HIGHLIGHTS

- Hike the dramatic coastal landscapes of the Orkneys and stunning North Coast
- Explore the breathtaking Ring of Brodgar and Skara Brae, two of Europe's Neolithic treasures
- Visit the Queen Mother's Castle of Mey
- Meet an Orkadian boat builder, a falconer, a storyteller, and an earl
- Enjoy local pub nights, fresh-caught seafood, and private tastings of fine single-malt whiskies

Introduction

In Scotland's far north, we've linked the archaeological and natural treasures of the Orkneys with the wild trails and rich history of the uncrowded North Coast. In the Orkneys, we hike right into the UNESCO-listed Ring of Brodgar, an enormous circle of standing stones, and below cliffs that shelter sites from Neolithic and Viking times. On the North Coast, our trails bring us to rugged bluffs where the mysterious Picts once fended off the Romans, to the heather-clad hills of a highland estate, and we'll visit clan castles (we even meet an earl!). Along the way, we'll taste the famed whiskies and settle into the scene with a few pub nights.

Itinerary

Overnight: Lynnfield Hotel

This traditional country house offers ten unique rooms and suites with antique furnishings, heated bathroom floors, and fine views of Kirkwall and the bay beyond. Relax by the peat fire in the comfortable lounge, and enjoy a dram of malt whisky—over 360 varieties are on offer. Highland Park distillery, founded in 1798 and the most northerly distillery in Britain, is just around the corner.

Meals: L, D

Hiking Details: 6 miles, approximately 4 hours, elevation gain of 500', easy-moderate

DAY 1 WELCOME TO ORKNEY / THE GLOUP / WHISKY TASTING

Our Orkadian adventure begins in ancient Kirkwall—a town dating back at least to 1046. Kirkwall was first mentioned in tales of bloodthirsty Viking intrigue, the Orkneyinga Saga, a semi-historical Icelandic narrative of the Viking history of the Orkney Islands, full of personal rivalries, 13th-century politics, and the military exploits of King Magnus Barefoot. (Genetic studies indicate that these Northern Isles are home to some of Britain's most concentrated Viking heritage.) Hiking along the wild and dramatic coast from the Gloop—an 80-foot-deep, partially collapsed sea cave—we witness striking cliffs, heathered moorlands, and seabird colonies on our way to Mull Head and the Covenanter Memorial. This afternoon we visit the historic working distillery of Scapa, with its stunning clifftop location overlooking the natural harbor of the Scapa Flow, then sample some of their fine whiskies. Our hotel for the next four days will be the Lynnfield, a relaxing accommodation known for its peat fire, comfy sofas, and extensive range of malt whiskies—more than 350 at last count. We're treated to a Welcome Dinner at the Lynnfield this evening.

Itinerary

Overnight: Lynnfield Hotel

Meals: B, L, D

Ring of Brodgar Walk: 1.25 miles, easy

Yesnaby Hike: 2 miles, 1.5 hours, elevation gain of 100', easy but exposed on the cliffs tops

DAY 2 RING OF BRODGAR / YESNABY HIKE / ANCIENT SKARA BRAE

This morning we visit the Ring of Brodgar—the iconic representation of Orkney’s ancient heritage. A UNESCO World Heritage Site, this Neolithic great circle is 340 feet in diameter, with more than 25 of its stones still standing; Scottish geologist Hugh Miller wrote that they “look like an assemblage of ancient druids, mysteriously stern and invincibly silent and shaggy.” We’ll actually be able to walk right among these magnificent stones—something that is not possible at many other sites—touching their surfaces and imagining the power of ancient ceremonies that took place here.

We’ll swing by the Orkney Brewery for lunch and a tasting, then hike above Orkney’s most dramatic coastline, with amazing views of red and yellow sandstone sea stacks and cliffs. Formed 400 million years ago, they’ve eroded into a rocky shoreline that bites into the Atlantic. We’ll keep our eyes peeled for the rare and beautiful Primula scotia (Scottish Primrose), which is found in very few locations but has its stronghold in Orkney.

Our adventure brings us to the 5,000-year-old village of Skara Brae—one of Europe’s most remarkable monuments. Buried in sand until it was rediscovered after a severe storm in 1850, the settlement survives as eight surprisingly well-preserved Neolithic dwellings set into a hillside near the sea. This is an active archaeological site, known for its distinctive grooved pottery and enigmatic carved stone balls, and it gives us an extraordinary window into a culture that predates the building of the great pyramids of Egypt. We return to Kirkwall for dinner, and overnight at the Lynnfield.

