKHA (4,500')

Today, we drive up through a lushly forested landscape to the Dochu La (10,000'), whose summit is festooned with fluttering prayer flags and 108 chortens (stupas) dedicated to Bhutan's continued peace and happiness. From the pass, we hike a quiet trail through a mixed forest of spruce, rhododendron, hemlock, oak, pine, and juniper to isolated and seldom-visited Lungchuzekha Monastery (11,800'), surrounded by prayer flags. On a clear day, we enjoy sweeping views of the Bhutan Himalaya, including Gangkhar Puensum, Bhutan's highest peak and the highest unclimbed mountain in the world. We return to the Dochu La, board our waiting vehicles, and descend to the terraced fields of Punakha. Overnight at hotel...BLD

Hiking Details: Approximately 4 hours, 5.3 miles, 1,800 feet ascent/descent,
Maximum Altitude: 11,800 feet

Driving Details: Approximately 3 hours

DAY 4

PUNAKHA VALLEY (4,500')

From the village of Nezigang, we hike up through cultivated fields and small hamlets to visit the Khamsum Yuley Namgay Chorten (5,200'), a shrine built recently by the royal family. The shrine is an elaborate structure with a rainbow of Guru Rimpoche images and superb views of the Punakha Valley. After a picnic lunch along the Mo Chu River (with opportunities for birding), we visit the 17th century Punakha Dzong (fortress), Bhutan's former winter capital. Built in 1637 at the confluence of the Mo Chu and Po Chu (the "Mother" and "Father" rivers), the winter capital was established here in part because Punakha is a warm valley with a relatively low altitude of approximately 4,500 feet, allowing for the production of two rice crops each year, along with oranges, mangos, and bananas. The Punakha Dzong is an architectural wonder and seat of the head abbot of Bhutan. It has survived six fires, two glacial lake bursts, and an earthquake. This labyrinthine dzong has played a pivotal role in Bhutan's history and has the official name of Druk Pungthang Decchen Phodrang, which translates as "the palace of great happiness." Overnight at hotel...BLD

Hiking Details: Approximately 1.5 hours, 1.9 miles, 700 feet ascent/descent,
Maximum Altitude: 5,200 feet

DAY 5

PUNAKHA / PHOBJIKHA (9,800')

We head to the village of Lobesa for a half-hour walk through mustard fields to Chimi Lhakhang, a monastery and fertility temple dedicated to Lama Drukpa Kuenley, a Tibetan Buddhist saint known popularly as "the divine madman" and a folk hero in Bhutan for his unconventional ways. Drukpa Kuenley originally built a chorten on the site in the 14th century. The temple, flanked by nearly 100 tall prayer flags, sits atop a picturesque hill and has long been a pilgrimage site for childless couples.

Boarding our vehicles, we drive to the Phobjikha Valley. With its alpine setting on the western slope of the Black Mountains in the absolute heart of Bhutan, the beautiful Phobjikha Valley is a high-altitude glacial valley featuring mixed forests of pine and rhododendron, with brushy grasslands on the valley floor. In the winter, a flock of approximately 200-300 black-necked cranes migrates to this valley from Tibet to spend the winter foraging in the valley. The cranes are considered harbingers of good luck and have long been respected by the residents of the valley. Their arrival signals the villagers that it's time to pack up and move down to lower, warmer climes (the valley is snowed-in during the winter months).

In Phobjikha, we explore the gold-roofed Gangtey Monastery, which sits on a prominent hilltop in the valley. Time permitting, we will take a nature walk and visit a local farmhouse or a small monastery. Overnight at Yue Loki Guest House (or similar)...BLD

Hiking Details: Approximately 40 minutes, 1.25 miles, 200 feet ascent/descent, Maximum Altitude: 4,700 feet

Driving Details: Approximately 3 hours

DAY 6

PHOBJIKHA / TRONGSA (7,215')

