WHEN TO GO

Mid-December through March

ABOUT PRIVATE JOURNEYS

Wilderness Travel Private Journeys are designed for people who want to travel with their own small private group, but who still want to experience the same superb itinerary design, great accommodations, and signature quality of Wilderness Travel's escorted group trips. These Private Journeys allow you to choose your own dates and your traveling companions—even if it's just the two of you—yet still enjoy a guided adventure.

Contact us for availability, questions, or to book your adventure!

Experience the majesty of Yellowstone National Park as few others do—in winter, when peace and solitude permeate the land, the snowy forests are cloaked in mystical silence, and the rivers breathe clouds of steam into the frosty air. Accompanied by your private naturalist guide, you'll journey into the glacier-sculpted Lamar Valley, a veritable Serengeti in the snow, in search of the herds of bison, elk, and pronghorn that descend to this lower elevation refuge, as well as their attendant predators—the iconic grey wolves. Yellowstone's wildlife is easier to spot in the snow during this “secret season”—you can even see their tracks. The sight of steaming geysers and snowy mountains under crisp blue skies creates perfect photo opportunities, and you'll have many on your snowshoe and cross-country ski outings on the park trails. All these outings are tailored to your interests, and they offer an ideal way to explore Yellowstone in winter. Having your own private guide maximizes your chances of seeing wildlife and also offers an “insider's” opportunity to learn about the ecology, scientific studies, and conservation efforts in Yellowstone. Your final overnight is at century-old Chico Hot Springs Resort, a stone's throw from the Yellowstone River, where you can soak in the big, open-air pools fed by natural mineral hot springs. We highly recommend our day-trip extension by snowcoach to Old Faithful, where you'll have the famous geyser almost all to yourself!

DAY 1 BOZEMAN, MONTANA / PARADISE VALLEY / GARDINER

Arrive in Bozeman, Montana, where you will meet your private naturalist guide for a drive to your hotel in the "Old West" town of Gardiner. This scenic drive winds its way along the banks of the Yellowstone River through Paradise Valley and in the shadow of snowy peaks. This evening, enjoy a Welcome Dinner and trip orientation. Overnight at the Wonderland Lodge and Café or the 406 Lodge. Both are ideally situated and provide a home for the next three nights that is convenient to the wildlife viewing you will enjoy in the coming days...D

Approximate Driving Time: 1.5-2 hours

DAY 2 LAMAR VALLEY / SUNRISE WOLF VIEWING / SNOWSHOEING

You'll get an early start (about 6:00-6:30 am) today so you'll have the best chance of seeing the elusive grey wolves that have become the star attraction of the Northern Yellowstone Range. Your naturalist guide is actively involved with Yellowstone's wolf-monitoring community and knows the best areas for viewing. The wolves' reintroduction into Yellowstone in 1995 is considered one of America's best conservation success stories, a case study on the effect a single species can have on an entire ecosystem. An hour's drive brings you to the valley, and when you get there, you will join other wolf enthusiasts with their spotting scopes. Spend the morning in this world-famous wolf habitat on the lookout for the packs. With luck, you will see wolves interacting with other packs or prowling along the river on their early morning hunt.

After a lunchtime spread of sandwich options and beverages in the field, strap snowshoes on your boots for an active outdoor adventure in Yellowstone! Under a mantle of pure white snow, Yellowstone's landscape is totally transformed, and you'll have a magical opportunity to explore the park's trails, on the lookout for wildlife and sights you would miss in a vehicle. You can choose between many options, from easy strolls to challenging routes away from the established trails. Snowshoeing is like hiking, and you can easily stop to take pictures and look around. Don't worry if you have never done it—if you can walk, you can snowshoe, and modern lightweight snowshoes are provided for you. Tonight your guide will host you at one of Gardiner's charming local restaurants...BLD

Approximate Driving Time: 2 hours, plus stops for wildlife viewing

DAY 3 LAMAR VALLEY / SUNRISE WOLF VIEWING / AFTERNOON WILDLIFE VIEWING / (THE OLD FAITHFUL EXTENSION CAN BE INCLUDED ON EITHER DAY 3 OR DAY 4 OF THE MAIN TRIP)

Another early morning start allows you to explore farther into the Lamar Valley, hoping for a glimpse of the iconic packs of grey wolf along with other wildlife.

Mornings are the time when the wolf packs are the most active and easily viewed. Lamar Valley is known for an abundance of year-round wildlife, from bison to elk and coyote. These animals descend in winter from their habitats among the high peaks to forage in the lower, warmer meadows. After lunch at a local eatery, stop by the house of Dan Hartman, a local character and wildlife photographer who lives in a log cabin between Cooke City and Yellowstone's Northeast Entrance.

He will welcome you and share stories of life in a homesteader cabin with his wife and daughters and of the wildlife adventures he has had as a photographer and film maker. His

In addition to his 19 years of environmental education programming, he has worked on several research projects in the Wyoming and Montana area, including studying the wolf population of Yellowstone National Park with the Yellowstone Wolf Project. In his free time, Paul does what he likes best, continuing to explore the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem.

What the Trip is Like

TRIP LEVEL

The trip is Level 3, Moderate, according to our trip grading system. Wildlife viewing takes place during drives and stops along mountain roads. Early mornings are the best time to see wildlife, so you will have early starts (about 6:00-6:30 am). There are wonderful options for snowshoeing and cross-country ski outings of your choice on established trails. These are tailored to your personal interests, as easy or moderate as you choose. There is no extensive physical activity on the trip, but you should be in good physical shape to enjoy it to the fullest during the cold winter season. Gardiner, Montana, is at an altitude of 5,200 feet, Old Faithful geyser is at an altitude of 7,349 feet, and Yellowstone is in the far north of the US. Winter temperatures are extremely cold, averaging around 20°-30°F during the day but dropping as low as below 0°F sometimes. That said, you can be very comfortable outdoors if you have the right boots and clothing. We provide a suggested packing list, which will include felt-lined boots (such as Sorrel), a hooded, insulated jacket, water-resistant pants (ski pants are good), and insulated gloves. At Yellowstone's moderately high altitudes, sunglasses are a must for sunny days. Accommodations are in comfortable hotels and lodges. Cuisine on the trip will be American-style, often with locally sourced items such as steak, trout, and duck.

WEATHER

With an average snowfall of 72 inches in December, it's no wonder that the majority of roads in Yellowstone are closed during the winter season. Daytime temperatures range from around 20-30°F throughout the day but can drop as low as 0°F. Sub-zero temperatures are common, especially at night and at higher elevations. Snowfall is highly variable. This kind of weather requires proper layers of clothing and footwear for comfort during outdoor activities.

CHOOSING THE RIGHT TRIP

Adventure travel often involves exotic destinations, unusual levels of physical exertion, or activities you may not have participated in previously. We work hard to help you choose the right trip for you, paying attention to your individual interests, abilities, and needs. If you have questions about the level of comfort or any of the activities described in this itinerary, please call Wilderness Travel at 1-800-368-2794 and ask for the North America Manager or email us at northamerica@wildernesstravel.com.