Itinerary

Overnight: Lynnfield Hotel

Meals: B, L, D

Faraclett Head Walk: 2.25-mile loop, 1-1.5 hours, 285' gain/loss, easy

Midhowe Heritage Walk: 1.5-mile loop, 2 hours, 300' gain/loss, easy

DAY 3 ROUSAY ISLAND / MIDHOWE HERITAGE WALK

This morning we ferry to the island of Rousay. An easy Faraclett Head walk takes us along coastal heath and grassland above high cliffs with spectacular views. The rich variety of birds here includes arctic tern, skua and possibly peregrine falcon. We'll pass Yetnasteen, a massive standing stone said to walk down to a nearby loch for a drink each New Year! From the shore we'll see the island of Egilsay and the ruins of St Magnus Church, where Earl Magnus was martyred in 1116. After a picnic by the sweeping Saviskaill Bay we return via the Midhowe Heritage Walk with its striking coastal views. On the trail we'll see the remains of a 4,000-year-old tomb at Midhowe Cairn, a large and well-preserved collective burial place; Midhowe Broch, an Iron Age fortification; the remains of a 13th century ceremonial hall known as the Wirk; and a 16th century church. We'll enjoy dinner at a traditional pub and return to the Lynnfield for an evening of tales with Fran Flett Hollinrake, a historian and professional storyteller with a passion for Orkney's culture.

Itinerary

Overnight: Lynnfield Hotel

Meals: B, L, D

Hiking Details: 6 miles, 5 hours, elevation gain of 660', easy-moderate

DAY 4 THE OLD MAN OF HOY / DRAMATIC SEA CLIFFS

A short drive along the edge of Scapa Flow, where many historic shipwrecks lay to rest, takes us to Stromness, a picturesque seaport with a winding main street lined by houses and shops built of local stone. We catch the ferry to the island of Hoy and walk to the famous Old Man of Hoy, a magnificent 450-foot sea-stack that resembles a gigantic human figure. Created only a few hundred years ago as the ocean eroded soft red sandstone, the freestanding tower perches on a plinth of basalt rock, but may soon collapse into the ocean—crashing waves have already washed away one of the old man’s “legs.” A good level of fitness is required for our hike today, and we’re rewarded with a view of some of Britain’s most spectacular sea cliffs, nesting puffins, and marine wildlife. We return to Rackwick Bay, often described as the most beautiful spot in the Orkneys, with its blushing pink-and-cream beach bounded by towering cliffs and heather-scented hills. A traditional croft house here has been restored and converted into the Cra’as (Crow’s) Nest Museum, its stone hearth and simple wooden furniture evoking the lives of early 18th-century inhabitants.

Itinerary

Overnight: Glenmorangie House

Nestled on a hillside amid barley fields by the ruins of a castle sits the 17th century Glenmorangie House, with classically appointed rooms, modern conveniences, and views out to the walled gardens and the surrounding grounds. Guests enjoy genuine Scottish hospitality and award-winning cuisine served in a convivial dining room; of course, the selection of legendary single malt Glenmorangie whiskies is superb.

Meals: B, L, D

Hiking Details: 1 mile, 1 hour, 260' gain/loss, easy but steep with exposed steps and vertical drops at the cliffside

DAY 5 ITALIAN CHAPEL / TO THE MAINLAND / CASTLE OF MEY / THE HIGHLAND CLEARANCES

This morning we visit the Italian Chapel, built during WWII by Italian prisoners of war. This inventive place of worship was constructed from materials the prisoners could scavenge, yet it includes fine craftsmanship, including walls and ceilings that are beautifully hand-painted.

Then we ferry from Orkney to the mainland, where the culture changes as we enter the land of the clans and learn about its history. Our first visit is the Castle of Mey, a striking 16th-century fortress once owned by the late Queen Mother that displays many of her treasured possessions. Some of the staff had a personal connection with the Queen Mother, which adds a special touch to our visit.

After lunch we get a history lesson: During the Highland Clearances of the 18th and 19th centuries, Highlanders were removed, often forcibly, from the fertile inland glens they had farmed out to the coastal fringes, where they had to rely on the sea as their main source of food and income. At the 330 steep Whaligoe Steps near one of the resettlement locations we see just how tricky this transition would have been—the nearly vertical cliffs, almost-inaccessible harbor, and treacherous sea the new fishermen created a daily battle to sustain their families. We'll walk the Whaligoe Steps ourselves, hear about the history of the herring fishing along the Scottish coastline, and take tea and cakes at a nearby café. We stop at the village of Helmsdale to see the Emigrants Statue—a monument commemorating the people who were forced to move during the Clearances and emigrated to far-flung lands including America, Canada, and Australia. We arrive this evening at Glenmorangie House, set amid barley fields and the ruins of an old castle.