On our way to Trongsa, we stop and stretch our legs at Chendibji Chorten, a handsome stupa built in the 19th century. We continue our journey up and over the Pele La Pass (11,220') to Trongsa, the ancestral home of Bhutan's royal family. This fortress was the residence of the Penlop (governor) of Trongsa in the early 1900s who went on to consolidate political control over Bhutan to become the country's first king; the current monarch, who was crowned in 2008, is the fifth in this lineage. In ancient times, people traveling from eastern Bhutan had to pass through the dzong entrance. In the afternoon, we visit the Trongsa Dzong and Ta Dzong Museum, which focuses on the history of the monarchs of Bhutan, with many rare artifacts on display. Overnight at Norbu Lingkha Resort or Yangkhil Resort...BLD

TRONGSA / BUMTHANG (9,185')

We continue our journey with a drive across Yutong La Pass (11,630') to enter the Chumey Valley, which, along with Choekhor (West), Tang (East), and Ura Mountain valleys, make up the general area referred to as Bumthang. Along the way, we stop for a hike to Tharpaling Monastery (12,400'), founded by Lonchen Ramjam (1308-1363) during his exile from Tibet (he was the abbot of Samye, the first monastery built in the Himalaya). Tharpaling was used as a place of meditation where Guru Rimpoche is said to have mediated. Our hike continues over a small pass at 12,900' to the Kikela Pass (9,200'). Just on the other side of the pass we meet our vehicle and drive to the village of Jakar (8,695') in Bumthang Valley for overnight at Gongkhar Lodge or Valley Resort...BLD

Itinerary (cont'd)

Hiking Details: Approximately 4 hours, 8.5 miles, 500 feet ascent/3,200 feet descent, Maximum Altitude: 12,900 feet

Driving Details: Approximately 2-3 hours

DAYS 8-9

BUMTHANG

Nowhere else in Bhutan are there as many temples and monasteries as in Bumthang, and it is also one of the most picturesque regions of the country, with sweeping agricultural valleys dotted with small villages, and forested mountainsides sheltering centuries-old monastic complexes and religious retreats. We will spend these two days exploring the valley. On one day a hike brings us along the Chamkhar River and through meadows and pine forests to the village of Thangbi, where we visit its gumpa (if the caretaker is present). Thangbi was founded in the late 1500s by the 4th Shamar Rimpoche, a patriarch of Tibet's Karma Kargyüpa sect. After crossing a suspension bridge, we reach Nga Lhakhang (Swan Land), and visit a local village. In Jakar we explore two important monasteries: Jambay and Kurje. Jambay was originally built by Tibet's King Songtsen Gampo in the 7th century as one of the 108 temples used to subdue the demoness lying across the Tibetan Plateau; this temple is said to pin down her left knee. Kurje is a complex of three temples and one of the most sacred pilgrimage sites in Bhutan.

While in Bumthang, we'll have a chance to sample araa, the local wine, as well as butter tea, and be able to watch a demonstration of how the local buckwheat noodles (puta) are made at a traditional farmhouse. We also have a private visit to Pemacholing Nunnery, where nuns make torma (a ritual cake) and guide us in an optional meditation. Overnights at Gongkhar Lodge or Valley Resort on each day...BLD each day

Hiking Details: Approximately 3 hours, 4.3 miles, 600 feet ascent, Maximum Altitude: 9,000 feet

Driving Details: Approximately 45 minutes

DAY 10

BUMTHANG / PARO

A morning flight brings us from Bumthang to Paro. In the afternoon, we visit the fascinating National Museum of Bhutan, with its collection of ancient weapons, masks, clothing, and other artifacts. We also visit nearby Paro Dzong, an imposing fortress originally built by Shabdrung Ngawang Namgyel. Time permitting, we will have the opportunity to witness a traditional archery competition (and our Trip Leader can give us all a lesson!). Overnight at hotel... BLD

Please note that regularly scheduled flights are not always available from Bumthang to Paro, and they are subject to last-minute government changes. If this is the case, we may need to book a charter flight on Day 9 instead of Day 10.

DAY 11

TAKTSANG MONASTERY (10,200')

Today we hike up through pine forests festooned with Spanish moss to reach the striking monastic retreat of Taktsang, the "Tiger's Nest," built into a sheer cliff face high above the Paro Valley. This is the most famous temple in Bhutan and one of the venerated pilgrim sites of the Himalayan world. Padmasambhava, the great 8th century Buddhist saint and teacher, is thought to have landed at this spot after flying over the mountains from Tibet on the back of a tigress, thus bringing the teachings of Buddhism to Bhutan. The primary temple was built around Padmasambhava's meditation cave in 1684. We stop for tea en route at a teahouse midway with fantastic views of the monastery, then return here for a vegetarian buffet lunch on the way back. Return to Paro in the afternoon, with some time to explore the town and visit the bazaar. In the evening, we gather for a festive Farewell Dinner. Overnight at hotel...BLD

Hiking Details: Approximately 3-4 hours, 4.6 miles, 2,200 feet ascent/descent, Maximum Altitude: 10,200 feet

DAY 12

DEPART

We transfer to Paro Airport for our return flight to Bangkok...B

Trip Details

WHAT THE TRIP IS LIKE

This trip is Level 3+, according to our trip rating system. There are hikes on 7 days, ranging in length from 2 to 6 hours. The hikes are moderate and suitable for people in good shape who enjoy mountain hiking. Although you carry only a daypack, there are some steep ascents and descents, and the hikes are at moderate altitude, which can make them feel strenuous.

Please note that travel times vary depending upon local conditions, and the itinerary may change while you are in Bhutan due to government regulations and local climate conditions.

GETTING IN SHAPE

For your own enjoyment, we recommend you make a special effort to be in good physical condition for the journey by hiking, running, swimming, bicycling, or engaging in other forms of aerobic exercise well beyond your normal routine. Walking up and down flights of stairs is also an effective way to train for the steep ascents and descents in the Himalaya. Weekend hikes that involve long sections of uphill and downhill walking are great for conditioning your legs.

ACCOMMODATIONS AND FOOD

Our accommodations in Bhutan range from rustic to very comfortable. The hotels in Paro and Thimphu offer a great deal of comfort, while the lodges in Punakha, the Phobjikha Valley, and Bumthang are rustic, but well-situated and cozy. Most rooms are twin-bedded. At most guesthouses, simple buffets are provided at lunch and dinner. Bhutan's cuisine is generally based on basic rice with stir-fry and stew options.

WEATHER

Bhutan is known to have the most unpredictable weather in the Himalaya, so it is best to be prepared for a range of conditions. During spring (mid-March to early June) in the Thimphu and Paro regions, daytime temperatures range from 65°F to 85°F but colder spells are not unusual. The autumn season arrives in September and lasts until mid-November. At this time, skies tend to be clearer and temperatures lower, sometimes falling to below freezing at night. At altitudes of 8,000 to 10,000 feet (as in Bumthang), daytime temperatures range in the 50s and 60s with nights dropping to the 40s. Clouds often form in the afternoons, disappearing at night to reveal brilliantly starry skies. At altitudes above 10,000 feet, daytime temperatures can be in the 60s but as low as the 30s and 40s if it is windy. Evening temperatures at these higher altitudes often drop to around 15°F and sometimes lower. Rain and snow are not uncommon at any time of year making waterproof rain gear a necessity for Bhutan.

BEING A CONSIDERATE TRAVELER

Please show respect for the cultures we are visiting by observing local customs concerning appropriate dress, particularly in sacred places. Your Trip Leader is always available to answer any questions that you may have regarding this. If it is necessary to use a cell phone during the trip, please do so privately. Smoking is rarely an issue these days, but if you do smoke, please do so only away from the group.

Please be advised that California has established a Travel Consumer Restitution Fund under the California Seller of Travel Law that took effect January 1, 1996. This fund is designed to protect consumers from unscrupulous practices by discount airfare ticket sellers or air charter operators. Unfortunately, this law does not cover non-California residents and, even in the case of California residents, it does not cover any foreign travel where the foreign "providers of transportation or travel services" are not in compliance with the Sellers of Travel Law (compliance being defined as registered as a Seller of Travel in California and a participant in the Travel Consumer Restitution Fund). Thus none of Wilderness Travel's tours qualify and we are required by law to advise each client that they are not covered by the California Travel Consumer Restitution Fund. California law requires sellers of travel to maintain a trust account or bond. This business has a trust account. California Seller of Travel #100769640