Itinerary

Overnight: Glenmorangie House

Meals: B, L, D

Hiking Details: 6.2 miles, 4-4.5 hours, 400' gain/loss, easy to moderate

DAY 6 HIKING TARBAT / PICTISH STONES

This morning we hike from the hamlet of Rockfield along a trail following the rugged cliff coastline; watch for the dolphins that live in the Moray Firth year-round. At Tarbat Ness we encounter a distinctive red-and-white-striped lighthouse that was built in 1830. Scotland's third-tallest lighthouse, it was engineered by Robert Stevenson (grandfather of the novelist Robert Louis Stevenson) and erected in response to frequent shipwrecks in the area. Local legends suggest that the soaring tower is built on the ruins of a Roman fort that was later the site of witches' covens. Next we visit Tarbat Discovery Centre to learn about the mysterious Picts who lived in this area during the Iron Age. Little is known about the Picts, but their name is a reference by outsiders to the tribes' painted or tattooed warriors. The Picts are famous for their beautiful and enigmatic carved stones and cross-slabs, some of which we'll see here. Dinner this evening is in Portmahomack at an intimate seafood and game restaurant; try the lobster, stalkers' stew, or anything with whisky gravy.

Itinerary

Overnight: Glenmorangie House

Meals: B, L, D

Hiking Details: 4 miles, 2-2.5 hours, 900' gain/loss, easy to moderate

DAY 7 STRUIE HILL / DUNROBIN CASTLE / GLENMORANGIE WHISKY TASTING

This morning we hike Struie Hill, a prominent feature in the landscape around the Dornoch Firth. It is an easy to moderate walk with spectacular views over the mouth of the firth and toward Portmahomack and Tarbet Ness lighthouse. We then make our way back along the coast to spend the afternoon at Dunrobin Castle and Gardens, one of Scotland's great houses and one of Britain's oldest continuously inhabited houses. It is the historic home of the Earls and Dukes of Sutherland, with the earliest part of the building dating from around 1275. We will learn about its long history on our private tour and enjoy access to the private museum collection. The gardens are a remarkable sight, having been laid out in 1850 by the architect Sir Charles Barry, who was responsible for the design of the Houses of Parliament and got inspiration from the Palace of Versailles. They have changed little since they were first planted and will be the location for the private falconry display that we will enjoy within this magical setting. Following an afternoon steeped in splendor and intrigue, we then travel back to Glenmorangie House, where we enjoy a private tutored whisky tasting of three Glenmorangie expressions.

Itinerary

Overnight: Ness Walk Hotel

Set on the banks of the River Ness, this 5-star hotel was originally a 19th century house that has been transformed into a modern retreat. Guest rooms and suites are individually designed and have air conditioning and private bathrooms. The restaurant is set in the original drawing room where you can savor Scottish and international cuisine made with ingredients picked fresh from the gardens.

Meals: B, L, D

Hiking Details: 3.75-mile loop, 2.5-3 hours, 958' gain/loss, easy to moderate

DAY 8 PICTISH STONE CARVINGS / FYRISH HIKE / CULLODEN BATTLEFIELD

A short drive along through seaside village—with photo stops at the bronze Mermaid and Shandwick Pictish Stone—brings us to Nigg Old Church, a fine example of a Scottish parish church that stands on what has likely been a place of Christian worship for at least 1,200 years. It retains an atmosphere of peace and tranquility, and houses a magnificent 8th century Pictish monument that is one of Scotland's most important artistic treasures. Carved with both Pictish symbols and Christian imagery, the ornamental cross is reminiscent of illuminations in the Book of Kells. Look closely to see the intricately carved knot of snakes, with their tails and tongues intertwining.

Next, we'll hike up Fyrish Hill, where the views over Cromarty Firth are stunning. An impressive monument at the top has three central arches and four flanking towers. It was built in 1783 by Sir Hector Munro—the area's laird—who hired the local population in order to give them work so he could legally provide them with famine relief during the Clearances. Later we have a tour of the world renowned Culloden Battlefield. It was here, in April 1746, that Bonnie Prince Charlie's Jacobite rebellion came to a bloody end with the last pitched battle on British soil, where in less than an hour about 1,500 men were slain. The battlefield is fascinating to walk around, and exudes a somberness even today. Tonight we receive a warm welcome at the beautiful Ness Walk Hotel where we enjoy a lovely Farewell Dinner.

Because the prices published for our program are set so far in advance of the trip dates, we are occasionally faced with exceptional cost increases and/or currency fluctuations that affect the actual cost of running the trip. In most years, no price changes are necessary. However, we do reserve the right to raise or lower the trip price if there is a significant change in costs or exchange rates. If this is the case, your final invoice will reflect the difference in trip cost.

Arrival & Departure

ARRIVAL & MEETING PLACE

Suggested Airport: Kirkwall Airport (KOI)

Suggested Date & Time: Anytime prior to Day 1

Meeting Place: You will meet your Trip Leader in the lobby of Lynnfield Hotel in Kirkwall at 9:00 am on Day 1. Please be dressed for hiking, as we'll be heading out this morning for our first adventure.

Most flights to Kirkwall are routed through Aberdeen, Edinburgh, Inverness, or Glasgow.

DEPARTURE

Suggested Airport: Inverness Airport (INV)

Suggested Date & Time: Day 9, after 1:00 pm

On Day 9, there will be a complimentary transfer to the Inverness Airport with arrival of 10:30 am, or if travelers want to continue their journey they can also be dropped off at the Inverness Train Station at 10:00 am.

Train tickets can be easily purchased in advanced at www.scotrail.co.uk and collected on the day of travel at the railway station. To collect your pre-purchased tickets, all you need is the booking reference number and the credit card you purchased the tickets with.

INTERNATIONAL AIR TRAVEL

You are responsible for making your own arrangements for flights to and from Scotland. There are many online consolidators for booking travel, but for more personal help arranging air transport, you can contact Exito Travel at 1-800-655-4053 in the US or 1-800-670-2605 in Canada. They are very adept at putting flight itineraries together, to even the most far-flung places. More information can be found on Exito's website at www.exitotravel.com.

Depending on your routing, it is necessary to depart from the US one or possibly two days prior to Day 1 of the trip itinerary. The name on your airline ticket must match the name on your passport exactly, and your passport must be valid for at least six months after your date of return to the US.

Please do not purchase your tickets until you are confirmed on the trip. Once your tickets have been purchased, please send us a copy of your airline schedule. It is your responsibility to ensure your flight times coordinate with the arrival and departure logistics for this trip.

Trip Leaders

Wilderness Travel Trip Leaders have a passion and a joy for creating an unforgettable journey. We are extremely proud of them and the incredible travel experiences they make possible. For more information, including client comments about them and which specific departures they will be leading, please visit wildernesstravel.com/leaders.

PAUL MCCAFFREY

An enthusiastic outdoor practitioner, Paul always hated the idea of a mundane job, and at university, he even started his own business as a means of escaping this fate. A perfect day for him is hiking adventures with other like-minded people in beautiful wild places. Torridon and the Outer Hebrides are some of the regions that contain special memories for him. As a youth, Paul received his certification to fly an aircraft before he could drive on his own!

SKYE MCDONALD

Skye McDonald lives in Scotland's Highland capital, Inverness. She has worked as a Trip Leader in 35 countries since the millennium and lived in Germany, France, and Tanzania. "Bringing understanding between peoples of very different cultures and backgrounds is one of the joys of being a Trip Leader, and of course, the chance to make friends around the world." Closer to home, she delights in sharing the glories of her native Scotland, and says that a good day scaling some of the beautiful Scottish mountains is hard to beat. Skye speaks German, French, beginners' Portuguese, and unusually, a smattering of Swahili from earlier years as a volunteer agricultural officer in Tanzania. Life continues to be an adventure for Skye, who has recently taken up bee-keeping, wild-water swimming, and scuba diving.

GORDON ANDERSON

A native Highlander, Gordon Anderson spent his childhood on the Isle of Skye before moving to the "big city" of Inverness. He led a career in scientific research and information technologies, then in 2009, took the big leap to become a professional Trip Leader. Since then, he's been sharing his favorite places in Scotland with travelers. "I love using my knowledge of the nature, culture, and history of the Highlands to enhance people's enjoyment of this land," he says.

What to Expect

WHAT THE TRIP IS LIKE

This trip is rated Level 3, Moderate, according to our trip grading system. We have daily hikes of 2-6 miles, mostly on level coastal trails, and one more strenuous hill hike to Fyrish Hill with 958 feet of elevation gain. You can expect to be hiking for 2-4 hours per day for 7 of the 8 days. Conditions and the group's level of fitness affect travel and hiking times, which can vary, sometimes dramatically, from the anticipated times.

TERRAIN

Paths and trails in Scotland can be very rough in places, with rocky uneven terrain, and many of the hikes may be wet underfoot. As is common in Scotland, we may even hike off-trail where the terrain allows. Hiking boots with ankle support are necessary and hiking poles are highly recommended. We'll always include time to explore historic and cultural sites and for wildlife spotting.

WEATHER

Summer or not, Scotland is famous for changeable weather. Count on everything from cold rain, persistent fog, and mist, to brilliant warm, sunny weather. These conditions give the mountains great atmosphere and can add to the overall experience. They also mean that good raingear is a must. Bring a fully waterproof jacket and waterproof overpants as well as waterproofed hiking boots with lug soles for traction. Waterproof ponchos are NOT recommended for hiking in Scotland due to the wind.

TRANSPORTATION

The ferry crossing from Orkney to the mainland takes just over an hour; participants should bring medication if they suffer from motion- or sea-sickness.
